Mailliard Files For 11th Term

Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District, today filed for reelection to an 11th term in the House of Representatives.

Mailliard, 54, filed in both Marin and San Francisco for his party's nomination in the June 6 primary election. His district includes all of Marin and northern and western San Francisco.

The veteran congressman has represented Marin since 1968, when his district was extended north across the Golden Gate. He lives in San Francisco.

No Republican has come forth to date to challenge Mailliard's nomination, but two Democrats have announced their candidacy for their party's nomination in the district. They are San Francisco Supervisor Roger Boas and Alan D. French, a 25-year-old Army veteran.

Seeks 11th term

Mailliard's announcement of his filing noted that he was one of the youngest members of the house with 20 years of seniority, that he was chairman of the 18-member Republican delegation from California in the house, and that he was the ranking Republican on both the foreign affairs committee and merchant marine subcommittee.

A native of Belvedere, Mailliard was graduated from Yale University and served in the Navy during World War II. He is a rear admiral in the Navy reserve.

After the war, he served as assistant director of the California Academy of Sciences, assistant director of the California Youth Authority and as secretary to Gov. Earl Warren.

In 1963, Mailliard was a delegate to the United Nations. Since 1964, he has served as congressional adviser to the Organization of American States.

Third Day For Dock Caucus

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — West Coast longshoremen leaders resumed a caucus for the third day today on a proposed settlement to the nation's longest dock strike.

With 24 West Coast ports tied up in the 129 day strike, a caucus of 100 leaders continued discussions on the tentative agreement reached last week with Pacific Maritime Association.

If the caucus approves the contract and recommends acceptance, a vote of the 15,000 striking longshoremen could be held this week, and the dock workers could be back on the job by the end of the week.

But the Saturday and Sunday sessions of the caucus indicated rumblings of discontent from local representatives. The settlement also has been criticized by some Teamsters Union officials over the way it handles the long-standing ILWU-Teamsters jurisdictional dispute over container cargo.

Harry Bridges, 70-year-old president of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's union, said the leadership meeting would probably continue through today. Other delegates predicted it would last several days.

Bridges said the strike will not end until the union members vote, a process which could take a week. The employers group, the Pacific Maritime Association, must also ratify the pact.

President Nixon has the power to order the longshoremen back to work by signing a bill passed last week by Congress. The strike is now in its 129th day.

Heated shouting could be heard from outside the closed caucus Sunday as representatives of the locals questioned Bridges and his negotiating committee about the contract terms. A union spokesman said a new guaranteed annual wage was the chief topic of discussion.

Under the union's rules, any large local or several small ones can veto the settlement during the leadership caucus. If this happens, the pact must be ratified by a two-thirds membership vote rather than by a majority.

Teamsters union leaders have denounced a proposed $1 a ton "tax" on cargo shipped to the docks in containers that were not packed by longshoremen. The provision was designed to end a decade-long dispute over jurisdiction between the two unions.

Einar Mohn, head of the Western Conference of Teamsters, said his union feared the charge on teamster-loaded containers might lead employers to give the jobs to longshoremen.

San Francisco's big longshoremen's local 10 issued a bulletin Saturday criticizing the agreement on grounds its guaranteed wage provision was "full of fish hooks and exemptions" and that there were other "important items adversely affecting our membership."

But the local said that Nixon was "sitting with a cocked gun ... pointed at the body of labor and more specifically at our head."

PARADES ARE GREAT WHEN. . . .

Even if you're about 10, and you don't have a ticket, and you're not very tall, and you don't get to the barricade soon enough, and you can barely squeeze your head through a forest of legs, parades can be pretty wonderful. Nixon: Busing 'As Known' Must End

But Support Withheld From Amendments

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon today gave congressional busing foes a firm commitment to take steps necessary to end forced busing of school children "as we know it today," spokesmen said. But he withheld his immediate support for proposed constitutional amendments that would outlaw busing.

After an hour, 45-minute meeting with the President, Sens. Howard Baker and William E. Brock, both Tennessee Republicans, said Nixon promised such action as necessary to halt forced busing.

But they said he did not decide between three possible avenues of action:

—Seek changes through legislative action in Congress.

—Support the proposed antibusing constitutional amendments.

Brock quoted the President as sayin: "We cannot and will not leave the situation as it is."

Sen. Robert Griffin of Michigan, the Senate Republican Whip, told reporters after the meeting at the White House that "the President made it clear that he is not going to be satisifed with the status quo there is something that will be done."

Griffin said Nixon created a special Cabinet committee to study possible approaches to the busing problem.

The committee would be made up of Attorney General John N. Mitchell, Secretary Elliot L. Richardson of Health, Education and Welfare, Director George Shultz of the Office of Management and Budget, and John D. Ehrlichman, director of the White House Domestic Council.

Mitchell, Richardson, Shultz and Ehrlichman were all present during the President's conference with the congressional group.

As Nixon met with leaders of a drive to bar busing, Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., introduced another proposed antibusing amendment.

The Democratic presidential candidate used "freedom of choice" in his plan, the only one of several pending in Congress that used that specific language to say parents should have the right to choose the school their children attended.

Nixon originally had asked seven House and Senate members to his conference, and added an eighth, Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., just back from a trip to Europe. Tower issued a statement just prior to the meeting saying racial integration had gone as far as it could, and that he was against using busing "to achieve racial balance" in schools.

Jackson's amendment would declare that parents have the sole right to choose the schools their children attend.

He told reporters it also would require each state to guarantee equal educational opportunity for all children, regardless of economic levels of the communities where they live.

Unlike most other amendments introduced previously, Jackson uses the term "freedom of choice" in discussing school attendance.

Other proposals variously declare a parent's right to send his child to the school nearest his home or forbid forced busing on racial grounds, without using the term "freedom of choice."

One of the other pending amendments —any of which would have to gain two-thirds approval of each house of Congress and be ratified by three-fifths of the states to become a part of the Constitution —has been the object of a petition effort to force it out of committee and onto the House floor. It is sponsored by Rep. Norman Lent, R-N.Y.

Rep. John M. Ashbrook, a conservative challenger to Nixon for the GOP presidential nomination, issued a statement this morning saying that "all that is clear about this (the busing issue) is that the President is very unclear as to where he stands on this vital issue."

"If President Nixon is sincerely opposed to busing he should throw the full weight of his office behind the constitutional amendment which I have supported for a year," Ashbrook said.

He said itwas "one more example of a failure to (by Nixon) provide positive leadership in an area of overwhelming concern."

Doctors' Study Links Fat, Heart Disease

CHICAGO (UPI)—Two doctors reported today that a study of more than 3,000 men has shown that a drug used to reduce fat levels in the blood reduced the number of nonfatal heart attacks.

However, the study by the San Francisco doctors which was reported in the current issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association said the treatment did not seem to make any significant difference in death rates.

Drs. Louis R. Krasno and George J. Kidera from the division of clinical research, United Air Lines, San Francisco, said the results of their study support the theory of a strong association between high blood fat levels and coronary heart disease.

Krasno and Kidera said that among more than 1,000 men whose average age was 47.5 years the annual nonfatal heart attack rate was 1.89 per 1,000 for men treated with the drug clofibrate. They said the attack rate for men not treated with the drug was 6.6 per 1,000.

Among 2,000 men averaging 37.5 years of age' those treated with clofibrate recorded an annual heart attack rate of .64 per thousand while for those not treated the rate was 5 per 1,000.

But, the doctors said, clofibrate treatment did not seem to make any significant difference in death rates between those treated and those untreated.

The researchers, as a result of the study, concluded that clofibrate treatment dramatically reduced nonfatal heart attacks and seemed to give the same degree of protection from heart attacks whether the subjects showed no response, partial response or complete response to the drug.

The protective effect of the clofibrate treatment became evident within one to three months of treatment, the doctors said. They said no men with normal blood fat levels, whether treated or untreated, developed any evidence of heart attacks.

Krasno and Kidera said the clofibrate decreased the incidence of coronary heart disease even without significant lowering of blood fat levels.

Manila Explosion Kills 17 At Old Japan Ammo Site

MANILA (UPI) — An explosion ripped through the compound of a household plastics firm built on the site of a former Japanese ammunition dump Monday, killing 17 persons and injuring more than 60 others.

The blast dug a six-foot crater, tore off the corrugated metal roof of a two-story shed and smashed a nearby 10-foot cement wall, catapulting head-sized rocks into a crowded schoolyard and squatters' area next door.

Police said the explosion in the city's populous Pandacan area came at 4:05 p.m. (3:05 a.m. EST) and was the worst to hit Manila since World War II.

Investigators said they found four charred bodies at the Morales Engineering Works compound, the explosion site. Eight children at the Beata primary school on the other side of the wall also were killed and the others sustained fatal injuries in or near the squatters' shanties. Ten bodies were reported by hospitals and seven by the Manila police morgue.

Most of the injuries appeared to have been caused by burns and falls or by hurtling rocks.

At Philippine General Hospital, Mrs. Aniana Layag, 25, and Mrs. Teodora Arcilla told UPI two infants they were holding were killed by the flying rocks.

"She died instantly," Mrs. Layag said of her 5-month-old daughter, Rodelia. Mrs. Arcilla was carrying a grandchild.

It was the second disaster in Manila this year, the first coming Jan. 22 when the terminal of Manila International Airport was destroyed at the cost of 12 lives and $30 million damage.

A DORMANT ISSUE?

Taiwan—A Sensitive Subject For Nixon's Peking Mission

The Christian Science Monitor News Service

WASHINGTON, D.C. —Taiwan will be both visible and invisible at the Peking summit.

It will be visible to those at the private talks, since it is certain to be a major topic between President Nixon and Chinese leaders.

It will be all but invisible to outsiders, however, in the eventual communique — a measure of its extreme sensitiveness on both sides.

For its part, the U.S. is expected to seek some assurance that Peking will not resort to the use of force to make good on its claim that Taiwan is a part of China — mainland China.

As a practical matter, Peking, with its limited air and sea power, would be hard put to take Taiwan, some 100 miles off its coast, by force. As another deterrent, there are still some 8,500 American troops stationed on Taiwan and the U.S.-Taiwan Mutual Defense Treaty of 1954 is still on the books.

Indeed, there have been a number of signs in recent months that Peking is quite prepared to let the issue of Taiwan's "liberation" lie dormant for awhile. Armed with new diplomatic stature through its admission as the representative of China to the United Nations and concerned over increased tensions with its neighbor to the north, the People's Republic appears willing to shelve the Taiwan issue temporarily as it seeks to improve relations with such major powers as the U.S.

However, to promise orally or in writing that it will not resort to the use of force is something else again. Such an admission publicly would contradict Peking's long-time insistence that settlement of Taiwan's status is an internal matter which presumable could be settled in any way and which, as Chou En-lai told James Reston of the New York Times last summer, "brooks no foreign interference."

For its part, Peking would like assurance that the U.S. regards Peking-Taipei differences on status as an internal matter and that Washington intends to reduce (if not cancel altogether) its troop strength on Taiwan. Peking regards that military presence as evidence of "U.S. imperialism" and of U.S. endorsement of a two-China policy.

In a certain sense, mainland China officials already have assurance on both counts of U.S. intentions. Over the last two and one-half years some 500,000 U.S. troops have been brought home from Korea, Japan, Thailand, the Phillippines, and other Asian countries and, since a sizable number of U.S. forces on Taiwan are there in support of the Vietnam effort, it is considered reasonable to assume the numbers will taper off as the war continues to wind down.

Other relevant factors include the November 1969, termination of the Seventh Fleet's two-destroyer patrol; the July 1971, statement by the U.S. that nuclear weapons on Okinawa would not be transferred to Taiwan, and termination at that time of U.S. air reconnaissance missions over the mainland leaving from Taiwan.

When President Nixon was asked Jan. 2 by CBS correspondent Dan Rather whether the U.S. was beginning to withdraw its troops from Taiwan, his answer was, "Not at this

U.S. Recognition Overdue, Kennedy Tells Bengalis

DACCA (UPI)—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy told Bengalis Monday the Bangladesh struggle "touched the conscience of America." He then traveled to Khustia to see the whitened skeletons of victims of Pakistan army repression.

Kennedy, his wife Joan and Joseph Kennedy, 18, the son of the late Sen. Robert M. Kennedy, flew by helicopter to the district capital 70 miles west of Dacca following a tumultous welcome by about 10,000 Dacca University students.

The senator spent about 70 minutes with Mujib and said afterwards their talks had touched upon the nonrecognition of Bangladesh by the United States. "I think recognition is long overdue," Kennedy said. Adding that he hoped with other senators to press for U.S. acknowledgement of the new nations.

At the same time, Bangladesh Foreign Minister Abdus Samad Azad announced that Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi would visit Bangladesh March 17-18 in response to an invitation from Mujib. Mrs. Gandhi also is giving "due consideration" to a request from Pakistan President Zulfikar Ali Bhutto for a meeting, it was learned Monday.

Slave's Daughter Dies At 105

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Francinia Asch, daughter of a former slave, died Saturday at the age of 105.

Miss Asch had been a resident of the Laguna Honda Home for the aged since 1960.

She was born in Wilmington, N. C., in 1866, three years after the Emancipation Proclamation was signed. She has lived in San Francisco since 1914.

Funeral services were scheduled for Tuesday at the Laguna Honda Chapel.

She Won't Get That Valentine

En route home with the gift, the unidentified husband ran afoul of the traffic laws and was stopped by motorcycle officer Homer H. Hudelson.

After arguing for a while with Hudelson, the man accepted the citation and went back to his car. Meanwhile, a hungry dog had climbed into the back seat and eaten the valentine cake.

LEFT BEHIND

This South Vietnamese youngster had his hands full Saturday with items left behind by the 101st Airborne Division after its final pullout from Phu Bai. American B52s flew a record 27 strikes inside South Vietnam today during the Viet Cong Tet truce, which runs four days. The allies' own truce begins tonight and runs 24 hours. The bombings were to protect American troops during withdrawal, U.S. military spokesmen said.

Hoffa, Meany Boost Nixon Election Hope

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Two influential labor leaders have given President Nixon's re-election hopes a boost.

AFL-CIO President George Meany says he is opposed to Nixon's domestic and foreign policies, but would support him over any candidate who advocates "surrender in Vietnam."

And James R. Hoffa, the ex-president of the Teamsters Union, says Nixon "is the best qualified man at this time."

While Nixon, who has no plans to even begin campaigning until summer, got unexpected support Sunday from traditionally Democratic labor, the key Democratic candidates concentrated on Florida's March 14 primary.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, the front-running Democrat, will try to revive the whistlestop campaigning technique last used effectively in 1948 by President Harry S Truman.

TRAIN RENTED

Muskie rented a five-car train from Amtrak for $5,000 to run through tHe citrus belt this week in an effort to woo Wallace-country voters. Mike Casey, Muskie's advance man for the campaign, said, "If this is successful, we will consider using it elsewhere."

On other Florida fronts, Sen. Henry M. Jackson said he will introduce a constitutional amendment to outlaw court-ordered busing to desegrate schools and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey was buoyed by an endorsement by the St. Petersburg Times. Sen. George S. McGovern campaigned in St. Petersburg and Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace made a television appearance in Jacksonville.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and Republican National Chairman Robert J. Dole continued the administration's attack on critics of the President's latest Vietnam peace proposals. Agnew said criticism by Democratic candidates, except Jackson, has undermined peace efforts.

'A MISTAKE'

"If you were in North Vietnam and you thought there was a chance that a man could be elected president who could cave in to every demand that you made, you wouldn't be rapid to rush to the bargaining table," Agnew said today.

Dole said Muskie "made a mistake" by proposing a complete U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam a few days after Nixon revealed his eight-point plan. Dole said in Albuquerque, N.M., that Muskie should drop out of the race to "demonstrate his commitment to peace."

Hoffa, whose 13-year prison term was commuted in December by Nixon, was asked if his comment was an endorsement. "If there are no other candidates, my statement stands as I just stated it," he said.

Meany said chances the AFL-CIO would support Nixon are "very slim," but the 77-year-old labor chieftain said, "I would not go with a guy who advocates surrender, and this has nothing to do with the labor movement; it has nothing to do with Nixon. This is me."

Irving Lifted Information About Hughes, Time Says

NEW YORK (UPI)—Time magazine says Clifford Irving "lifted" the material for his Howard Hughes' autobiography from the manuscript of the unpublished memoirs of the billionaire's long-time chief aide. The magazine featured Irving on the cover of its latest issue as "Con Man of the Year."

"Irving's hoax worked because the base on which he built was largely genuine," Time said Sunday. "In subject matter, Irving's book is identical at many points with the manuscript of investigative reporter James Phelan of Long Beach, Calif., who had been hired to ghost write a book about Hughes by longtime Hughes aide Noah Dietrich."

Phelan told UPI Sunday that Irving's book was "the biggest hoax ever," and said his manuscript constituted the skeleton of Irving's book.

The New York Daily News reported in today's editions that U.S. and Swiss authorities secretly have agreed to drop fraud charges and forgery against Irving's wife Edith if Irving cooperates with investigators and "someone goes to jail."

Mrs. Irving was charged with forgery and bank fraud by Swiss authorities. Irving has admitted that she opened an account in a Zurich bank as "Helga R. Hughes" and deposited $650,000 that McGraw-Hill Book Co. intended as payment to Hughes for the autobiography.

(In Zurich, Dr. Gerold Luethy, that city's chief prosecutor, denied the Daily News report, saying, "We would not be allowed to make such an agreement" to drop charges agaiqst Mrs. Irving.

(And in the Swiss capital of Bern, the Federal Justice and Police Ministry announced it had dispatched a formal request for Mrs. Irving's extradition to the Swiss Embassy in Washington today.)

Maurice Nesse, Irving's attorney, said in a statement on the Time article: "My client asserts that it contains a plethora of lies and half truths. Because of its recklessness, I cannot imagine that it is not prompted by malice. It is a gloating, prancing distorting piece that is irresponsible to the extreme."

But Time said Irving is willing to go to jail for the hoax to protect his wife. The magazine speculated that he might be trying to mollify her before her anger over his highly publicized romance with the Danish singer, Baroness Nina van Pallandt, leads her to tell her own version of the hoax.

Dietrich, who is 83, served as Hughes righthand-man for 32 years during the period Hughes became a billionaire.

Dietrich told UPI in an interview from a Los Angeles Hospital bed Sunday that Irving's information "had to come either from Hughes or from me." He said even Hughes "doesn't know the details of the buildup of his forune as well as I do."

Time said, "Irving could have come into possession of the Phelan version, along with 150 pages of the transcript of tape-recorded interviews with Dietrich, some time in the last year. Then, with the help of a researcher, his own imagination, and information supplied by current or former Hughes associates, Irving concocted 'The Autobiography of Howard Hughes.'"

Time said Irving admitted to federal authorities last week through his attorney that his previous claims that he based the book on information obtained in face-to-face meetings with Hughes "was a fraud." The magazine quoted Irving as telling two federal prosecutors who are presenting the case to a grand jury:

"You don't have to call Hughes. There were no meetings with Hughes."

Stanley Meyer, a West Coast entertainment operator, tried to sell the Phelan manuscript and eventually went to New York literary agent Paul Gitlin. Gitlin showed it to a Simon & Schuster editor but it was rejected. Gitlin said he suggested Dietrich get someone to rewrite it.

Meyer said he offered the including Irving, but Irving rejected the offer. Meyer said the jected the offer. Meyer said the offer was made to Irving in June in Cathedral City, Calif., near Palm Springs.

Dayan Urges Egypt Flexibility On Suez

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan has urged Egypt to show more flexibility regarding the U.S.-sponsored "close proximity" talks with Israel on the reopening of the Suez canal. He said in Tel Aviv that the present deadlock foreshadowed another Middle East war.

"Egypt should realize that because it cannot go on in this no peace and no war situation, it should be flexible towards political talks, which would be more beneficial to it than opening fire," Dayan told newsmen Sunday at Lod International Airport.

"The main thing now is getting moving toward an interim (Suez Canal) agreement, but until now we have not heard of any Egyptian acceptance, either from the Americans or from our own people in the United States."

Dayan talked with newsmen on arrival home from a week's fund-raising tour of the United States. The U.S. trip included meetings with Defense Secretary melvin R. Laird, Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Rogers' Mideast troubleshooter, Joseph J. Sisco.

"I heard their frank views and it was very beneficial for me," Dayan said. He offered no new ideas, nor was he asked for any on a possible Suez canal accord, Dayan said.

Dayan said there was "nothing new" in the Egyptian offer to enter negotiations with Israel on an interim Middle East settlement in return for an Israeli commitment to total withdrawal from all Arab territory it captured in the 1967 war.

He said "The situation in Egypt is, that unless they find an alternative to deadlock...sooner or later they will open fire."

Senator Asks New Curbs On Food Additives

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Americans on the average each year eat five pounds of chemicals in the form of stablizizers, preservatives, disinfectants, antioxidants, extenders, emulsifiers, tenderizers, growth promoters, bleaches, sweeteners, conditioners, colors and flavors, Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., said today.

"We are being chemically medicated against our will and cheated of food value by low nutrition foods," Nelson said in a statement proposing that the Food and Drug Administration be given new powers to curb use of chemicals in food.

Nelson said his proposal would require the FDA to rule all food additives be proven safe and effective before they could be used. He said there is a proliferation of unneeded, often untested, food chemicals, because "food additives are big business."

Air Cushion Vehicle Contract

DALLAS (UPI)—Rohr Industries of Chula Vista, Calif., builders of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District's passenger cars, has been awarded a $5 million federal contract to develop a prototype tracked "air cushioned" vehicle.

The vehicle would carry 60 passengers at speeds up to 150 miles per hour riding on a cushion of air. The cars might be used in the proposed Dallas-Fort Worth rapid transit system.

Rohr's contract calls for 11 months to complete a prototype unit.

Thousands Laid Off In Britain Fuel Crisis

LONDON (UPI)—British industry, blacked out and disrupted by crippling power curbs, today laid off tens of thousands of workers. Government officials predicted millions would be jobless by midweek.

With a six-week-old nationwide strike of 280,000 coal miners biting deep into fuel stockpiles, Britain was gripped by its grimmest industrial crisis in a quarter-century.

British newspapers called it "Black Monday."

The automotive industry was hit hardest. British Leyland, Jaguar, Triumph, Rover, Ford of Britain, Vauxhall--General Motors British subsidiary — Chrysler and the Joseph Luca automobile components plant laid off or put nearly 50,000 workers on part time.

Thousands of Yorkshire and Lancashire steel and textile workers were sent home.

The state-run British railroad system canceled 1,000 trains and stopped heating those still running in order to save electric power. Commuters shivered as they jammed into the trains still running.

Officials warned that vital food supplies were in danger. In some parts of the country milk bottling plants closed and milk was rationed.

Bread and egg supplies also were threatened because bakeries and packing plants were without power.

Rotating power cuts blacked out 10 to 15 per cent of the country in turn for the fifth successive day.

Street traffic lights went out in blacked out areas, causing immense jams.

On the London stock market nearly $3 billion was knocked off share prices in the first few minutes of trading.

Throughout the country pickets of striking coalminers blockaded power stations to prevent delivery of coal. At least eight power stations have been closed and another 50 of the country's 148 power plants were forced to cut back power production sharply.

In two incidents, violence flared when picketing miners clashed with police.

The crisis stemmed from a nationwide strike at Britain's 280,000 coal miners in support of a 47 per cent pay hike claim. The strike has depleted coal stockpiles dangerously and severely hit power supplies.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Pope's Consecration

VATICAN CITY (UPI)— From 13 countries around the world, from the South Pacific and from South Bend, Ind., bishops of the Roman Catholic Church came to receive consecration from Pope Paul VI.

The 19 prelates lay prostrate before the Pope in a sign of obedience and humility, then kneeled for the laying on of hands representing a line of apostolic succession which Catholics believe goes back to St. Peter.

The pontiff said bishops are the means of "bringing life to the family of God."

"This is a wonderful, a tremendous, an exhilarating vision of our place in the church," he said. "We must ensure the church's unity, in the obedience and love of our dear sons and daughters."

Antiwar Support

PARIS (UPI)—The International Conference on Vietnam voted Sunday to support U.S. antiwar groups in a six-week campaign against the war. Actress Jane Fonda called for the resignation of the chief U.S. negotiator at the Paris talks, contending he does not represent the American people.

More than 1,200 delegates from 75 nations met for three days and adjourned Sunday night.

Liz's Home Movies

CHIANG MAI, Thailand (UPI)—Queen Elizabeth of Britain made home movies of a demonstration by 61 working elephants in the mountains of Northern Thailand today and hiked up a dirt trail to watch Meo hill tribesmen perform traditional dances.

The 45-year-old British monarch appeared thoroughly entertained by the festivities at the Mae-sa Falls National Park outside Chiang Mai, 300 miles north of Bangkok. Her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, and daughter, Princess Anne, 21, took still photographs of the colorful event.

The queen completes her five-day visit to Thailand tomorrow and boards the royal yacht

Summit Possible

NEW DELHI (UPI)—India will give "due consideration" to a request from Pakistan President Zulfikar Ali Bhutto for a meeting with Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, a Foreign Office spokesman said today.

"But no such request of this nature has so far been received," the spokesman said.

The spokesman was responding to a statement by Bhutto at Lahore airport today that he was willing to meet Mrs. Gandhi and Bangladesh Prime Minister Sheikh Mujibur Rahman for talks soon.

Radio Pakistan quoted Bhutto as telling newsmen he was making preparations for a meeting with Mrs. Gandhi and Sheikh Mujib.

Safe, Good Spirits

PUNTA ARENAS, Chile (UPI)—The captain of a Chilean naval vessel said today that the passengers and crew rescued from the grounded cruise liner Lindblad Explorer were safe and in good spirits and awaiting clear weather for the 540-mile voyage to this seaport, the world's southernmost city.

Capt. Carlos Barra von Krechmann, skipper of the naval transport Piloto Pardo, said, "the passengers are in a perfect state of health, none is sick or injured."

Von Krechmann said he took aboard 104 passengers, including 78 Americans, and 40 crewmembers of the Norwegian cruise ship. It ran aground on rocks on King George Island between the tip of South American and Antarctica Friday.

Bombs In Belfast

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — Bomb blasts today ripped a downtown Belfast savings bank, a furniture store and the Rank Xerox offices on the outskirts of the city.

The explosions, which followed the shooting and capture of two gunmen by British troops at a shirt factory in the suburb of Ligoniel, caused no casualties, a police spokesman said.

A bomb in an attache case on the doorstep of the Belfast Savings Bank in the city center blasted the building and set it ablaze.

THE CHART SAID THERE WAS A CHANNEL

Harbor Tours' ferryboat, the Harbor King, sits fast on a soft mud throne in the Loch Lomond marina's channel where it waited yesterday more than an hour for an incoming tide so it could land. Several hundred Loch Lomond Yacht Club members were aboard for the charter trip. A spokesman for the Harbor Tours said the vessel, which draws about seven feet, was not damaged when it went aground at about 5 p.m. He said official charts showed the depth of the channel to the marina was supposed to be a minimum of 10 feet.

Booking In Marin City Shooting

A 21-year-old San Francisco man was booked into Marin County Jail Saturday after he allegedly shot another man in Marin City Friday during an argument over a traffic accident.

Booked on suspicion of attempted murder and assault with a deadly weapon was robert Ray Coleman. Sheriff's deputies had no details of his arrest.

The shooting victim, Charles A. Schoenig, 21, of San Francisco, was reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital with a bullet wound in the abdomen.

Marin City deputies said Schoenig apparently went to a Marin City apartment about 2:25 p.m. Friday to talk to Coleman about the accident, which had occurred earlier near Gate 6.

As the men were talking, officers said Coleman pulled a shotgun and shot Schoenig.

Special Session On Firing Teacher

The Tamalpais High School District board has called a special closed meeting tomorrow to discuss firing a teacher.

The meeting — a continuation of one held at the last regular board meeting — will be at 8 p.m. in the district superintendent's office in Larkspur.

Shotgun Blast Kills Rohnert Park Man

A 43-year-old Rohnert Park man on a fishing trip to Larkspur with his sons yesterday sent the boys off to play, then apparently killed himself with a shotgun blast to the head.

Larskpur police said Earl Ray Key of 7276 Adrian Way was found seated in a chair in the front office of Gem Auto Body by an employee at 2:17 p.m. A 20-gauge shotgun lay at his feet and the left side of his face was blown away, police said.

Key, who owned the auto body shop at 14 East Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, was said to have been despondent over personal problems, according to police. The wound appeared to be self-inflicted, according to Bill J. Thomas, coroner's deputy.

No note was found, police said.

Key had arrived in Larkspur about 11 a.m. to fish with his sons, Bill Ray Key, 12, and David Ray Key, but sent them off to play alone, police said.

They returned to the body shop while police were investigating.

In addition to his sons, Key is survived by his wife, Betty, and a daughter, Alice L. Key of Clayborn, Tex.

Funeral arrangements were pending today at Harry M. Williams Mortuary in San Rafael.

Vote Deadline Is Thursday

The deadline to register to vote in the April 11 city elections is this Thursday at midnight.

Citizens can register at city and county offices, fire stations and with deputy registrars circulating throughout the county.

Elections will be held in 10 of Marin's cities. San Rafael will not have elections this year. In Southern Sonoma, Cotati and Rohnert Park will hold election, but Petaluma will not.

Man Booked In Car Theft

A San Rafael man was booked into Marin County Jail yesterday on suspicion of car theft.

Charles James Gaines, 18, of 805 Rincon Way, posted $1,250 bail to appear in Marin Municipal Court Wednesday.

San Rafael police said Gaines stopped and abandoned the car he was driving in a left-turn lane on Second Street at Grand Avenue at 3:10 a.m.

The car, police said, had been stolen near the residence of its owner, Marie Casassa of 275 Canal Street, San Rafael.

Gaines was arrested at the Montecito shopping center after police followed a car in which he had solicited a ride after abandoning the Casassa vehicle.

McCarthy Will Appear Saturday

Presidential candidate Eugene McCarthy, who canceled a poetry reading at College of Marin last week in order to campaign, has agreed to appear Saturday at the college during a political swing through Northern California, the college, announced today.

The Democratic contender who had been scheduled to read his poetry during the college's writers conference three days ago will read instead from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday in the Fine Arts Theater.

The appearance will be sponsored by the college's Associated Students, the college said.

Robbed — Then Auto Stolen

DENVER (UPI)—Antonio M. Anderson told police he was trying to start his car Sunday when a gunman approached and demanded money.

Anderson leaped out of his car and ran, the gunman in close pursuit. The bandit caught up with him and took his wallet with $2,800 in cash.

Candidate's Statement: Jazz, Blues, A Beard

A 26-year-old candidate for the San Anselmo City Council, Jack Burr II, has come up with a ovel variation of the traditionally dry statement of qualifications for office.

The research scientist and teacher, according to his statement filed with the county elections office, said he was qualified by "a fine repertoire of jazz, blues and old-time piano and guitar songs you'll enjoy hearing at council meetings."

Burr adds that he "had a crewcut once, but I lost it. Now I have a beard, and if St. Anselm (after whom our town was named) were here today, he'd be after me with the scissors he always carried."

The statement by Burr, which will be included with those by other candidates in sample ballots mailed to all voters, said he "used to design medical and pollution control devices to keep places like Marin from becoming like L.A. Since Nixon cut the H.E.W. (Health, Education and Welfare Department) budget and gave the money to the Pentagon, I've been doing odd jobs and sleeping on friends' couches."

His statement also detailed experience in other work, and concluded with "Peace."

Bag Stolen

Dr. E. Wayne Lewis told Petaluma police that his physician's bag containing drugs and medical instruments was stolen yesterday from the trunk of his car while parked at Petaluma General Hospital. Loss was estimated at $250.

Attorney Gary T. Giacomini of Woodacre today was the first to file for election in the Fourth Supervisorial District.

Incumbent Louis H. Baar has announced he will not seek reelection to a second four-year term in the district, which includes southern San Rafael, Larkspur, Corte Madera and West Marin from Stinson Beach to the Sonoma County line.

Others who have announced their candidacy in the district are laboratory technician Patricia T. Maginnis of San Rafael, rancher and agricultural consultant Charles E. Hancock of Stinson Beach, and Kelly Fister of Point Reyes Station, operator of a center to aid youths in the area.

Youth Treated After Collision

A San Anselmo youth was treated at Marin General Hospital for a strained right knee suffered in a traffic accident in San Rafael Friday.

San Rafael police said a car driven by the youth, Craig R. Holmstrand, 16, of 76 Suffield Avenue, and a car driven by Anthony James Bottarini, 51, of 211 Mirada Avenue, San Rafael, collided at 4:36 p.m. Friday.

The accident occurred as Bottarini was turning left off of Bellam Boulevard onto the entrance to Highway 101 and was struck by Holmstrand's car which was proceeding south on Bellam, police said.

A passenger in Bottarini's car, Cathy Ann Bottarini, 8, also of 211 Mirada Avenue, complained of pain after the accident, but declined medical treatment, police said.

OBITUARIES

Funeral Today For Man, Wife

Masonic funeral for Elmer and Gladys Eaglin of Petaluma was held today in Petaluma.

Eaglin, 77, collapsed and died Friday night at his home at 412 Oak Street, apparently of a heart attack. He was dead on arrival at Hillcrest Hospital.

Mrs. Eaglin, 69, who had been hospitalized for a long time with a bad heart, died seven hours later on Saturday morning at the same hospital without learning of her husband's death.

Eaglin was born in Fresno and had lived for the past 50 years in Petaluma. He worked for the Bank of America for more than 40 years and retired 12 years ago as assistant cashier.

He was secretary for Lodge 180 Free and Accepted Masons for 35 years. He also was a member of Aamhes Shrine, Petaluma Odd Fellows Lodge 30, Morning Star Chapter of Order of Eastern Star 161 and Petaluma Lions Club.

Mrs. Eaglin was born in Tabor, Iowa, and came to Petaluma with her husband 50 years ago.

She was a member of the Morning Star Chapter Order Eastern Star 161 and Petaluma Rebekah Lodge.

They are survived by two daughters, Darlene Sanders of Rancho Cordova, Sacramento County, and Yvonne Saarinen of Woodland, and five grandchildren.

Mrs. Eaglin also is survived by a brother, Royce Anderson of Petaluma, and a sister, Ann Lorena Churchfield of Phoenix, Ariz.

Entombment will be at Chapel of the Chimes, Santa Rosa.

MRS. DREIER

Private funeral has been held for Adeline M. Dreier, mother of broadcaster Alex Dreier. She died Thursday in her Larkspur home. She was 82.

Mrs. Dreier was a native of Hawaii and lived most of her life in San Francisco. She lived in Larkspur for 12 years.

She is survived by three sons, Alex Dreier of Palm Springs and San Rafael; James Dreier of Kentfield and William Dreier of San Francisco.

Entombment was at Holy Cross Mausoleum. Contribution to the Catholic Youth Organization of San Francisco preferred.

MRS. ROLLINS

Funeral for Mildred C. Rollins, 77, of Petaluma, will be Wednesday in Tracy.

Mrs. Rollins died Saturday in a Petaluma hospital after a long illness.

She was born in Topeka, Kan. She and her husband, Dr. Grover C. Rollins, an optometrist, moved to Tracy in 1924. She moved to Petaluma two years ago to make her home with her son, George Hatfield at 609 Eighth Street.

She also is survived by a brother, Lowell V. Collins of Colorado Springs, Colo., and two grandchildren.

Inurnment will be in Tracy.

H. SHIPPEY

Private family funeral for retired Marine Corps Col. Hugh Shippey of Ross will be held tomorrow at St. John's Episcopal Church, Ross.

Shippey 77, died Saturday in Marin General Hospital, apparently of natural causes, according to coroner's deputy Bill J. Thomas.

He was born in Browning, Ill. He came to California as a young man and graduated from the University of California. He served in the Marine Corps in World Wars I and II. He retired 20 years ago.

Shippey is survived by his wife, Gertrude, of the home on Baywood Avenue; a son, Hugh Shippey Jr., and a daughter, Gertrude Norris, both of Ross; another son, David Shippey of Kentfield; two sisters, Evanna Boswell of Los Angeles and Fanny Heflin of New York City, and 10 grandchildren.

Inurnment will be private.

Memorial contributions to the Easter Seals Respiratory Fund are asked.

LOUIS PERAZZO

A Requiem Mass for Louis A. Perazzo of San Anselmo, will be celebrated at 10 a.m. tomorrow at St. Anselm's Church, San Anselmo.

Perazzo, 50, of 232 Sequoia Drive, died Saturday in a San Francisco hospital after a long illness.

He was born in Sonoma and had lived for the past 20 years in San Anselmo. For the past 31 years he had been a supervisor for the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

He was a Navy veteran of World War II, serving in the Pacific theater.

He was a member of the American Legion Post 179 of San Anselmo; Veterans of Foreign Wars, Bear Flag Post 1943 of Sonoma; Young Men's Institute, Council 45 of Sonoma; the San Anselmo Boys Baseball Association, serving as manager of several teams and was active in softball.

He is survived by his wife, Jacquelyn, two daughters, Mary and Janice, all of San Anselmo and a brother, George Perazzo of Isleton, Sacramento County.

Recitation of the Rosary will be at 8 p.m. today at the Chapel of the Hills in San Anselmo. Burial will be in St. Francis Solano Cemetery, Sonoma.

Memorial contributions to the American Cancer Society or Hanna Boys' Center, Sonoma, would be appreciated by the family.

TAIWAN

Before, during, and after the United Nations debate over whether Taiwan of the mainland represents the "real" China, the U.S. has displayed increasing signs of its willingness to reaffirm former President Truman's 1949 pledge that the U.S. is "not going to interfere in the destiny of Taiwan."

Over a long period the U.S. has stressed its hope that the status issue can be resolved "peacefully." In late November, Henry Kissinger, the President's national security adviser, said that the "ultimate relationship" of the two Chinas should be resolved by "direct negotiations."

While some students of China affairs hold out hopes for Taiwan's autonomy under the sovereignty of Peking, many insist that even in post-Chiang Kai-shek days, Taiwan will have nothing to gain and everything to lose by any accommodation with the mainland.

While the rhetoric about an outright return to the mainland and seizure of control continues, it is noticeably less intensive that it once was. Longtime observers point out that Taiwan's healthy economy is such that virtually no one on the island, including the 12 million native Taiwanese, wants any kind of accommodation with Peking.

However, if Peking is prepared to wait it out, as it now appears, anything can happen. Certainly its bargaining position at the moment for those aspects of Taiwanese relations which the U.S. can resolve is quite strong.

Recently Peking appears to have tightened its position, for instance, on requirements for establishment of diplomatic relations. In the recent past such countries as Canada and Italy were allowed to merely take note instead of formally accepting the claim in Peking's communique setting up such relations that Taiwan is an integral part of China.

However, the price, in view of the scheduled Nixon visit and the United Nations endorsement, now appears to be higher.

INTO THE BUILDING — San Rafael firemen (left) climb a ladder into a second story window of a burning building at 608 C Street where a woman was trapped. A San Rafael policeman was inside, and managed to get her to a hallway, where the firemen picked her up. An unidentified man (right) who tried to rescue her was given oxygen by firemen after being overcome by smoke.

Fireman Rescues Trapped Woman

A woman trapped in a blazing apartment building was rescued by San Rafael police and fireman last night.

Policeman Brian Bodily crawled on his stomach through the upper floor of the building, found the woman and managed to drag her to a hallway where she was picked up by aire Capt. William Walker and fireman Anthony Ginocchio to safety.

oth Bodily and the woman, Billie Jean Adams, 37, were taken to Marin General Hospital. Bodily was treated and released. Miss Adams was reported in satisfactory condition today at the hospital.

The fire, at 608 C Street, caused about $12,000 damage, according to firemen who said was caused by Miss Adams smoking in bed.

Tenants and visitors in the downstairs apartments tried to rescue Miss Adams before Bodily arrived, but couldn't because of the smoke. One man, Eugene Orr, who was staying in one of the downstairs apartments, emptied a fire extinguisher in her room, but had to leave because of the smoke. Others dashed into the burning building, but had to come out just as quickly.

Firemen were alerted at 7 p.m. by a woman who ran to the station at Fifth and C streets and told them there was a fire on C Street. She could provide no address, but firemen dispatched two engines.

The fire in the apartment building was confined to Miss Adams's room, but adjoining upstairs rooms suffered extensive smoke damaage, and downstairs apartments were heavily damaged from the water used to fight the fire.

FIRE CALLS

YESTERDAY:

1 p.m., Alto — Incinerator at Cala Food Market at Tiburon Boulevard and Blackfield Drive. Cause unknown, no damage.

3:32 p.m., Kentfield — Smoke check in the Woodland Road area. Nothing found.

3:56 p.m., Marinwood — Pampas grass bush burned at 634 Idleberry Lane. Cause unknown, no damage.

6:49 p.m., San Rafael — Fire in apartment building at 608 C Street, caused by tenant smoking in bed. $12,000 damage to building and contents. Two persons overcome by smoke.

7:05 a.m., Corte Madera — Fire in room 57 of the Edgewater Inn, 1815 Redwood Highway. Mattress and rug burned. $500 damage to room, caused by occupant smoking in bed.

Cash Taken

Cash totaling $20 was taken between 12:30 and 2:30 p.m. Saturday in a burglary of the student store at Sir Francis Drake High School, San Anselmo police reported today.

Tires On Two Cars Slashed

Vandals slashed tires on two vehicles in Corte Madera yesterday, police reported today.

Four tires on a truck owned by Richard A. Campagna were punctured between 11 p.m. Saturday and 9 a.m. yesterday while the vehicle was at his residence, 315 William Avenue, police said.

In what police thought was a related incident, two tires on the car of Craig L. Cole were cut between 3:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. while the car was parked at his home at 508 Oakdale Avenue.

Recording Tape Reported Stolen

An undetermined number of recording tapes were stolen Saturday or yesterday in a burglary of a classroom at Sun Valley School on Happy Lane, San Rafael police reported today.

Police said many of the tapes were then thrown around the school grounds.

Merced County Man Killed In Collision

An Atwater, Merced County, man was killed and another man critically injure yesterday in a head-on collision on Highway 101 in Corte Madera.

Killed instantly in the 6:35 p.m. wrong-way crash was Kenneth Oscar Beckett, 67. Reported in critical condition today at Marin General hospital with muliple facial fractures and a broken right leg was Nash R. Ruiz, 57, of 9 Lynn Court, San Rafael.

The California Highway Patrol had few details of the accident but said Beckett apparently was traveling north in the southbound lanes and collided with a pickup driven by Ruiz.

Officers said Beckett apparently was killed instantly. Traffic was backed up into San Rafael for about 45 minutes after the crash with flares placed along the southbound freeway from the crash site north of the Madera Avenue exit to San Rafael.

Funeral arrangements for Beckett were pending today at Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael. The death brings to three the number of persons killed on Marin Highways this year, the same as at this time last year.

Suspension Bridge To Open In 1973

TOKYO (UPI) —The ninth longest suspension bridge in the world will open to automobile traffic in the autumn of 1973, linking the main Japanese island of Honshu with the southern island of Kyushu.

The Kanmon Bridge will have a span of 2,336 feet and will rank just after the Tacoma Narrows Bridge in Puget Sound, Washington.

Joint HAFB Use Tops Big Marin Agenda

Joint military-civilian use of Hamilton Air Force Base heads a long list of agenda items scheduled to be considered Tuesday by the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Due to remodeling of the board's regular meeting room, the supervisors will meet in regular session at 10:30 a.m. in room 254 of the Hall of Justice.

Joint use of Hamilton, meanwhile, will be discussed at 9 a.m. in room 332 of the Administration Building during a "workshop session" with the Marin County Aviation Commission.

Proposed sharing of Hamilton's runway has been in the works for years, with some Novato residents voicing opposition because of environmental concerns.

The commission last week split over a proposed letter which would tentatively promise the Air Force that permanent civilian passenger and operation facilities would be constructed near the base within five years.

Also to be discussed by the board and commission is a proposed application for $16,000 in federal funds to finance a master plan study of Gnoss Field, the county airport.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors' agenda also includes:

MARIN CITY — A report from Supervisor Michael Wornum on the status of a proposed agreement between the county's housing authority and redevelopment agency and a New York developer over title to the Marin City ridgelands. Release of the lands has brought protest from some residents.

BOND ELECTION — A request from the Lucas Valley County Service Area that April 11 be set for a bond election to provide $315,000 for acquisition of open space and park and recreation facilities.

STRAWBERRY — A request from the Strawberry Park and Recreation District for condemnation powers. The request first was made two weeks ago but the board wanted a full explanation.

BUS DEPOTS — A report on the amount needed to keep Marin's five bus depots in operation. The depots have been in a financial bind since the Golden Gate Bridge District took over service from Greyhound last month.

Regional Park Survey Scheduled

The People for Parks and Open Space will conduct a survey in parts of Novato, Ignacio, Terra Linda and San Rafael Friday, Saturday and Sunday to determine public feeling on Marin ridgelands and undeveloped shorelines.

The survey is the group's first move in its attempt to develop a regional park district in Marin, according to Nancy Zaklm, publicity chairman.

Soviets Launch Mooncraft —Aim For Soft Landing

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union today launched its first moon mission in five months and indicated the unmanned Luna 20 craft would attempt a soft landing.

The last Soviet lunar-landing attempt ended in failure when Luna 18 vanished into the Apollonius Mountains Sept. 11, 1971.

Western space experts said they thought Luna 20, like Luna 18, might be carrying a new Lunokhod explorer robot or more sophisticated soil-scooping devices.

"The Soviet Anion launched the automatic station Luna 20 today with the aim of further exploration of the moon and near-moon space," the official Tass News Agency said.

In Soviet space terminology, the phrase "exploration of the moon and near-moon space" has always indicated landing missions as opposed to orbiters or fly-past missions.

"According to telemetric information, the station's onboard systems and equipment are functioning normally," Tass said.

It usually takes Soviet Luna craft about five days to reach the moon.

When Luna 20 gets there, it will find Luna 19 still in orbit.

Luna 19 left earth a few weeks after the ill-fated Luna 18 mission, popped into orbit Oct. 3 and has been there since, carrying out research into space radiation, magnetism and other areas.

The Luna 18 mishap broke a string of impressive accomplishments achieved by the unmanned Soviet moon program. The Soviets never explained whether it crashed or toppled over upon landing, but they announced Sept. 11 that contact was lost as soon as Luna 18 landed in the rugged mountain area.

Before that, in 1970, Luna 16 became the first unmanned space vehicle to scoop up moon-soil and return to earth and Luna 17 ferried the Lunokhod I robot to the Sea of Rains.

Three Injured In Two Accidents

Three persons received minor injuries in two separate accidents Saturday, the California Highway Patrol reported today.

Kimberley Helms, 16, of 38 Mercury Avenue, Tiburon, was treated at Marin General Hospital for bruises on her chest.

Tony Carbello Luchessi, 20, of 265 Cardinal Road, Mill Valley, was treated at the same hospital for a bruised right hand.

Miss Helms was a passenger in the Luchessi car which went off Shoreline Highway between Mill Valley and Stinson Beach at 6:30 p.m., patrolmen reported.

Review Panel Switch Ires Proxmire

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said today he plans a full investigation into why the Navy suddenly abolished a civilian group that guarded against excess payments to shipbuilders, and replaced it with an all-military board.

"If the Navy intended to replace an effective claims review group with a figurehead body intended to grease the skids for gigantic claims against the government, it could have chosen no better mechanism," Proxmire said. "I intend to look into this matter thoroughly."

Proxmire did not say when the Joint Economic Committee which he chairs might begin hearings. A committee aide, however, indicated it might be a matter of weeks before they could be scheduled, since the committee already has begun its lengthy annual hearings on the state of the economy.

Triggering Proxmire's anger was the recent removal of Gordon Rule, described as the Navy's top civilian procurement officer, as head of the group set up by the Navy to accept or reject excess payment claims made against the government by shipbuilders whose costs were higher than original contract terms.

Proxmire's committee held hearings last fall on the review system, at which it was disclosed that more than $1 billion in such claims were pending against the government.

One claim the Rule group vetoed involved the Avondale Shipbuilding Co. of New Orleans, which had asked for an extra $158 million on several contracts. The Navy offered to settle for $73.5 million, but the Rule group refused, basically on grounds the claim was unsubstantiated. The Avondale claim has not yet been settled.

"In our investigation ... we found that only one man in the Navy was willing to challenge the Navy brass and question a major claim," Proxmire said. "That man was Gordon Rule.

"That he was doing a good job was underlined by the fact that when the Navy's claims policies were criticized, official Pentagon spokesmen pointed to Rule as proof that the government did not intend to pay any unsubstantiated claim," he said.

Spanish Hold U.S. Airmen In Drugs Raid

MADRID (UPI)—Spanish police have smashed a drug smuggling ring run by U.S. airmen at Torrejon Air Force Base near Madrid, the newspaper Hoja de Lunes reported today.

A U.S. embassy spokesman said seven Americans stationed at Torrejon were "being held by Spanish police pending investigation." He said details might be released later.

Hoja de Lunes said the airmen befriended Spanish women, bought them cars and sent them to Tangiers and other Morocean drug trading centers to pick up consignments of Hashish. Two of the women have also been arrested the newspaper said.

Student Financial Needs On Agenda

The Lagunitas School District board will discuss meeting student financial needs with its citizen finance committee tonight.

Funding for various financial aid programs will be assessed at the meeting at 7:30 p.m. in the San Quentin Valley School.

20th ANNIVERSARY

A Personal Thank You from FIRESIDE Thrift
FOUNDER-PRESIDENT
SIDNEY STERN

20 years ago, I opened my first office. I wanted to build a friendly company . . . like an old-fashioned family. I sought to bring together a group of dedicated, warm-hearted people, a clan befitting the name Fireside! Now, beginning a third decade, I believe our success rests in the solid friendships we have made with those we serve. Assets today approach $100,000,000.00. We have 52 Statewide offices; others planned. We have a strong, dynamic institution because of the confidence and loyalty our customers place in us.

Sincerely, SIDNEY STERN

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL, C.P.A.

Moving Expense Deduction Now Available To More Taxpayers

Moving expense deduction is now available to more taxpayers than ever before.

Employers must furnish their employees with an itemized Form 4782 for each move made during the year. This form shows the amounts paid to the employee, the amount paid to a third party for benefit of the employee, the value of services furnished in-kind and the total amount for the transportation of household and personal property; travel, meals and lodging in moving from the old residence to the new area of employment, pre-move travel, meals and lodging to search for the new residence; temporary living expenses in the new location prior to moving to permanent quarters; qualified residence sale, purchase or lease expenses; and all other payments.

In other words, you are going to have to take all of these items into consideration in determining whether or not you have a moving expense deduction and the amount of the deduction.

This could result in additional taxable income to you rather than a deduction or both a deduction and additional taxable income.

For you to claim a moving expense deduction on your 1971 income tax return, you must have the Form 4782 from your employer and you complete a Form 3903 in order to determine the actual amount of your deduction.

If you are self-employed and moved for business reasons you do not have to have a Form 4782 and you may be able to deduct many of the costs of moving. The new job location must be at least 50 miles further from your old home than the old job was. This is via the most commonly used route.

You must be employed full time for at least 39 weeks during the 12 month period immediately after the move. You do not have to work for one employer for the 39 weeks, nor must the weeks be consecutive.

If you are self-employed, you must also during the 24 month period immediately following your arrival at your new job, perform services on a full time basis for at least 78 weeks of which not less than 39 weeks must fall within the 12 month period immediately following your arrival at your new place of work.

If you move and pay the expenses in the last part of the year and it looks as though you will qualify, you can go ahead and claim the deduction. However, if you don't complete the full 39 weeks or 78 weeks, then you must include whatever you deducted last year in your next year's income. In cases of death, disability, discharge or transfere, the 39 or 78 week test does not apply.

If your employer pays your moving expenses, you must include this in your income.

Deductible moving expenses include:

Expenses of moving household goods and personal effects from your old residence to your new residence; expenses of traveling (including meals and lodging) after getting the new job, from the old residence to the general location of the new jb and return for the principal purpose of looking for a new residence; temporary living expenses (up to 30 days) at the new job location; and qualified expenses incident to a sale, purchase or lease of a residence.

Also, there is a limit to the deduction for temporary living expenses, qualified ecpenses incident to sale, purchase or lease of residence and traveling after getting the new job. Expenses for house hunting and temporary living expenses cannot be more than $1,000. The combined expenses for house hunting, temporary living expenses and qualified residence sale cannot be more than $2,500.

Moving expenses are deductible from gross income in computing adjusted gross income, so you can deduct your moving expenses regardless of whether you elect to itemize or not.

Secure Form 3903 from the IRS and complete it fully. Attach this form to your tax return to explain the deduction you make on line 17 of Form 1040.

Late Rally, But Market Takes Dip

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market staged a late session rally today but still closed lower. Trading was moderately active on the New York Stock Exchange.

President Nixon announced late in the day he was removing some of the restrictions on U. S. exports to China, giving Peking the same status as the Soviet Union among America's trading powers. This was the major factor in the late rally, analysts said.

Profit taking had been a major factor in the most of the trading prior to Nixon's announcement. Some analyst said it was a continuation of a trend begun late last Thursday that carried through Friday.

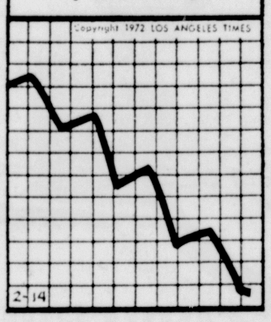

Ampex was one of the more active stocks. A block of 83,000 shares sold off 1⅜ at 7. The company last week said it expected a larger loss for the year than the $40 million previously anticipated.

Chrysler moved ahead, still benefitting from last week's report of a profit for 1971 compared with a loss the year before. It was an active issue.

Kansas City Power & Light was another active feature, primarily because of a block of 117,600 shares at 32, off ½.

Farmworkers To Get Co-Ops

WASHINGTON, D.C. (BW) — A $450,000 grant to establish strawberry growing co-ops for 1,000 poor Mexican-American farmworkers in the Salinas Valley of California has been announced by Phillip V. Sanchez, national director of the U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity.

The co-op project of 528 acres will be OEO's largest. Sanchez said it will give 160 unemployed families "the chance to get off welfare. Establish their own equity, and become self sustaining, taxpaying members of our American society."

The federal grant will be administered by San Francisco regional director Thomas H. Mercer.

Recycling Program A Success

OAKLAND (BW) — Nearly 60 million all-aluminum cans were turned in at "can-do" recycling depots throughout central and Northern California during 1971 and collections during December were at the highest level of any month since the program started in mid-1970.

During December, 7.7 million cans were turned in for cash at the 50 collection sites affiliated with the program. At the going rate of 10 cents a pound, the public was paid $38,500 during the month.

For all of 1971, the payout to participating individuals amounted to $298,000.

"Results of 'can-do' continue to point out that the public is interested in recycling and that the interest continues to increase," N.F. Anderson of Kaiser Aluminum said.

"We anticipate that the total number of cans collected in 1972 in central and Northern California could approach the 100 million mark."

The mechanics of the program are these: Individuals bring flattened aluminum cans to a nearby collection center and are paid on the spot. The used cans then are shredded and processed for shipment to Kaiser's rolling mill at Trentwood, Wash., where the metal is remelted, recast and rolled into sheet and plate for use in new products.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Public Finance Corporation To Move This Month To New Site

Located at 817 A Street, San Rafael, for the past 17 years, Public Finance Corporations will move sometime this month to 1031 C Street, San Rafael.

New manager of the firm is Michael Cole, previously with the San Francisco office, who plans on moving his home from San Mateo County to Marin.

Security Mortgage Co., previous occupant of 1031 C Street, has moved next door to 1029, former quarters of Grubb and Ellis Co., now located in its new offices on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Greenbrae.

John Hourihan of Grubb and Ellis negotiated the C Street leases.

BAND INSTRUMENTS were once sold at 1408 Fourth Street, San Rafael, before Sherman Clay recently phased out this part of its operation, and band instruments will be sold at the same address again — but by another firm.

This is Whitney's Band Instruments, Inc., now located at 117 Jacoby Street, San Rafael, for the past four years with Marin Piano and Organ Co. Owner Lewis Whitney of Terra Linda also has a store in San Francisco.

Date of the move is March 1. This is another Grubb and Ellis lease, negotiated by Christopher Beck.

WALTER G. BUSSE of San Anselmo, formerly vice president, has been named president of Steedman, Cooper and Busse, San Francisco advertising agency. He joined the firm in 1959.

Another San Anselmo resident, Maxyne Stroisch, has been reelected treasurer of the corporation. She has been with the company since 1958.

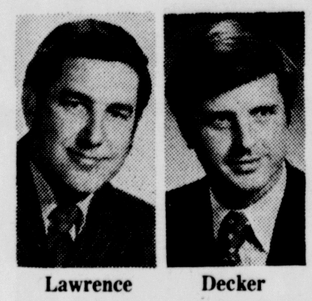

R. THOMAS DECKER of Tiburon has been made president of Wells Fargo Leasing Corp., a newly formed subsidiary of Wells Fargo and Co. He formerly was senior vice president of marketing for GATX-ARMCO-Boothe, San Francisco. The new subsidiary is a spin-off of Wells Fargo Bank's leasing department. San Francisco headquarters is at 425 California Street.

WELLS FARGO BANK has appointed James M. Lawrence of San Rafael as escrow officer in its marketing and advertising division in Oakland. He joined the bank in December with six years of previous escrow experience.

PHOTOGRAPHIC EXHIBIT of Rudy Bender, San Francisco photographer, which has been on display at the gallery of the Social Security Administration offices, 549 Northgate Drive, San Rafael, is being held over for the balance of February by district manager Edwin H. Leuin. Viewing hours are from

Busse — Stroisch

Lawrence — Decker

8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Mondays through Fridays.

REDWOOD BANK in San Rafael during the balance of February. He is an art major at College of Marin.

TOMORROW'S BREAKFAST MEETING of the Marin County Board of Realtors at the Corte Madera Recreation Center will feature a panel discussion on termites by A. Kesecker of Marin Termite Control Co., Benjamin Smith of Smith Exterminators and Peter Matzen of Matzen Pest Control.

PUTNAM FINANCIAL SERVICES, INC., at Northgate (formerly Mutual Fund Associates) honored its account executives and President's Club members for outstanding achievements at its annual meeting Saturday at Holiday Inn. John T. Bennett Jr., vice president and director of research of Putnam Management Co. Inc., Boston, was speaker.

INVESTING

Diagnostic Labs Need A Change

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I own with a friend 2,000 American Biomedical (OTC) at an average cost of 8½. What are the chances for recovery? — J. T.

A. At this time the prognosis for American Biomedical is discouraging. In 1971, losses were incurred in two of its operating areas, medical nuclear products and computerized services.

Earlier another loss operation was sold. Proceeds from this transaction lifted working capital from its 1970 year-end deficit position. About 80 per cent of company business is derived from a network of 60 clinical laboratories.

Reduced profit contributions from some of these units reflected greater competition and rising costs. Write-offs also were taken and American ended the year with a deficit.

Share recovery will depend on a turnaround in operations. Management has stated its intention of either correcting its problem divisions or closing them out. With this realistic approach, management should be successful in cutting losses.

Q. I put $50 monthly into savings bonds, $100 monthly in a savings account. I now can put $100 more each month in a conservative long-term growth investment. Could you suggest a suitable no-load mutual fund? — E. L.

A. There are a number of "middle-of-the-road" no loan funds which are suitable for your purpose. I would suggest however that you invest $50 monthly in two funds rather than putting all your eggs in one basket.

You should write for prospectuses from the four suggested no-loads and after reading these, choose the two most closely suited to your needs. The four funds are Babson (David L.) Investments, Johnston Mutual, Mathers Fund and Price (T. Rowe) Growth Stock Fund.

CAUCUS MEETING — There was nothing tense about this meeting of the McCarthy for President Democratic caucus Saturday. It was held under a new system of rules by which any registered Democrat has a chance to become a convention delegate. Here, Gregory Fearon (center) retrieves a pen from a member of the caucus.

California's Presidential Caucuses 'Great Success'

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —California Democrats hailed their first-ever presidential campaign caucuses as "a great success" today and supporters of Sen. George S. McGovern claimed a "significant and dramatic victory."

The dovish South Dakota senator, who has fared poorly in the public opinion polls, drew large crowds of youthful supporters to his caucuses and generally ran neck-and-neck with the acknowledged frontrunner, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine.

State party chairman Charles T. Manatt of Van Nuys said more than 20,000 "grassroots" Democrats turned out on a mild, spring-like day to attend Saturday's caucuses, which nominated persons to serve on each candidate's proposed California delegation to the national convention in Miami Beach.

Although attendance figures for each candidate carried no official significance, party officials beforehand had said they might indicate the direction of political winds in the nation's most populous state.

Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., who has not endorsed any candidate, had predicted the caucuses would "serve as a test of strength and legitimacy of the individual presidential campaigns well before the New Hampshire primary on March 7."

Manatt insisted "the figures really don't mean anything except that some candidates did a good job of organizing the caucuses. The numbers of persons attending the caucuses did not necessarily demonstrate voter appeal."

Muskie and McGovern drew roughly 7,000 supporters apiece, according to preliminary figures. One caucus of McGovern's in Oakland attracted roughly 500 persons. Several Muskie and McGovern caucuses were attended by more than 200.

Rep. Shirley Chisholm of New York, the nation's first black congresswoman who only recently announced her presidential candidacy, attracted large groups of women and blacks to her caucuses.

But she and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota drew less than half as many supporters as Muskie and McGovern, according to preliminary igures.

The caucuses of New York Mayor John V. Lindsay, a Democrat for only six months, also were relatively well attended.

Drawing smaller groups were Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, Mayor Sam Yorty of Los Angeles, former Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota and Sen. Vance Hartke of Indiana.

All nine candidates sponsored caucuses in each of California's 43 congressional districts, adding up to 387 caucuses.

"The results show that George McGovern is more than 10 times stronger with the people than he appears to be in the polls," said the spokesman, Fred Epstein. "We feel it is yet another indication that when the people—and not the pollsters or the politicians—have a chance to show who they prefer for president in 1972, George McGovern will win."

Muskie's delegation coordinator, Leslie Winner, also said she was pleased, reporting "we had good turnouts and no fights."

She said Muskie hopes to fill his delegation with 50 per cent women, 18 per cent Mexican-Americans, eight per cent blacks and 20 per cent persons under age 26.

The candidates are not legally obligated to choose the caucus nominees for their delegations. But party leaders have warned it will be politically detrimental for the candidates if they do not.

As in the past, California's official delegation will be selected by voters in the June 6 primary—largest winner-take-all primary in the nation.

Minority Hiring Before Trustees

A policy of hiring members of minority groups to fill vacancies at Mill Valley's soon-to-be-completed middle school has been suggested by the Edna Maguire School Faculty Council.

The Mill Valley School District board will consider that request when it meets at 8 p.m. today at Park School.

The faculty council has suggested all new openings at the school be filled with minority teachers until the percentage of blacks, orientals, Mexican-Americans and American Indians on the staff equals the percentage of those minorities in the population of the Bay Area.

Also to be discussed is a committee appointed to name the middle school. The board has asked that names be submitted in writing by Feb. 25.

Tennis Club Plan On Tap

The Fairfax City Council, meeting tonight at 8 o'clock, will consider a master plan for a housing development and tennis club, proposals for Marin Transit bus stops in the city and bid results for an addition to city hall.

The combination tennis club and condominium housing development will be located on the western edge of the city.

The council will also consider a report by the parks and recreation commission on restroom facilities in Peri Park.

A Most Unusual Demo Caucus: The Grassroots Participates

By MARC NURRE

They came singly and in small groups to the suburban San Rafael home Saturday morning. Most were informally dressed, and a few even brought their dogs — which were relegated to the backyard where they scratched and played and peered in through the glass patio door at their masters.

The dogs had ringside seats to a caucus — a caucus to pick delegates to the Democratic National Convention to be held in Miami. This particular caucus happened to be for Eugene McCarthy, but similar ones were held all over the state Saturday for every Democratic presidential hopeful.

People sat on couches, kitchen chairs, armchairs and leaned against walls as the convention delegates were nominated and procedures discussed. This was no smoke-filled room for the simple reason that almost nobody smoked.

It was a change, too, from past caucuses in which delegates were nominated on the strength of political favors and campaign donations.

"We're participating in a revolution," McCarthy's Northern California campaign coordinator, Patrick Heffernan, told the 25 or 30 caucus participants as they came into the room, and it soon became evident that this caucus would be different from those of the past.

People kept filing in, and as they entered Heffernan would make sure they had signed an oath swearing that they were registered Democrats. Because of the constant arrivals, he had to keep repeating himself. It was hard to tell when to settle down to business. It was a mixed group, but mainly young.

"Filibuster a little," one participant told him. "My parents are coming."

Finally, nominations began, Heffernan urged people to nominate themselves if they wanted to, and they did. When it came time to vote, the "candidates" each gave a very short statement of why they'd like to represent McCarthy at the primary. One woman listed among her qualifications that she made "very good chicken soup."

Elections were simple. The group was to choose 14 delegates, and had only 15 nominations, so one person was eliminated and the slate voted in.

If, in this case, McCarthy wins the Democratic primary, the Marin area will be allowed seven delegates plus alternatives which will be picked from those chosen at Saturday's meeting.

Some vestige of the old system remains, however, because 12 per cent of a candidate's slate is picked after the primary, from political workers and campaign contributors.

But most of the delegates representing their candidate will be "average Americans" picked at similar meetings held throughout the state. The party has said it will attempt to raise money for transportation and lodging in Miami.

Technically, the candidates can disregard the nominations of delegates, but party officials at the meeting assured those present that it wouldn't happen.

The change in the caucus meeting procedure came out of the 1968 Democratic National Convention when a committee was appointed to look at the system and suggest ways to overhaul it.

This in turn gave rise to state committees on the same topic and the new system was born.

College's Door Is Open On Admissions

ADRIAN, Mich. (UPI) — Adrian College has begun an "open door" admissions policy for veterans of military service in which any veteran who can produce a high school diploma or equivalent will be admitted for a trial semester.

If the vet proves he can do the work by maintaining a "C" average or better during the semester, he is then admitted to the college as a regular student.

Cycle Crash Injures Two

One person was hospitalized and another injured in a motorcycle accident at 10:25 p.m. Saturday on the Freitas Parkway on-ramp to Highway 101, California Highway patrol reported.

Stephen Darol Williamson, 20, of 49 Terry Circle, Novato, was reported in good condition today in Marin General Hospital with a broken right arm and skinned right leg, according to hospital authorities.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

Father's Advise Is Very Good: Don't Take Any Losing Finesses

When I was 6 years old, my father took me on his knee and said: "You are now a big boy and going to school. Pay attention to your teacher, and don't take any losing finesses." This is sound advice for everybody who has reached the age of 6 as you can see from today's hand.

WHAT IS NEXT?

West wins the first trick with the king of spades, on which East plays the discouraging deuce. West next leads the queen of diamonds. What is your plan?

If you didn't have a father's advice to guide you, the club finesse might tempt you. But you would lose to the king of clubs and back would come a spade through your queen. The opponents would take a club and three spades.

HOW DO YOU KNOW?

How do you know in advance that the club finesse is sure to lose? At the first and second tricks West has told you that he has the ace-king of spades and the queen-jack of diamonds. You know that West passed to begin with and never peeped during the entire auction. How can West have the king of clubs?

With this knowledge and pappy's advice you are ready to proceed. Let West win the second trick with the queen of diamonds. If West next leads a club (his best defense) take the ace of clubs and the king of diamonds. Then lead a trump to dummy's eight.

DUMMY'S ACE

Now you lead dummy's ace of diamonds, discarding your remaining club. You are in position to lead the queen of clubs through East. His only hope is to play the king of clubs (otherwise you would discard a spade) whereupon you ruff.

Now you draw trumps, ending in the dummy, and cash the jack of clubs to discard a losing spade. This guarantees your game contract.

© 1972 PLC Marketing Incorporated

IN these days of high prices, what a relief it is to see the price of something as important as life insurance actually coming down!

For now — if you're a Californian — you can get $10,000 life insurance at low group rates, so low you'll want to add $5,000 on your wife and $1,000 on each of your children. And you can qualify on the "honor system" right from this page without the usual red tape — without seeing a salesman.

Enroll now and take advantage of this introductory low rate: only $1 for your first month . . . and you'll get a full $10,000 protection.

How Big Is Your Life Insurance Protection Gap?

Higher prices, higher incomes and higher standards of living have created a fast-widening life insurance protection gap. So much so that if you haven't increased your life insurance in the past year your family is probably under-protected today.

Back in 1950, financial experts recommended that a family man should carry life insurance equal to 2½ times his yearly income. In 1960 they recommended moving up to 3 times income. Today, the experts say your family should now be protected with "life insurance amounting to 5 times your annual income as an absolute minimum."

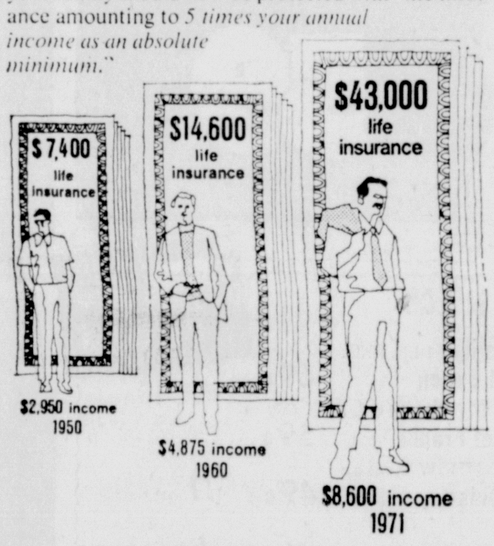

Figure it out for yourself: Add up all your life insurance; then figure your large debts (mortgage, car, etc.). You'll probably be shocked to learn that even "5 times" won't leave your family very much for necessities of life and your children's education. You'll surely see the need for at least $10,000 more protection.

Now Everyone Can Afford $10,000 Extra Protection At These Low Group Rates

If you're an employee — Chances are you don't carry enough personal life insurance. This plan gives you your own personal policy that you can keep no matter how often you change jobs — an extra $10,000 life insurance over and above any of your company or union benefits — at low group rates.

If you're an executive — Because your family is used to a high standard of living, the insurance that may have been adequate only a few years ago just isn't enough today. (IRS regulations limit the amount of tax free insurance your company can provide for you.) But now you can easily add an extra $10,000 protection at these low group rates.

If you're self-employed — You have to provide your own "company benefits" at your own expense. As a business proprietor or a professional practitioner, here, for the first time, is your opportunity to get the same kind of "rate-break" you would get as an employee. Give yourself an extra $10,000 protection at these low group rates.

Choose The Plan That Suits You Best

FAMILY PLAN
$10,000 for you
$5,000 for your wife
$1,000 for each child

If you have a young growing family, we recommend the Family Plan. You and your wife and all your eligible children — including future additions — are included under one low monthly group rate. Example: At age 35 your rate is $3.20 + $1.40 for your wife (50% of the $2.80 rate shown for your wife's age of 32) + 32c for your children (10% of your rate) = $4.92 basic monthly rate for your entire family.

HUSBAND-WIFE PLAN
$10,000 for you
$5,000 for your wife

If you haven't started your family yet, or if your children are grown — you'll want the Husband-Wife Plan. You and your wife will be covered under one low group rate. Example: At age 35 your rate is $3.20 + $1.40 for your wife (50% of the $2.80 rate shown for your wife's age of 32) = $4.60 basic monthly rate for you and your wife.

INDIVIDUAL ADULT PLAN
$10,000 for you

If you're a bachelor, career woman, college student, veteran just out of service, or if you're a family man or woman and just wish to insure yourself — choose the Individual Adult Plan. You can cover yourself for very little money. Example: At age 35 your basic monthly rate is $3.20.

ONE - PARENT PLAN
$10,000 for you
$1,000 for each child

If you are the only parent living with your children, we suggest the One-Parent Plan. You and all your eligible children will be covered under one low monthly group rate. Example: At age 35 your rate is $3.20 + 32c for your children (10% of your rate) = $3.52 basic monthly rate for you and all your eligible children.

Regardless of your plan, you may pay any way you choose — monthly, quarterly, semi-annually or annually. A modest 30c service charge is added to payments other than annual.

You Can Change To Another Kind Of Policy Later — Children Get A Special Conversion Privilege

If you wish, you can convert to any kind of cash value policy — ordinary, 20-pay, endowment, etc. — any time within 5 years. (This conversion privilege reduces one year for each year you are over age 50 at issue date.) Regardless of your age or health you can convert your full $10,000, your wife her full $5,000, without any qualifications whatsoever.

Special $10,000 Conversion Privilege For Your Children: Each of your children at age 18 can automatically convert to a $10,000 cash value policy, without any qualifications at all. This is truly a wonderful future advantage for your children, because it gives the highest value and lowest cost at the earliest adult age!

Full Protection: Your Group-Rate Life Insurance Plan covers death from any cause — sickness, accident, natural causes. (Suicide is not covered in the first two years.)

Extra Security: No matter how often you change jobs or how poor your health may become — we guarantee, right up to age 65, that we cannot refuse to renew your policy unless we refuse renewal on all policies of this form (TPC-39) in California. And, no change can be made in year-to-year rates unless rates are revised on this form throughout California. You, of course, may drop your policy any time, for any reason.

Our Lower Costs Make Group Rates Possible

By enrolling thousands of people at one time, without using salesmen, we've cut "sales costs" one of the largest single items of expense in life insurance. Secondly, by using the "honor system" and eliminating expensive examinations, we've cut "issue costs." And finally, because we only insure people in normal, everyday good health, we've been able to cut our rates down to "group" rates.

These rates are based on the official New York Statutory Table of Minimum Group Life Renewable Term Gross Premiums, the basis for most of the group life insurance in the United States. For you it all adds up to maximum benefits at minimum rates.

Direct Personal Service Everywhere Phone "Collect" Any Time

Our biggest "plus" is . . . DIRECT PERSONAL SERVICE! From our Direct Personal Service Center in Santa Monica we serve our many thousands of policyowners throughout California quickly and equally.

Friendly personal service counsellors — expertly trained to help you on any question about your policy — can be called any time from anywhere in the U.S. With your policy you'll receive a special "collect call" number. Whenever you call you'll be greeted by your personal service counsellor who will be ready to give you all the information you need.

Qualifications are few . . . adult ages 18-55 . . . children 30 days-18 years . . . non-hazardous occupations . . . normal, everyday good health. If you meet these few requirements, you can qualify on the "honor system" without the usual fuss and bother. There's no red tape and no one will call on you.

And there's no risk at all! $1 fully covers you for $10,000 protection during the special one-month introductory period. You can even get your dollar back. Just return your policy within 10 days if you decide you don't wish to keep it. You begin paying your regular low monthly rate after the one-month introductory period, which also puts your family's coverage in full force.

So you see, nothing is gained by waiting until the deadline to enroll. Your rate will never be lower than it is right now and the sooner we receive your enrollment, the sooner you'll be covered. To take advantage of all your benefits under the Group-Rate Life Insurance Plan mail your enrollment with only $1 today. Thank you!

A Quick Review of the Group-Rate Life Insurance Plan

14 IMPORTANT QUESTIONS ANSWERED

1. Why do I need more life insurance now?
Because everything is higher today. The experts say you need insurance equal to "5 times your annual income as an absolute minimum." Add up your life policies, you'll quickly discover that you don't have "5 times", and will need at least $10,000 more.

2. How can I afford $10,000 more?
Enroll for $10,000 during this special enrollment at low monthly group rates you can easily afford. (Example: age 35, $3.20 is your basic monthly rate —see chart above.) By enrolling now, you'll get your first month for only $1.00!

3. Can I add $5,000 for my wife? My children for $1,000 each?
Yes. Three combinations are available. Family, includes you for $10,000, your wife for $5,000, your children for $1,000 each. Husband-Wife, includes you for $10,000, your wife for $5,000. One-Parent, includes you for $10,000, your children for $1,000 each. The rate chart above shows how you can protect your whole family for very little money.

4. How can you offer such low rates?
By enrolling thousands of people at one time, without using salesmen, we've cut "sales costs"—one of the largest single items of expense. Secondly, by using the "honor system" and eliminating expensive examinations, we've cut "issue costs." And finally, by insuring only people in normal, everyday good health, we've actually cut our rates down to "group rates"!

5. Will I get service when I need it?
Absolutely. Policyowners throughout California are served quickly and equally. With your policy, you'll get a "special number" to call "collect" from anywhere in the U.S. and talk with a service counsellor on any question you have.

6. Can I change my policy later on?
Yes. You can convert to any kind of $10,000 cash value life policy without qualifications. You may convert any time within five years if you are under 50 at issue date—one year less for each year over 50.

7. Can my wife and children convert, too?
Your wife can convert to a $5,000 cash value policy and each of your children at age 18 automatically qualifies for a $10,000 cash value policy.

8. How quickly are beneficiaries paid?
Immediately. The full amount is paid as soon as a claim is received and verified by us. If your wife or children are also insured, you are their beneficiary. You may change your beneficiary at any time.

9. Can I drop my policy? Can you drop me?
You can drop your policy at any time. We guarantee right up to age 65, that we cannot decline renewals or change rates unless we do so on all policies (Policy TPC-39) throughout California.

10. Is Trans Pacific Life licensed in California?
Yes. Trans Pacific Life Insurance Company is fully licensed and regulated by the Insurance Department of California and is a full legal reserve company.

11. How is Trans Pacific Life rated?
Dunne's Insurance Reports, a national authority on insurance companies, has awarded Trans Pacific Life its highest policyholder's rating, "A+ (Excellent)."

12. How can I enroll on the "honor system"?
Just fill in the short form at the right. Select the plan that suits your needs: Family, Husband-Wife, One-Parent, Individual Adult. Enrollment age limits: 18 - 55 for you and your wife; 30 days to 18 years for your children. If you're in normal, everyday good health and in a non-hazardous occupation, you should qualify. Simply mail your enrollment form with only $1 for your first month. On the "honor system," there's no red tape and no one will call on you.

13. Can I change my mind?
Of course. Return your policy within 10 days after issue date and your dollar will be refunded. If you don't qualify, your dollar will be returned immediately.

14. Why should I enroll now?
Because your rate will never be lower than it is right now. Also, since conditions of health change without warning and could affect your qualifications, you should mail your enrollment today!

CHILDREN'S HOSTEL, TOO

Marionettes Are Her Specialty

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Mrs. Ruth Howe of Mill Valley has an unusual interest — a children's hostel, which has led to her involvement with other child-oriented activities. These include making and operating marionettes, puppets and films and devising mixed media entertainment for children at the Mill Valley Fall Arts Festival.

MRS. RUTH Howe helps Donna Miller (center) with the first steps in making heads for puppets. Watching is Sue Freeman. The children are two of those in the Thursday morning classes in puppet making that Mrs. Howe conducts at Old Mill School in Mill Valley.

(Independent-Journal photos by Jim Kean)

What is a children's hostel? It is her own term, growing out of her experience, she explained.

"It's something like a hotel for children," she said, "with parents having to make reservations for them to stay overnight, sometimes just for weekends, sometimes for as long as 10 days.

"It all started when I wanted to do something to earn money by doing what I do best — art and dealing with children. I have two children myself, a son, Travis, 8, and daughter, Carla, 5.

"First I got a nse and took children for day care only in my home. Then I realized I wanted to do more with children on a 24-hour basis and got another license to do that."

FOR TWO years Ruth Howe did this for as many as six children of ages 3 to 12 at a time, and she says she loved doing it.

"The children shared chores," she said, "with each one assigned to do something he especially liked, whether it was helping with the cooking and cleaning, building a rabbit pen or planting seeds in the garden and caring for them.

"At night I would read stories for the group around the fire, dress up and do little dramatic things or entertain them with puppet shows and films.

"I would find broken puppets and repair them to use in the shgws and got some old films from salvage shops.

"We also went on field trips, some with the older children in charge to places the youngsters wanted to visit, and we did many kinds of things they didn't have a chance to do in their homes. Something they especially enjoyed on these trips, and in classes too, was the video tape recorder. This is a sort of TV camera with synchronized sound that permits immediate showing on TV right after it is recorded.

"The hostel was especially good for an only child to have an opportunity to be with other children," she noted, "and some parents would leave the children regularly because of the other children met."

Born in Rome of Italian parents Ruth was graduated from Balboa High School in San Francisco. She attended the San Francisco Art Institute, City College of San Francisco and San Francisco State College with the intention of becoming a teacher. Marriage interrupted these career ambitions.

INTERESTED IN all forms of art since she was 7 years old, she has found it helpful in her work with children. As a result of her research on making and operating marionettes, she became an expert and began getting invitations to take them to school classes for demonstrations. This led to her teaching of two classes in puppet making Thursday mornings at Old Mill School in Mill Valley.

"My specialty," she emphasized, "is marionettes, which are string-operated from above, not hand puppets." She is especially proud of a very large marionette she calls Johnny Superstar, which she made for her own use. "He is about as tall as a two-year-old child," she says.

Asked to do something for children's entertainment for the Mill Valley Fall Arts Festival, Ruth decided she wanted to do something other than with marionettes and created a multimedia experiecce for the tots. From sono tubes — heavy cardboard into which cement is poured — she made a 25-foot tunnel for children to crawl through while encountering bells and music and various objects hanging from the ceiling. At the end the youngsters popped through a trap door back into the outside world.

Ruth has had paintings exhibited at the Mill Valley Fall Arts Festival and the San Francisco Arts Festival, but it is in mixed media creations that she is mostly interested now for self expression.

"I guess you would call them sculpture," she said thoughtfully, tossing back her straight black hair. "I make three dimensional things using paint, terra cotta, flashing lights, found objects and sound or any material or craft suitable to the piece I'm working on."

RUTH HOWE gave up her children's hostel last fall because she felt her house was no longer large enough after each of her children was given a separate room.

"I'd love to have a children's hostel again," she said, "but that would mean either remodeling my home, or, preferably, getting a larger one with more space for pets as well as children. With that I might have something like a summer camp too. And I would like to do more with animation, perhaps actually making films myself with the children helping."

JOHNNY SUPERSTAR is the large marionette made by Mrs. Ruth Howe of Mill Valley and she finds him very useful in her demonstrations for children. Mrs. Howe became expert in making and operating marionettes and puppets while running a hostel for children at her home for two years.

LYNN JOLLEY
Sets July vows

Lynn Jolley Engagement Announced

Dr. and Mrs. Harold N. Jolley of Mill Valley announce the engagement of their daughter, Lynn Crawford Jolley, to William Frederick Letcher, son of Dr. and Mrs. Charles W. Letcher of Miami, Fla.

The couple will be married on July 29.

A graduate of Tamalpais High School, Lynn expects to be graduated in May from Washington University in St. Louis, Mo. She is the sister of 2nd Lt. Craig B. Jolley of Long Branch, N.J.; Jean Jolley, a student at Colorado State University at Fort Collins, and Claire Jolley of Mill Valley.

The future bridegroom was graduated from St. Mark's School of Texas in Dallas and from Washington University. He will enter the Washington University School of Dentistry in the fall.

He is the brother of Dr. John H. Letcher and C. Scott Letcher of Tulsa, Okla., and Dr. Frank S. Letcher of St. Louis.

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

Marinites To Model In League's Show

By MOLLY MARIN

Youngest Marinite to model in the Junior League fashion show on March 17 will be Christopher Erlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Erlin of San Anselmo.

Teen-age models from Marin are Windsor Cleveland, the daughter of Mrs. Joseph Sheeks of Belvedere; Erin Hickey, daughter of the James Hickeys, also of Belvedere; and Nancy Taylor, daughter of the Robert C. Taylors of Ross.

The show will be presented at a luncheon and repeated at a dinner, both to be held in the grand ballroom of St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco.

THE ERNEST R. Luizes of Nicasio celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary early so their son, Robert, could attend the party on Jan. 29 at Holy Ghost Hall in Petaluma before leaving for overseas.

Married Feb. 15, 1947, at Our Lady of Loretto Church in Novato, the Luizes are also the parents of Ernest R. Luiz Jr., who with his wife, Joan, and Robert hosted the party.

A dairy man in Nicasio, Luiz is the son of Mrs. Anna Luiz of San Rafael. Mrs. Luiz's mother is Mrs. Amelia P. Lemos of Fremont.

Among the friends and relatives from throughout the Bay Area attending the party were Mrs. Luiz's brothers, Orland Pacheco of Manteca and Leo D. Pacheco of Petaluma; Mrs. Luiz's sisters and brothers, Dorothy, Evelyn, Richard and Alfred Luiz of San Rafael and Joseph Luiz of Petaluam.

ALISON ROSS Merrill was wed to Gerhardt Robbe Thursday in Hamburg, Germany. The couple are planning a trip to Marin in the spring to visit the bride's mother, Mrs. Margaret Barber Merrill, and her brothers and sisters, Jennifer, Lindsay, Charles, Katherine and John Merrill, all of Mill Valley. John O. Merrill Jr. of San Francisco is her father.

The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Robbe, lives in Hamburg.

Gerhardt and Alison, who attended the Hamlin School in San Francisco and Whittier College, have been teaching in Bristol, England. Both will teach in Christchurch, New Zealand in the fall.

THE ROBERT MACKays of Ignacio have returned from a trip to England, highlighted by the wedding of Muriel MacKay's brother, Stephen Stuart Dunn and Patricia Mary Lane in Sunderland, Northern England. Robert MacKay was an usher at the wedding, held at Christ Church, Seaham, the oldest church in Northern England.

According to Muriel MacKay, the English custom of taking a piece of coal to the ewlyweds posed a problem for friends of her brother and sister-in-law, because of the coal strike in England.

FOUR COUPLES from Novato and Petaluma returned last week following an 11-day trip to Spain, Tangiers and Morocco. Taking the tour were Messrs. and Mmes. Frank Perachiotti and Paul Putnam; Dr. and Mrs. Raymond Rediske and their son, Richard, of Novato; and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Winterhalder of Petaluma. They spend most of their time at Costa del Sol in Spain.

ONE OF the gayest ever, was the consensus regarding the Outdoor Art Club's annual jinks party and luncheon Thursday afternoon. Following the theme "Go West, Young Mam." Members attended in costumes appropriate to the theme.

Prize winners for the costumes were most original, Mrs. Erling Michaelsen as a pioneer mother and infant; prettiest, Mrs. Edmund Pearson, a high class "madam"; funniest, Mrs. Samuel Bayshaw, Indian chief; best representation of theme, Mrs. Madison Devlin, a classy rancher; wildest, Mrs. Joseph Brewster, hardship make-do; and most amazing, Mrs. Kenneth Bauder, mail-order bride.

Thawed Fruits May Safely Be Refrozen

Thawed fruits may safely be refrozen if they taste and smell good.

Other foods that have thawed spoil more quickly. Special care is necessary when handling vegetables, shellfish, and cooked foods that have thawed or partially thawed.

Keep Separate

Although some food scientists say you can keep leftover stuffing from cooked fowl separate from the bird in the refrigarator for one or two days, it is best to throw it out.

Women Earn $3 To $5 Earned By Men

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — Women earn on the average, only $3 for every $5 earned by men, according to a new publication issued by the Department of Labor.

The ratio has varied slightly in recent years but the gap is considerably wider than it was 15 years ago.

The study reports that in 1969 women's median earnings were 60.5 per cent of men's. In 1970 the figure dropped to 59.4 per cent. But in 1955 women's median wage was nearly 64 per cent of that of men.

These facts are among the data on the disparity in earnings of women and men which appear in a revision of "Fact Sheet on the Earnings Gap," prepared by the women's bureau.

A LOOK at earnings of full-time year-round workers in 1970 shows that 12 per cent of the women but only 5 per cent of the men earned less than $3,000. In contrast, only 7 per cent of the women but 40 per cent of the men earned $10,000 or more. The median incomes of full-time year-round workers were $5,323 for women and $8,966 for men.

An examination of occupation groups reveals that the largest gap was for sales workers, where women earned 43 per cent of what men earned. The smallest gap was for professional and technical worers, where women earned 67 per cent of the amount earned by men.

ALTHOUGH THE figures in the fact sheet do not necessarily indicate that women receive unequal pay for equal work, they do show women are employed in the lower skilled and lower paying jobs. Nevertheless, examples of inequality of pay are found when the earnings of women and men in specific occupations and in the same fields are compared.

Surveys have revealed that among women and men accounting and payroll clerks of the same class, the men were better paid. In addition, salaries of women scientists in 1970 were from $1,700 to $5,100 less than those of men scientists. The greatest gap was between women and men chemists — $10,500 for women as compared with $15,600 for men.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Robin's Happy Parents Just Want To Priase Their Daughter

DEAR HELEN:

We just want to write and say thank you for the great job you and Sue are doing. And, please, on this Valentune's Day, coulc we say what perhaps other parents often think but may not always express?

I mean we want to publicly thank our teenage daughter, Robin, for being what she is — wonderful.

With so many teens having problems and so many parents at their wits end trying to cope with "growing pains," we are the luckiest of parents. Robin's sense of humor when things get tight around here is priceless; her acceptance of responsibility, her willingness to pitch and help, and her thoughtfulness as well as her appearance, are just a few of the qualities that make life very worthwhile at our home.

Of course none of us is perfect, but whatever imperfections our daughter has are outweighed by the good things about her. We are so proud of her, think she is the greatest and love her with all our hearts.

We communicate by typewriter, she and I, which makes it easier when it is difficult to talk about unpleasant or "touchy" topics. Thank goodness for that. — ROBIN'S HAPPY PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS:

You provided a lovely Valentine — and Robin, I'm sure, is as lucky as her parents. Thanks so much for writing. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My faith in the goodness of my fellow man has been highly justified.

Recently I tripped and took a nosedive into the front bumper of my car in a parking lot. It was a nasty blow, but before I could even think what happened, four or five teenage girls took charge. They made me lie flat and took their own jackets to protect me from the pavement and cover me. Then they worked hard to get the bleeding stopped on my nose and forehead. They wanted to call an ambulance, but I thought I'd better go home, so a nice couple with a baby helped me into their car and took me home, then to the hospital, where X-rays showed I had broken my nose (as one of the girls diagnosed).

The people at the emergency ward were great, too. Don't let anyone ever tell you that Americans are "uninvolved." I know better. I forgot to get the names of any any of these good folk, but I want to say, "Thank you so much." — OLDER CITIZEN FOR YOUNG PEOPLE

DEAR HELEN:

A reader hit you hard for accepting "unmarried marrieds" who for some reason or other can't make it legal but are still happily united. As one of these, can I give an insider's viewpoint?

Actually, whose business is it but that of the couple involved?

In every sense of the word, we're "moral," and I can't see that a little scrap of paper would make us more so.

Under terms of my inheritance, I lose my income if I marry. Call it foolish and even fanatic, but that's the will and it would be hard to break. The man I love doesn't earn enough for both of us to live comfortably. When that time comes, perhaps we'll consider marriage, but I doubt it. It might spoil our love — turn it dull and routine, a have-to thing. There is always the knowledge that if we don't keep trying our darndest, one or the other can walk out. So the relationship remains exciting and very much alive.

We don't drink, smoke, cheat, chase, and we try to help our fellow humans. I very much resent it when a so-called Christian jumps all over you for attempting to understand, or anyway not condemn. — VERY HAPPY

DEAR READERS:

All in all, it's been a good Valentine's Day — don't you think? — H.

John Trewn Weds Miss Partmann

Connie Partmann of San Francisco became the bride of John Trewin of Greenbrae Saturday in a ceremony at St. Charles Catholic Church in San Carlos.

Mr. and Mrs. William B. Partmann of San Carlos are the bride's parents, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Trewin of Greenbrae.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Robert Montgomery, and bridesmaids were Mrs. Robert Bonora of Menlo Park, Mrs. Robert Singer of El Centro, Kathy Johnson of San Francisco and Kathy Trewin of Keyenta, Ariz., the bridegroom's sister.

The bride's brother, William Partmann, a student at the University of San Francisco, was the best man. Guests were ushered to their seats by Robert Ravanno of San Carlos, Dave Erickson of Corte Madera, Stan Buchanan of Novato and Mike McGraw of Salicas.

Following a reception at the Cabana Hotel in Palo Alto the couple left on a wedding trip to Southern California. They will live in San Francisco.

The bride is a graduate of Notre Dame High School in Belmont and USF. She is employed by the State of California Department of Industrial Relations in San Francisco. Mrs. Anton Hodas of San Mateo is her grandmother.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Campion College Preparatory School and USF. He has a master's degree from the University of California and is employed by Haskins and Sells, accountants, in San Francisco.

New-Car Data In Safety Book

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON — It takes a long time for some kinds of news to get around.

For example, the government has just published its third annual edition of figures on new-car performance in acceleration ability, braking power and tire safety margins. Yet is doubtful that more than a relatively few consumers know anything about the information.

The official name of the new publication is Performance Data for New 1972 Passenger Cars and Motorcycles. It is compiled from data furnished by vehicle manufacturers and published by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA).

Federal law requires each dealer to furnish the same kind of information for the cars he sells. In fact, a new regulation effective this year is designed to make this information more accessible than it used to be at dealer offices.

But for prospective buyers who want to compare various brands, there is no central source other than the annual listing by the NHTSA.

With this book, it is possible to compare one model and make to another in three important respects.

Data on acceleration or passing ability show the number of seconds and feet required for a car to pass a truck of certain size under two sets of conditions: one, while accelerating from 20 to 35 miles per hour, and the other, while accelerating from 50 to 80 miles per hour.

INFORMATION ON stopping ability shows the number of feet required for a vehicle to stop from 60 miles per hour under four conditions. Figures show stopping distances for both light and maximum loads with the service brake fully operational.

Other figures show stopping distance when one of the vehicle's braking systems fails. The other set of data show stopping distances when power brakes fail.

Tire safety margins, or tire reserve loads, are percentage figures indicating how much more of the tires' load-carrying capacity is still not used after the vehicle is loaded to capacity.

Although the information was collected from manufacturers for safety purposes, it also bears strongly on automotive quality. Unfortunately, however, the material does not permit easy comparison between cars and makes of similar size and style. Cars are listed by manufacturer.

TWO ADDITIONAL booklets list vehicles in order of their ratings for brakes and tires. The book on brakes, for example, ranks cars in order of stopping distance in feet, starting with the Aston DBS V8 at 140 feet and ending with the Subaru 1300 station wagon at 256 feet.

The book on tire reserve loads ranks vehicles by percentages of excess load carrying capacity, starting with the Dino 246 GT with 37.5 per cent and ending with the Mercury station wagon with a zero reserve for its original equipment tires.

1969 Mother Of Year To Give Talks In Marin, Santa Rosa

The 1969 Mother of the Year, Mrs. R. G. LeTourneau of Longview, Tex., will speak to both the Marin County and Santa Rosa Christian Women's Club this week.

Mrs. LeTourneau will speak at the Santa Rosa club meeting at noon Wednesday at Los Robles Lodge in Santa Rosa. She will appear at the Marin club's meeting Friday at 9:45 a.m. at the Edgewater Inn in Corte Madera.

Mrs. LeTourneau is the widow of the internationally-known industrialist-inventor R. G. LeTourneau, with whom she founded a non-denominational Christian college 25 years ago. She is the mother of five children and has 19 grandchildren. She is president of the American Mothers Committee, Inc. An active lecturer, she also writes for the journal of the LeTourneau Technical Institute founded by her husband.

At the Santa Rosa meeting Mrs. Dean Burford of Santa Rosa will speak and demonstrate "The Art of Antiqueing Flowers," and Dr. Ben S. Burdo of Sebastopol will sing secular and sacred songs.

A children's nursery is available at the Christian Life Center in Santa Rosa.

Also on the agenda for the Marin Christian Women's Club meeting Friday will be special music and a program on unusual furnishings for the bedroom and bathroom.

The program will include information on the March 7 tax reduction election and a performance by the school band. Robert Levy has donated the entree. Cakes baked by parents will be sold for dessert.

Reservations chairmen are Mmes. Knudsen and A. R. St. Cyr.

MRS. JOSEPH Oliver, grand archdruidess, United Ancient Order of Druids of California, will pay her official visit to Sylvan Circle 115 in Novato at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Druids Hall in Novato.

THE REBEKAH Lodge of Petaluma will hold a party Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Odd Fellows Hall, Petaluma.

THE ANNUAL day of recollection of St. Raphael's Mothers Guild will be held Wednesday from 10:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Mission San Rafael Arcangel in San Rafael. The Rev. Antin Antoninus Wall, O.P., just back from Rome, will speak on contemporary.

Members will bring lunch and dessert will be served by the guild. Mrs. C. T. Hofmeister Jr. is chairman of the day.

ITS 45TH anniversary will be celebrated by the Lagunitas School Parent-Teacher Association at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the school in Lagunitas. Past presidents will be introduced and San Geronimo Valley youth groups will provide entertainment, including Girl Scout and Brownie troops and 4-H Club members.

Miss Mary Ann Kolonoski will provide music to close the program.

ROBERT ADLER will speak on "A Journey into Some of the Delightful Hidden Chambers of Your Mind" Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the meeting of the Marin Association for Gifted Children. The meeting will be held at Davidson Junior High School in San Rafael. Adler is a teacher in the Dominican College education department and teaches at the American Conservatory Theater in San Francisco.

MARIN ALUMNAE of Alpha Chi Omega will have a dessert meeting at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the home of Mrs. James C. Staats in Greenbrae. Athena Getas, director of Caymus school for the handicapped children in Rutherford, will speak. The Alpha Chi Omegas help support the school and toured the school last Wednesday.

Mrs. Michael Bennett is reservations chairman for the meeting.

SAUSALITO'S BAYSIDE-King Parent-Teacher Association will have a fund raising program Wednesday at the Luther King School in two sittings — one at 6 p.m. and the other at 7:30 p.m.

Purpose of the event under the chairmanship of Mrs. K. K. Knudsen is to provide money for the tax reduction election publicity costs.

MRS. R. G. Le TOURNEAU
1969 Mother of Year

NEW MEMBERS of the Femineers, including Marinites, will be greeted at a luncheon Wednesday at the Hilton Inn in Oakland. A social hour is set for 11:30 a.m., followed by lunch and a talk on "Hats, a Girl's Best Friend."

DELTA GAMMA Alumnae of Marin will meet for luncheon at noon Wednesday at the Pathfinders tea room at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross. Mrs. John F. Yardas of Novato is reservations chairman.

A PROGRAM on local bird life, "Wings and Things," will be given by Mrs. Gus Miller of Inverness at 5:15 p.m. Wednesday in the Livermore Room at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross. It is a part of the Moya Library Guild series.

A LUNCHEON party will be held by the Marin County Retired Officers Wives Club at Tiburon Peninsula Club at noon on Wednesday. Games will follow the luncheon. Mrs. Ann Shea is chairman of the luncheon.

Tickets chairmen are Mmes. J. B. Buchanan, Alex N. Ivanow and James P. Kellogg, who will be hostesses for the lunch.

A POTLUCK dinner will be held by the Fairfax Parlor 225, Native Daughters of the Golden West, at American Legion Hall in San Anselmo on Wednesday. Dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m.

Mrs. Eleanor Callero is chairman and Mrs. Edna Wurz is the co-chairman.

UNITED PRESBYTERIAN Women of Westminster Presbyterian Church will meet for luncheon at noon Wednesday at the Tiburon church. A panel presentation about the Graduate Theological Union in Berkeley by officers of its guild will follow the luncheon.

Combine Them

Completely redecorating a room and you want to know: Should I buy my carpet first or my furniture first? The answer: neither. Shop for carpet, furniture, draperies and wall covering at the same time. FABRIC SECRETS

JOAN CROSSLEY

Man's earliest production of man-made cloth was through the use of cellulose, but today he makes many fibers without using cellulose through chemical processes. Acrylic, spandex, nylon, polyester, saran, rubber: these are just a few non-cellulose man-made products. We're lucky that man is so resourceful, because non-cellulose fibers are very strong. Usually they do not allow dirt to penetrate easily, they are non-allergenic, and they dry quickly.

Today more and more women are making clothes for themselves and their families. They take pride in producing these original designs, just as we at FABRIC LAND, 836 4th St. take pride in keeping our stock full of beautiful fabrics for their selection. Hours: Mon-Tues-Thurs-Sat 9:30AM - 5:30PM, Wed and Fri 9:30AM - 9PM, Sun. Noon - 5PM.

HELPFUL HINT:

Always pay great attention to the washing instructions for any garment made of man-made fiber.

Yevtushenko Spellbinds Audience

By IRA KAMIN

Yevgeny Yevtushenko, the Russians' most popular poet, turned the College of Marin gymnasium into a concert hall Saturday night. With the aid of British actor Barry Boys, Yevtushenko presented his poetry — which is like a Wagnerian opera in its booming dynamics, lyrical patriotism and romantic imagery in the only place on the campus that could handle the large audience.

The 2,000 people who filled the gymnasium gave the poet two standing ovations, one as He came on the stage, the other as he exited.

The slender, 39-year-old Yevtushenko drew a crowd of all ages, from high school girls to octogenarians, and all were spellbound for the 90-minute reading, many clutching copies of Yevtushenko's latest volume of poetry.

Each of the nine poems was first read in English by Boys, and on the last seven, Yevtushenko followed Boys to the microphone with readings of his own, in Russian.

Most of the English translations were done by American writers John Updike, James Dickey, Stanley Kunitz and Lawrence Ferlinghetti. And Boys was handsome and graceful in reading them, but it was Yevtushenko's Russian, spiced with his subtle gestures, his intonations, his growls and hand movements that communicated the poems, although most of the audience couldn't understand a word of Russian.

The first two poems were read by Boys only, while Yevtushenko sat at a table behind him. The opening, "In the Wax Museum of Hamburg," is typical of Yevtushenko's first-person narrative style, a style that is both easy to understand and rhythmic.

The poem describes Yevtushenko's impressions while walking through a museum of waxed German princes whom he describes as "Greasy fools/ emaciated monsters/Enemies the whole lot." And the poem quickly attacks all fatuous heads of state, presumably reflecting the poet's feelings about Stalin's Russia and Hitler's Germany. "Let wax make them all stand still and dead/ Like good little children. . . . . the heads of state who are headless."

Boys then read a Yevtushenko love poem, a prelude for two following love poems which had the added zeal of Yevtushenko reading. After Boys read them, the images hung in the air, waiting for the poet to grasp them and charge them with meaning, in his own reading.

"Let's Not" and "Stolen Apples" were read by the poet, speaking as a wise 90-year-old Siberian peasant woman might about love.

Perhaps Yevtushenko was drawing upon his Siberian youth when he hunched his shoulders and in a deep, quivering voice read "Let's not/you'll be a woman soon enough," or "Love isn't for the feeble/It's stolen apples. . . to bite them was scandalous."

The next poem, "Cemetery of Whales" was written on a previous visit to Alaska. In it the poet related a whale graveyard to the persecution of authors like Boris Pasternak, who in fact introduced Yevtushenko to the Russian public.

The most moving of Yevtushenko's poems are those written in some tragic inspiration, like his poem to Allison Krause who died at Kent State or his poem on Bobby Kennedy's assassination. Saturday night, he read his poem written in the memory of a young Jewish secretary who was killed when Sol Hurok's New York office was bombed.

Yevtushenko persuaded two New York detectives to let him look through the aftermath of the burnt office of the impresario who was instrumental in bringing Russian artists to America.

The poem that resulted is called "Bombs for Balalaikas," and says "Again, again, again/ Blood blood blood. . . . what are the sins of poetry/ The price of art is cheap no more/ When someone pays with her life/ Are songs and dances propaganda/ And hatchets for the feet of ballerinas/ And bombs for balalaikas."

But the poem ends on an optimistic note that "honest America is rising to defend the art of Russia."

This optimism may be what makes Yevtushenko bridge the gap between avant-garde despair and mushy, dishonest rhymes. It's a gutsy hopefulness.

The last three poems built to a terrific crescendo. "The City of Yes and the City of No" is a poem that weighs the troubling and peaceful aspects of life. "I am like a train rushing between the city of yes and city of no/ My nerves are strained like wires." The poem moves so fast, one must jump to catch it.

The mood was then set for "Pitching and Rolling," an allegorical tale of a boat at sea, that had people grabbing the edge of the chairs, lest they fall off. "Here we go again, reeeeeling/the cabin boy staggers/I stagger/The waves are like wolfhounds/Nothing but pitching and rolling and curving and reeling/With taste of sick stomach in my moutn."

Finally Yevtushenko read "Babi Yar" about a Jewish cemetery in Russia and Russian anti-semitic feelings. "I'm afraid as all the Jewish people/ I seem to be Jewish/Now I am Dreyfus/dainty ladies in sweet frilly dresses stick their parasols in my face/I seem to be Anne Frank/ A green twig/ . . . I am every child shot dead/ All Anti-semites must hate me as a Jew/ I am Russian."

Yevtushenko represented a Russian that he said "I know the good side of." It's a romantic nationalism, Yevtushenko exudes, and one gets the feeling he's saying to America see, we are not so different from you.

John Logan began the evening reading several of his poems, the best being written in and about Hawaii. Both he and Yevtushenko, along with writers Al Young, Donald Justice and Leonard Nathan, among others, were part of a three-day writers workshop sponsored by the College of Marin.

Ambulances To Be Discussed

The Comprehensive Health Planning Council of Marin will discuss possible ambulance contract changes at 7:30 a.m. Wenesday in the Coral Room at Marin General Hospital.

The health planning council has been concerned with sections of the contract dealing with destinations of ambulances.

Also on the agenda are discussions of the 1972-73 county budget and regional plan for health.

Head-On Crash Hurts Driver

A head-on collision on North San Pedro Road in Santa Venetia yesterday left a 29-year-old Santa Venetia woman in critical condition at Marin General Hospital.

Christine S. Evenson, of 10 La Brea Way, was in the hospital's intensive care unit today suffering compound fractures of the right leg, a cut chin and broken teeth.

The California Highway Patrol said she was eastbound on the wrong side of the road at 5:45 p.m. when her car collided with a westbound auto driven by Virgil F. Durment, 50, of 6095 Bodega Highway, Petaluma.

Subdivisions Moratorium On Council Agenda

A proposed 90-day moratorium on subdivisions, lot splits and residential planned unit developments will be considered by the Sausalito City Council at 8 p.m. tomorrow in city hall.

The temporary freeze, proposed by the city planning commission, is designed to give Sausalito officials time to prepare new subdivision regulations and an open space plan for the city.

In other business the council will hear a report from City Mgr. Albert St. Cyr on a suggestion from Councilman Wyman Hicks that the council review vacancies which occur in city staff to determine if the positions should be refilled. Hicks made the recommendation as a way to cut the city's budget.

Bomb Explodes At GOP Offices

OAKLAND (UPI)—A pipe bomb went off Sunday night in the Alameda County Republican Party offices, shattering plate glass windows and damaging a concrete pillar, but causing no injuries.

Police said there was no warning given prior to the 10:40 p.m. blast. The building was unoccupied at the time.

Coast Chamber Will Continue

The Marin Coast Chamber of Commerce, apparently recovered from last month's quandary to dissolve or continue itself, has elected a slate of new officers.

Elected, according to secretary Emma K. Benavenga, were Earl L. Lupton, president; Michael Gahagan, vice president; James Alberigi, treasurer and herself as secretary.

The members decided not to turn in the chamber's charter because it was the only organization speaking for the community on a county and state level, Mrs. Benavenga said.

The chamber has about 60 members, but few attend the monthly meetings. The chamber announced changing its monthly meeting night to the second Thursday of the month.

Special Exhibit Is On Display

An exhibit by the Marin Committee for Fair Play in observance of Negro History Week and Brotherhood Week is on display in the children's room of the Marin County Library at the Civic Center through this month.

The exhibit consists of books from a bibliography and a supplement entitled "And the Dark-faced Child Listening," developed by the committee.

MUSIC REVIEW

Toth-Thompson Recital A Quality Performance

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

The young cellist Andor Toth Jr. held the audience spellbound at Dominican College's Caleruega Hall last night with a glowing tone, warm enough to melt marble.

It was comparable to that of any of the top masters of the instrument today. This was partly due to the quality of his instrument (a Jean Baptiste Villon), partly to acoustics, but by far the most to a rare talent and his mastery of tonal control.

Toth was heard in a recital with the young pianist Marilyn Thompson in one of the college's Music Associates Chamber Music series. She was an excellent partner in the program of sonatas by Kodaly, Beethoven, Debussy and Brahms and no mere accompanist, since the chamber music genre emphasizes equality of instruments.

But the sheer power and beau-ty of Toth's playing focused attention on him so strongly that he seemed almost like a soloist.

In the first half of the program composed of the Kodaly Sonata, Op. 4, and Beethoven Sonata, Op. 102, No. 2, in D Major the piano was too brilliant for the cello in forte passages, though balance in the pianissimo was very good. This may have had something to do with the piano standing on a tile floor.

Excessive brilliance of the piano was not so noticeable in the second half of the program — a Debussy sonata and Brahms sonata, Op. 38, in E Minor — for Toth had by that time increased the power of his playing to maximum capacity.

The two young musicians had an identical sense of rhythm and marvelous rapport in expressing emotional nuances. Though the Kodaly and Debussy sonatas were very well played, with careful attention to the styles of the composers, the highlight of the evening for me were the Beethoven and Brahms sonatas.

In these Toth revealed the full extent of his technical prowess while also making the cello sing like the human voice and express moods from passionate intensity to ethereal serenity and light playfulness. Totally involved in the music, he communicated this involvement to the audience and held it enraptured.

His only encore was remarkable. Instead of a brief, gay number, he chose the "Praise to the Eternity of Jesus" section from Oliver Messiaen's quartet "Til The End of Time," which was reminiscent of a soul stirring spiritual. Toth's silken smooth bowing produced incredibly long sustained singing phrases that were exquisite.

Fragile as she looks, Miss Thompson is a pianist of uncommon strength, brilliance and taste. A solo by her would have added interest to the program.

I wish it were possible to have a dais for performances in Caleruega Hall so that people in the rear could see as well as hear. About 150 persons were present last night, and only those in the first few rows could see the performers.

Cyclist Hurt In Accident

Daniel Lund, 15, of 318 Ross Drive, was reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital.

Officers said Lund was northbound on Shoreline Highway at Laurel Way at 3 p.m., when his motorcycle and a car driven by Theodore George Meyer, 22, of 523 Browning Street, Mill Valley, collided. Meyer was not injured.

Willa Cather Home Now A Landmark

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Pulitzer Prize-winning novelist Willa Cather's home at Red Cloud, Neb., was designated a national historic landmark, making it eligible for federal preservation funds.

Miss Cather was born at Gore, Va., in 1873 but moved West with her family, settling at Red Cloud in 1883.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

THIRD SECTION SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, MONDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1972 17

LUNCH TIME — Adult and teen-age workers at a Marin YMCA day camp cook lunch while younger campers eagerly await the results. The day camps operate on Saturdays during school season, and daily during vacations, as one of many youth-oriented activities provided by the Marin chapter.

Marin Y Seeks Volunteer Workers

The Marin County Men's Christian Association will mark its silver anniversary this week with a drive for more volunteer manpower and donations to expand its people-oriented programs.

The 25-year-old Marin chapter always has "had a low profile" compared with other chapters boasting large buildings and extensive gymnasium and camp facilities. "But, the Marin Y has always been big on people — especially youth," executive director James LooneyH9explained.

"We've done this without very much stress on the Christian" theme, Looney said. "The Y is to serve everyone."

During the past year, the Marin YMCA youth membership and registration in its programs jumped from 1,291 to 2,103 elementary and high school-age youngsters.

The Marin YMCA "New Horizons" program for preventing dropouts from the San Rafael Elementary School District may be expanded to other districts this year, Looney said. The Y sponsors 30 groups in which volunteers work with up to a dozen youngsters each on projects that — while not directly related to classroom work — are hoped to help the pupils "turn on" to school life again.

Marin's "New Horizons" effort was one of 51 youth programs from throughout the United States featured in "Volunteers Help Youth," a booklet published recently by the federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The Marin YMCA is preparing to test "Operation Outreach" — a transformation of the tactics used by street gang workers in core cities' slums to the suburban areas. The adult workers will spend nearly all their time "where the kids are," not in headquarters, Looney said.

Marin YMCA leaders will present to the Marin County Juvenile Delinquency Prevention Commission this month, a proposal to participate in "NYPUM," a nationwide minibike club program aimed at preventing delinquency.

A minibike manufacturer — Honda — has donated 10,000 minibikes and the federal government has allocated $450,000 for the program, Looney explained. "We want to use the minibikes as a tool to attract the elementary school youngsters. The club activities will help them learn to relate to a leader and to peer groups" constructively, the YMCA executive said.

Teen-age YMCA members in Marin are moving away from the old neighborhood club concept and are getting more directly involved with specific activities. One example is last year's public service trip to the Indian reservation in Round Valley area of Mendocino County, which will be repeated at Easter, Looney said.

Nearly two dozen other special outings and service projects will be available to Ma in youngsters, depending on how many of them sign up to participate, Looney said.

One of tha Y's most active programs is its Youth Employment Service (YES) run by volunteers. YES helps hundreds of youngsters find jobs after school and during vacations. Marin Y youth members also work in the BAYSHIP delinquency prevention program with San Quentin inmates; youth-in-government; the Yosemite Youth Conference, and the new Youth Council, which plans new volunteer projects for the county's youth.

Participants pay fees for some of the ski and camping trips, special classes and other activities but the fees meet only the expenses of the project, not YMCA operating costs and staff expenses, Looney said.

Part of the Marin YMCA expenses are financed through the United Bay Area Crusade, but that source has been cut by an estimated 12 per cent for 1972, Looney reported. To make up for the cut and to fund new programs, Marin volunteers are campaigning to raise $16,500 local donations.

The chapter's kick-off dinner will be held at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday in the chapter headquarters, 241 North San Pedro Road, Santa Venetia. By then, Looney predicted, advance gifts will have put the campaign almost half-way to its goal already.

Marin Prepares To Meet Disaster: Set For Decade

By JEFF GREER
(First of two articles)

Marin County and city officials are putting the finishing touches on an emergency and disaster preparedness plan that "will last a good 10 years," according to Frank E. Kirby, county coordinator of emergency services.

The plans are one result of the great San Fernando Valley earthquake a year ago last Wednesday. That jolt snuffed out 64 lives and wreaked millions of dollars in damage to public and private property. Marin County and all its cities at that time had only an 11-year-old paper plan that state and federal disaster experts said was completely useless.

Should a major earthquake strike Marin tomorrow, enough preparedness already exists to cope with it at least as well as Los Angeles County officials did the 1971 temblor, according to Kirby.

County Administrator John F. Barrows, just above Kirby in the ladder of emergency services command, was less optimistic about readiness, but said "a few months will put us in a much better status."

Titular head of the county's emergency services is the chairman of the Marin County Board of Supervisors, with Barrows as assistant, and Kirby as coordinator — or planner, arranger and chief woorier about what "could happen but everybody hopes won't happen to Marin."

Each county department head has been given an outline of services he or she would perform in case of natural disaster, civil disturbance or war, Kirby reported. Most of the department heads have named understudies who would replace them if they were disabed.

All of Marin's 11 cities have formally adopted resolutions accepting responsibility for emergencies within their own boundaries. They will call for mutual aid and direction from the county level if the problems are too big to handle with city forces, the coordinator explained.

However, each city has yet to obtain state and federal approval of its own local emergency plan, Kirby said. The cities are in varied states of progress on drafting the plans, naming substitutes for councilmen and city officials and the other necessary steps. "I'm shooting for the cities to be ready by May 1," Kirby said.

The Marin County Medical Association has named Dr. Paul Davidson of Greenbrae as chief of its emergency care and disaster committee. Davidson, backed by other appointees to the county's emergency medical advisory committee, has recruited doctors to head operation of each of the county's 11 standby first aid stations.

The first aid stations are ready to open any time the medical authorities or county officials declare the emergency warrants. They are located in St. Vincent's School north of San Rafael; Mill Valley, Sausalito, Belvedere, Fairfax, San Geronimo, San Anselmo, Larkspur, Point Reyes Station, Stinson Beach and Novato.

The Marin Chapter of the American Red Cross has worked with amateur radio operator groups in field day drills to guarantee communication for each of the first aid stations.

Marin hospitals have named volunteer experts who will head emergency services for casualties, pharmaceutical supplies and other medical needs.

Robert E. Spain, assistant county school superintendent, has coordinated Marin's school districts in taking inventory of shelter, cafeteria facilities and manpower available to the public in emergency. All the school districts have signed agreements with the county making school property available, Kirby explained.

The emergency coordinator, noting Los Angeles County problems a year ago, has compiled detailed information on how to obtain state and federal aid for emergency cleanup and eventual reconstruction of public and private property.

Mario P. Batestrieri, assistant director of public works, has in his files an extensive set of application forms on which to request the necessary funds, Kirby said. "Months went by" before money became available in Los Angeles "because nobody knew how to fill out the applications," Kirby noted.

Most of the stress in the county's emergency plans is on an earthquake preparedness, Barrows said last week.

"But we cannot ignore the nuclear problem," Kirby added. The retired Air Force colonel said what used to be called civil defense "is not a featured item" of the county's new plans, but that County Social Services Director Betty K. Presley is drafting plans to handle movement and shelter of large numbers of people who might have to flee a radioactive area or a natural disaster.

One of the major problems in the Los Angeles quake was delay in contracting for private construction and demolitions crews to reopen littered streets and dig into wrecked buildings. Kirby said he soon will ask the county supervisors to approve prearranged contracts for such work. Everything would be decided in advance except the date to contractors' crews would go to work for the county.

Despite the thousands of man hours and reams of paperwork that have gone into finally getting Marin County better prepared for trouble, Kirby admitted he still has worries about how much remains to be done.

School Budget Before Trustees

The Kentfield School District board will take a look at the preliminary 1972-73 budget at its regular meeting today.

Meeting at 8 p.m. at the Wolfe Grade School, the board will be presented with a budget proposal trimmed down about $200,000 from the present level of $1.6 million, according to Supt. Anthony G. Bacich.

However, the preliminary budget is based on some tenuous assumptions, including no pay raises, and a staff reduction, Bacich said.

The board will also consider requiring chest X-rays every other year instead of annually.

June Election Filing Opens

A four-week filing period for candidates in the June 6 primary election opened today in Marin and Southern Sonoma.

The deadline to file in the county elections office in the Hall of Justice is 5 p.m. on March 10.

At stake are seats for Congress, state Assembly, county board of supervisors, superior court, Marin Municipal Water District, the Novato, Ross Valley, Almonte and Homestead Valley sanitary districts, and political party central committees.

In Sonoma County the filing opened for Fifth District supervisor and for the House of Representatives from the First Congressional District. Robert Theiller currently represents the supervisorial district which includes a small section of Rohnert Parkand Cotati as well as Sebastopol and West Sonoma.

The only partisan contests will be for Congress and)tate Legislature. The candidate winning the most votes, even if less than a majority, becomes the party's nominee on the November general election ballot.

In nonpartisan contests, a November runoff would be necessary if two top vote-getters fail to receive a majority in the primary.

In the Sixth Congressional District, which includes all of Marin and western San Francisco, the incumbent, Republi-Can William S. Mailliard of San Francisco, will seek reelection.

Two Democrats have announced they will seek their party's nomination to run in the district — San Francisco Supervisor Roger Boas and Alan D. French of San Francisco, a 25-year-old Army veteran.

Thomas T. Storer of Point Reyes Station had announced his intention to run as a Democrat, but belatedly switched his registration so he could run as an independent. To do so, however, he must win a court challenge to the state election code, which currently makes it impossible for him to run as an independent.

The filing fee to run for the two-year term is $425, and sponsors' certificates for each person filing must have from 40 to 60 signatures of registered voters.

In the Seventh Assembly District, which includes Marin and Southern Sonoma, the incumbent, Republican William T. Bagley of Sleepy Hollow, is expected to seek reelection.

The only person to announce to date that he will run in the district is junior high school principal Harry J. Moore of Novato, who said he/will seek the Democratic nomination.

The filing fee in the Assembly race is $192 for the two-year term. Sponsors' certificates must have 40 to 60 signatures.

Three Marin supervisors' terms are expiring, those of Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. in the Second District, Michael Wornum in the Third District and Louis H. Baar in the fourth district. Arrigoni and Wornum are expected to run for reelection, but Baar has announced he will retire.

Two challengers are seeking Arrigoni's seat, Dr. William J. Filante and Barbara Boxer, both of Greenbrae.

Wornum's seat is being sought by Rev. Samuel L. Banks Jr., chairman of the Marin City Council and pastor of Village Baptist Church. Tiburon City Councilman Anne L. Ellinwood had announced her candidacy, but withdrew to run instead for reelection as a city councilman.

The hottest race is in Baar's district, where four candidates are in the running. They are attorney Gary T. Giacomini of Woodacre, laboratory technician Patricia T. Maginnis of San Rafael, rancher and agricultural consultant Charles E. Hancock of Stinson Beach, and Kelly Fister of Point Reyes Station, operator of a center to aid youths in the area.

The filing fee for county supervisor is $264, and sponsors' certificates must have 20 to 30 signatures.

Four incumbent judges are seeking election to six-year terms, but only one faces a possible challenge. San Rafael attorney Charles R. Best filed a declaration of intent to run against Superior Court Judge Samuel W. Gardiner, but said he had not decided whether to run.

The other three incumbent judges, certain of being unopposed because the deadline to file the declaration of intent needed in judicial races has Passed, are Superior Court judges Henry J. Broderick and Joseph G. Wilson and Municipal Court Judge David Menary Jr.

The filing fee for superior court is $350, and $322 for municipal court. Sponsors' certificates must have 20 to 30 signatures.

In Marin Municipal Water District, the terms of John M. McPhail Jr. and Robert G. Anderson are expiring in divisions two and five, respectively. The filing fee for the four-year terms is $10, and sponsors' certificats must have 20 to 30 signatures.

In Homestead Valley Sanitary District, the terms of Louis G. Harding, Medford Scharz and Guz Wolf are expiring.

The filing fee for the four-year terms in the Marin Municipal district and Novato, Ross Valley and Almonte sanitary districts is $10. There is no fee in the Homestead district. Sponsors' certificates must have 20 to 30 signatures in each of these five special districts.

In central committee contests, the Republican, Democratic and American Independent parties each will elect 22 members. The Peace and Freedom Party will elect 21 members.

Ross School Costs On Tap

The Ross School District board will take a look at about one-tenth of next year's budget and hear projected costs of running the district through 1975-76 at 7:45 p.m. today in the Ross School Library.

Supt. Thomas A. Anderson said the board will consider the annual cost of capital improvements and operation and maintenance of facilities expected to cost about $69,420, up $7,000 froo this year.

He said he expects the district budget to rise from $528,489 this fiscal year to about $635,000 in 1975-76.

Bay-Delta Water Critics Hit By State Panel Aide

I-J Special Report

LOS ANGELES — Critics of a state order requiring enough fresh water to protect the ecology of the delta and San Francisco Bay were likened today to Rip Van Winkle.

The order issued last July by the state Water Resources Control Board has been under strong attack, including a court challenge, by water interests representing agricultural, industrial and municipal users.

Today's counterattack came from a member of the state board, Ronald B. Robie, speaking before the water and energy committee of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

Like Van Winkle, Robie said, these critics have awakened to find a hostile and unfamiliar world, a world which today sees drastic changes in water rights law to protect the environment.

He singled out the federal Department of the Interior for special criticism, charging it with responding to the board's order "with a campaign of political pressure and harassment which is unwarranted."

Robie asserted that the federal department, whose Bureau of Reclamation is a major builder of water projects, was basing its predictions of "incredible harm" from the order on "magnified extrapolations of dubious statistics."

"They are resorting to exaggerations to incite existing or potential contractors of bureau projects to overthrow the decision of the state board by whatever means available," Robie declared.

As for the department's fear that a dry period like that of 1928-34 could cut flows into the California Water Project, Robie said, the probability of such a period recurring is only once in more than 1,000 years.

Robie also charged the department with being "oblivious" to recent federal legislation requiring federal projects to be consistent with protection of the environment.

Big Field Already As Filing Period Opens

Filing for the June 6 primary elections opened today, and already there are fields of contestants for almost every opening — with some having already launched their campaigns.

Those who aspire to state and county offices often announce their intention of running without waiting for the formal filing period. Few get such a jump on the date as did Joseph D. Garguilo, Novato mayor who already has announced his intention of running for county schools superintendent in 1974; but many like to try for a "head start."

CONTESTS ARE ASSURED already for all three Marin County supervisorial posts that come up this year, and for the Democratic nomination for Sixth District congressman.

Things are starting a bit more slowly for the state Assembly race in the Marin-Sonoma district. The state Senate picture is still not entirely clear, as rumblings of possible reapportionment this year keep reviving. But it appears that state Sen. Peter H. Behr will not need to run until 1974.

For judicial positions, the nominating filing period becomes anticlimax, as candidates have to declare their intentions before the opening date to file petitions. There will be only one contest in Marin, for the Superior Court judgeship held by Samuel W. Gardiner. Charles R. Best, who was among the also-rans in the wide-open contest for a municipal court seat two years ago, will oppose Gardiner.

ON THE NON-PARTISAN ballot — judges and county supervisors — the June 6 primary becomes actually the election if there are no more than two candidates for an office. Thus it will decide whether Gardiner continues as judge or Best replaces him.

As filings opened, there was only a two-way race also in the Third Supervisorial District (southern Marin), incumbent Michael Wornum and Rev. Samuel Banks Jr. being the only candidates so far. More may appear, however. Filing doesn't close until March 10, so there is plenty of time.

A November runoff probably will develop in the Third (Ross Valley) Supervisorial District, for there already are three candidates: incumbent Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., Dr. William J. Filante, and Barbara Boxer.

There is virtually certain to be a November runoff in the Fourth (West Marin-San Rafael) Supervisorial District, where incumbent Louis H. Baar is bowing out. Four aspirants — Gary T. Giacomini, Patricia T. Maginnis, Charles E. Hancock, and Kelly Fister — have announced their intentions. A fifth, James Dougan, is "testing the wind" for financial backing. We expect still more.

AS YET NO opposition candidate within the party has surfaced to try to take Republican nomination away from Rep. William S. Mailliard or Assemblyman William T. Bagley, but such is possible. Two candidates — Roger Boas and Allan Douglas French — have announced for the Democratic nomination for Congress. Harry J. Moore so far is alone in seeking the Democrats' nod to oppose Bagley.

That's quite a lineup for the day that filing of nominations opens. We expect it will be bigger by March 10. It looks like an interesting campaign — and one that every voter will need to follow closely if he is to cast his ballot intelligently.

HARBOR TOURS, BRIDGE DISTRICT

Some Points Unmentioned About Bay Ferry Systems

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

The president of Harbor Tours objected in a letter published last week on this page that we were careless to accuse his firm of working to scuttle the Golden Gate Bridge District's ferry fleet before it gets on the ways.

Albert D. Elledge insisted that "we do not in any way oppose such a ferry fleet to carry commuters between Sausalito and San Francisco."

But what he neglected to say was how he defines such a commuter system. He failed, for example, to recall his company's position before the California Legislature that the bridge district's ferry system should be limited to peak commute hours on weekdays. No midday or weekend operations should be permitted, he maintained.

ELLEDGE ALSO MADE much of his company's offer to the district of "our boats whenever the Golden Gate ferry broke down." He did not mention that the district rejected this generous offer because the company wanted to charge almost $1,000 a day for only four crossings, and this princely sum would have been for a Harobr Tours vessel too slow to meet the district's timetable.

Elledge scored the district also for failing to let his company use the district's Sausalito ferry float, suggesting the district was too mean to share the float.

What he left out was that it was the City of Sausalito that refused to let Harbor Tours land there, not the bridge district. The company, incidentally, is suing the city over the issue.

ELLEDGE ALSO RAISED that tired old threat that the bridge district could levy property taxes to offset its deficits. In truth, the district has no such power, at least according to its attorney and experts on the district's law in the Sacramento offices of both the legislative analyst and legislative counsel.

Apparently it discomfits Elledge to have it pointed out that his firm keeps dumping sand into the gears in Washington, where the district is seeking a $12.6 million federal grant toward its ferry fleet. If that grant were rejected, the ferry system would face financing through a nonprofit corporation at far greater cost to the public. This could cost the public that has been paying tolls all these years $12.6 million.

THE BAY, HOWEVER, is a public body of water. If someone wants to ride the bridge district's ferry system for 50 cents, so be it. But if he wants a Greyline ride on the bay he can do that, too — for $2.50 a head on Harbor Tours.

The bay certainly is big enough for both Elledge and the bridge district, if only he would realize there should be a market for both systems. Monopolies frighten easily at the first sight of competition.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

What Matter Who Dictates Integration?

Your editorial of Feb. 2 stated that there is a controversy brewing regarding which state entity would best bring about a racially balanced public school system in California; the courts or the Department of Education.

In other words, by being given a choice as to which group will most effectivly strip us of yet another of our freedoms, we are expected to accept the premise that those freedoms are theirs for the taking.

Since I do not accept the basic concept of forced racial equality in the public schools, I fail to see how it can matter which institution is given the prerogative of denying us our individual rights.

N. MIDDLETON

(Assemblyman WilliaM T. Bagley points out that under the law he introduced, decision on school integration plans will be largely in the hands of local school boards. However, the law provides that locally drawn plans are subject to approval by the state Department of Education. — Editor.)

Youth Hostel Role At Point Reyes Park

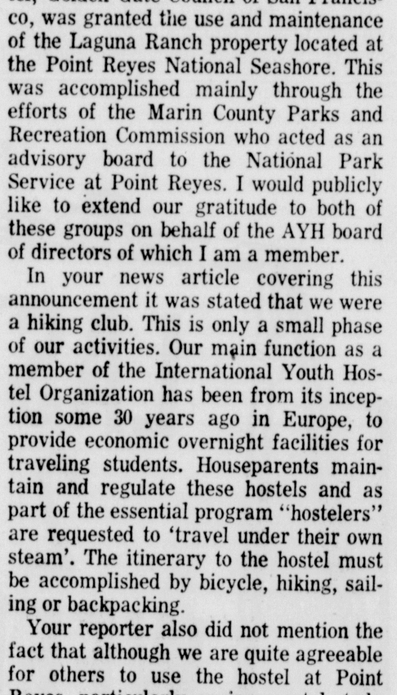

Only recently the American Youth Hostel, Golden Gate Council of San Francisco, was granted the use and maintenance of the Laguna Ranch property located at the Point Reyes National Seashore. This was accomplished mainly through the efforts of the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission who acted as an advisory board to the National Park Service at Point Reyes. I would publicly like to extend our gratitude to both of these groups on behalf of the AYH board of directors of which I am a member.

In your news article covering this announcement it was stated that we were a hiking club. This is only a small phase of our activities. Our main function as a member of the International Youth Hostel Organization has been from its inception some 30 years ago in Europe, to provide economic overnight facilities for traveling students. Houseparents maintain and regulate these hostels and as part of the essential program "hostelers" are requested to 'travel under their own steam'. The itinerary to the hostel must be accomplished by bicycle, hiking, sailing or backpacking.

Your reporter also did not mention the fact that although we are quite agreeable for others to use the hostel at Point Reyes, particularly environmental study groups, only with the stipulation that a group, temporary pass or a basic annual individual pass would have to be procured. Information as to the amount of these nominal fees can be obtained from the local Council office at 625 Polk St., San Francisco, and this number is listed in the telephone directory.

Council To Blame For Bypass Holdup

This is written in further reference to the state and federal governments' established safety project, otherwise known as the Novato Freeway Bypass.

The self-appointed saviors of our environment, Messrs. Jerry Cannon, Irving Perlman, Donald Wilhelm (husband of Planning Commissioner Gail Wilhelm), Environmental Law Fund, Director Harold E. Gregg, "executive director" Dan Davis, et al were roundly slapped down in federal court. . . The resounding defeat confirms the invalidity of their cause.

Their trumpeted appeal, if it ever gets off the ground, will come to naught. They just plain lost and are too sore-headed to acknowledge it.

How was such a monstrous thing perpetuated against the citizens of Novato? Our own city government is in a large measure responsible. Certain members of our city council and planning commission have fallen victim to the new environmental hoax — controlling other people's property in the name of environment without owning the property or even sharing in the taxes. They have followed this practice themselves and have encouraged this group of self-styled environmentalists. The ill-fated lawsuit was the end result.

Fortunately, we have at hand a ready-made remedy. We have an election coming up in April when we will have the opportunity of voting in three new members of the city council. They, in turn, are responsible for the complexion of the city planning commission. So, dear citizens, if you're dissatisfied with the way in which Novato has been hamstrung the last couple of years, get out and vote for the candidates who are committed to Novato going forward.

Old Mill Principal Supporter Speaks

I wish to express my deep regret for the decision to reassign Mr. Erskine from Old Mill School.

I am an Old Mill parent with two children attending the school, and have not been associated with any segments of the community, either for or against the school's direction, although I find msyelf slightly on the conservative side of the middle road of thought.

However, I have had several conferences directly with Mr. Erskine related to my children's individual situation and have been most grateful and impressed by the warmth, sincere concern, and availability he has shown.

In a quiet, sensitive manner he has effected a very happy, positive solution. Nobody concerned was put down, no one's character or ability maligned — traits that seem only too lacking in others over the last several months. The depth of knowledge and understanding he displays for each individual child is remarkable, and his ability to listen — really listen — is enviable and most uncommon.

No, I am not content with all the changes that have been forming at the school, but realize that positive ongoing changes do not come without some mistakes along the way, and I find there are considerable variations in teaching styles and techniques within the school at this time, having observed personally.

The openness that is displayed in welcoming visitors, discussion and changes, is not that of a furtive self-righteous organization, but one that dares to expect and accept criticism and improve because of it. How many of the critics have observed directly for themselves I wonder?

Mr. Erskine has had the courage to be open, to listen, and to initiate, and to become the scapegoat for any dissatisfaction.

I request that the board reconsider his reassignment, and that it be dropped.

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Disgusted Rightwinger Leaked Policy Papers To Jack Anderson

WHO LEAKED THE ANDERSON PAPERS? And why? The leak of National Security Council minutes on U.S. policy toward the Indian-Pakistani war came from a subordinate civilian official in the Defense Department.

Contrary to the general assumption, the leak was not from the dissident left, but from the dissident right — from a bureaucrat who was striking out because he believed Nixon was being "soft" on the Communists.

He leaked the papers because he thought he might thereby undo the government's tilt toward the Pakistani-Red Chinese axis.

SPIRO AGNEW WOULD LIKE TO FORGET his 1968 campaign stickers. So would the White House. They won't be repeated.

Reason: They are embarrassing. They read — STOP THE BIG SPENDERS.

NIXON HAS EIGHT-POINT AGENDA FOR PEKING SUMMIT. It covers a wide range of subjects, some on which Thieu and Nixon deeply differ. It is divided into two categories — those on which the President sees agreement as probable and those which only can produce an exchange of views.

Action agenda includes three main items. Here is where Nixon hopes Premier Chou En-lai will be ready to agree:

1—To create a direct, high-level, continuing communication between the two countries, probably by establishing official missions in each capital.

2—To begin cultural, scientific and journalistic exchanges.

3—To open a few channels of direct trade.

THE EXCHANGE-OF-VIEWS AGENDA IS LONGER. These will be areas for discussion only:

1—How to end the Vietnamese war. Will China cut back military aid to North Vietnam if Nixon can get Russia to do the same?

2—Why not a peace treaty for Korea guaranteed by China, the United States, Japan and the Soviet Union?

3—Won't good relations between the United States and Japan serve China's best interest because only Japan's trust in the American nuclear umbrella will keep Tokyo from going nuclear itself?

4—When will China be ready to sit down and talk about worldwide nuclear arms control?

5—Can't Taiwan's future be settled by direct negotiation? The United States would honor such a settlement.

WAR OR PEACE IN THE MIDDLE EAST? The prospects for continuing the Arab-Israeli cease-fire are improving.

The United States is selling more jet fighters to Israel to redress the military balance.

Israel has announced its willingness to begin negotations to reopen the Suez Canal as a first step toward a peace agreement.

MORE LEISURE AND LESS WORK? Experts in the changing patterns of work and leisure in the United States foresee the average work week being reduced from 37.5 hours to 32 hours in this decade.

They anticipate that half the labor force will then also be getting 30 days of work vacation and 15 scheduled holidays. Many workers will likely use a substantial amount of free time for moonlighting.

ERNEST B. FURGURSON

Picture On Courthouse Steps Puts Editor In Toils Of Law

FROSTBURG, Md. — John H. Martin explained why he got into the newspaper business: "Because I was so damned dumb."

He is not precisely from the classic mold of American editor-entrepreneur, which stretches back beyond Benjamin Franklin. He never finished high school. He uses double negatives. He is nobody's fashion plate. Until seven years ago, he wouldn't have known a rotary press if he had caught his tie in one. He ran a tool-and-die shop, making facsimiles of famous firearms. When he says he was so damned dumb, he means he knew nothing about newspapers or the pitfalls you can stumble into when you set out to learn.

What he does have in common with Franklin and many of the smalltown weekly editors still keeping the country awake is his individuality, his liking for raising hell with the established order — that, and a very marginal profit-and-loss ledger. And because he so persistently afflicts the comfortable up here in Allegany County, Md., he is in trouble. Again.

THE PITFALL he has stumbled into this time comes under the heading of contempt of court. It is an intensely local controversy, but it has a familiar ring in every town where enterprising newspapering bumps up against the dignity of the powers that be.

First off, let the record show that I am not undertaking to defend Martin on the merits of his case. He has a lawyer to do that, a man capable of turning an eloquent phrase, and I am not interested in flirting with contempt of the same court. Nor am I about to hold Martin9up as a model of discretion for journalism students. Discretion is not his specialty.

In fact, his victims are likely to tout outsiders away from him by saying he is crazy. Not primarily because his office bookshelves disclose an interest in ESP and other esoteric subjects besides the Annotated Code of Maryland, or because he puts out the People's Guardian in a garish pink cinderblock building down State Route 36 at the head of George's Creek Valley. Because of what he prints in his paper, which is self-styled "the biggest little newspaper in Allegany County."

NO WEEK PASSES without a banner headline about some public servant who "asks more money for wife on payroll" or "pushes personal vendetta against captain" or is a "master of deceit" or "attempts to molest 15-year-old schoolgirl" or something similarly colorful.

He skates dangerously along the thin edge of libel law every Thursday. It is amazing that he was not sued out of business long ago. But he is still publishing, and from that you can draw your own conclusions about the substance of his reporting.

AND THEN HE MADE the mistake, nearly two years ago, of taking a photograph of a county investigator, a state police undercover agent, two prosecutors and some witnesses on a courthouse stairway during a trial recess. The troopers scuffled with him and grabbed his camera, but he was acquitted of an assault charge. However, despite extensive efforts that went all the way to the Supreme Court, the contempt charge against Martin comes to trial before a judge this week.

He is accused of violating a court rule which says photographs shall not be made in the courtroom or "at any place in the courthouse where and when court officials or parties litigant, counsel, jurors, witnesses or others connected with scheduled or pending court or grand jury proceedings are present."

The expansion of that ban beyond the courtroom itself was ordered only a few months before Martin's offense and was not made known publicly. But whether that excuse will help him is questionable. Such court rules are common, although they should be challenged consistently by press and public because taking pictures a floor below a courtroom obviously neither interferes with nor distracts from court proceedings.

SO ARE VIOLATIONS of such rules common. Twenty-four years ago, for example, a very young reporter had a photographer take a murder defendant's picture during a recess in a Virginia courtroom. The judge there, a man so stern that many years later he sentenced a student passing through the local bus station with some marijuana in his pocket to 20 years in prison, preserved his court decorum that day, delivering a highly embarrassing lecture to the young offender. This reporter has never made the same mistake again.

In Martin's case, the court might be able to satisfy its own dignity by some comparable reprimand to the editor. Or it could hit him with a fine and/or jail sentence, which also would effectively get the People's Guardian off the backs of the officeholding hierarchy in Allegany County. It may seem an issue of limited local concern, but occasionally there is a provincial case in our country which has implications far beyond the county line. For those Americans who care about free speech and press, this is one of them.

"A fellow's getting old when he begins to brag about the things he tried to conceal while he was doing them."

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By MARY LEYDECKER

'I Wouldn't Want Some Kid To Say If I Was Guilty'

Apparently the new adult privileges and rights which will belong to 18-to-21-year-olds in a couple of weeks already seem awesome to some of them.

An 18-year-old Corte Madera girl wrote to the Marin jury commissioner this week, "I wish to be exempted from this list (jury) because I feel that I am not capable of jury duty . . ."

The young lady, one of the first 18-to-21-year-olds to be picked for jury panels in the county, went on to say that, "having been 18 for only five months, I don't feel I should be selected."

Furthermore, she added, "I certainly wouldn't want some kid having a say if I was guilty or not."

HER VIEWS were not shared, however, by another young woman, who lives at the White Panther commune and who is a regular visitor to trials of so-called "political prisoners."

In an elevator in the Hall of Justice the other day, the White Panther girl told a companion: "Guess what? I've been chosen for a jury panel."

On this particular day, she was clad in her customary garb — two brightly colored flowing garments, one on top of the other, with a man's sweatshirt underneath both. Her long hair swung free.

She went on to explain to her friend, however, that she has other plans for when she's called for jury duty.

"I'm going to wear a skirt and blouse and I'm going to tie my hair back and look real straight," she said, as she marched out of the elevator.

THE RAMIFICATIONS of the new state law which will grant all adult privileges and responsibilities except drinking to those over 18 have not even been thought of yet, a Marin judge said last week.

The way he reads he law, he said, not only will juvenile court be closed to those over 18, but also fathers can "just say, so long, son," when junior turns 18.

Parents will no longer be required to support youths from 18 to 21 years old and young persons who might have received support in divorce situations may be out of luck unless a father chooses to help out.

A horrifying picture is also conjured up by considering the young people's right to sign contracts. Car salesmen will have a whole new fertile field in which to operate — but one in which collections may be risky at best.

One can go on and on about places where the new law may bring major changes. One is welfare — where the remifications of parents' no longer being responsible for young people over 18 are worrying officials.

Then there is the college problem — College of Marin, like many such institutions, now gives preference to students from Marin. To be from Marin means living with one's parents or having a court declare a young person "an emancipated minor," a process not many kids go through. After March 6, they will presumably be adults and wherever they live will be their own choice.

NOT ONLY ARE young people having difficulty grasping just how much else they took on when they got the right to vote but some of their parents are having trouble thinking of their children as adults at 18 years old.

A jury clerk said she has had to return at least two questionaires sent to prospective jurors because fathers couldn't realize, apparently, that the questionaire was for Junior and filled it out themselves."

Status Of Major Congressional Bills

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Status of major legislation in Congress:

Health —Nixon asked for compulsory private health insurance coverage by employers for employees. A dozen different plans are pending in Congress including an all-federal health subsidy proposal.

Sharing —Nixon asked for a $5 billion allotment from federal revenues to states and cities with no spending strings attached. House Ways and Means Committee cosidering plan to give cities and states $5.3 billion annually based on need and with some spending restrictions.

Welfare —Senate Finance Committee considering House-passed Nixon plan to assure a $2,400 minimum income for family of four in sweeping reorganization of welfare laws.

Education —House amended Senate-passed three year, $18.5 billion higher education aid bill to make it five years and $24 billion, including $1.5 billion to help schools desegregate with none to be used for busing. Senate expected to act this week on the House amended bill.

Meals —House passed and sent to Senate $250 million, two year authoriwation to give persons 60 years and older one hot meal a day, five days a week.

Rights —Senate debating cease and desist powers for Equal Employment Opportunity Commission. House-approved administration version to permit EEOC to ask court to enforce its findings of job discrimination.

Drugs —House passed $411 million authorization bill over three years for treatment and rehabilitation centers. Senate approved $1.8 billion over five years. Pending in conference committee.

Debt — House-passed bill would increase national debt limit $20 billion instead of $50 billion. Senate yet to consider bill.

Women's Rights —Senate Judiciary Committee will send Senate shortly some version of House-passed constitutional amendment to guarantee equal rights for women.

Aid —Congress has belatedly approved, and President Nixon has signed, a $2.75 billion Foreign Aid authorization for the year that began last July 1, but actual appropriations still pending.

Environment —House Public Works committee drafting its version of Senate-passed bill to clean up waters by 1985.

Wage —House committee approved raise in minimum wage from $1.60 to $2.00 by Jan. 1, 1973. Senate committee considering similar bill. Administration asked $2 by 1974.

Policeman Dies In Shootout Near Montevideo

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (UPI)—A policeman was killed and several persons were wounded in a shootout late Saturday night between police and Tupamaro guerrillas in the town of Soca, 25 miles northeast of Montevideo, police said today.

Police said military troops took positions outside the town and declared it a military zone when Tupamaros apparently blocked the road leading into Soca and fired at the tires of police cars trying to enter.

Police said the extremists rigged a bridge over an arroyo leading into town with plastic explosives, but they did not detonate.

Initial reports were sketchy but police confirmed that at least two of the injured were policemen, both of them seriously wounded.

WINDOW ON THE WORLD

Somozas' Dynasty Periled By Old Nicaraguan Feud

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

The Somozas don't like to have theirs called a dynasty despite the fact that for some 35 years one Somoza or another has been running Nicaragua.

In fact from "Tacho," the elder Somoza known formally as Gen. Anastasio Somoza Garcia, to "Tachito," his second son, the Somozas have worked diligently at maintaining at least the outward facade of democracy.

Therefore it was not pleasing to President Gen. Anastasio Somoza Jr. when his ruling Liberal party won such a sweep of congressional elections that the opposition Conservative party threatened to cancel an agreement whereby the two parties would get together to write a "reformed" constitution.

POLITICAL FEUDS last a long time in Nicaragua and so does custom.

When U.S. Marines left Nicaragua in 1933, the remaining strongman was Gen. Anastasio Somoza Sr., commander of the national guard. He took over as president in 1937 and continued in office most of the time until his assassination in 1956.

Some of his son's political opponents have accused him of using the same device and Somoza has not denied he will be a candidate under the new constitution. The present constitution forbids him to run as a candidate to succeed himself.

OPPOSITION TO SOMOZA is led by Fernando Aguero, head of the Conservative party and Pedro Joaquin Chamorro, publisher of La Prensa, Nicaragua's leading newspaper. Aguero is a traditional opposition presidential candidate and Chamorro has been in and out od jail for more than 20 years because of his implaccable opposition to the Somozas. He and the president went to school together.

"We used to have fights and I used to beat him up," Somoza has declared. Chamorro's version is not quite the same but the remark illustrates the personal nature of the feud.

Some of the more bitter members of the Conservative party have accused Aguero of a sell-out in reaching with Somoza the agreement which he now has threatened to annul.

In early 1967, Aguero was accused of leading an attempted coup against Somoza. After a gun battle with army forces, Aguero and his followers seized and held hostage 117 guests of the Grand Hotel in Managua, including 89 Americans. None of the foreigners was hurt and the rebels were permitted to leave the hotel after laying down their arms.

WHEN THE ELDER Somoza died, his elder son, Luis took over, later transferring power to two puppet presidents until Tachito took over in 1967.

Under the Somozas, Nicaragua has had a generally healthy economy and built roads, hospitals and schools.

The trouble, according to the opposition, is thatin any division of the country's wealth, it has been one for the country and two for the Somozas.

Pauley Retiring As U.C. Regent

BERKELEY (UPI)—Oil millionaire Edwin Pauley will retire from the University of California board of regents at the end of the month after serving as a member for 32 years.

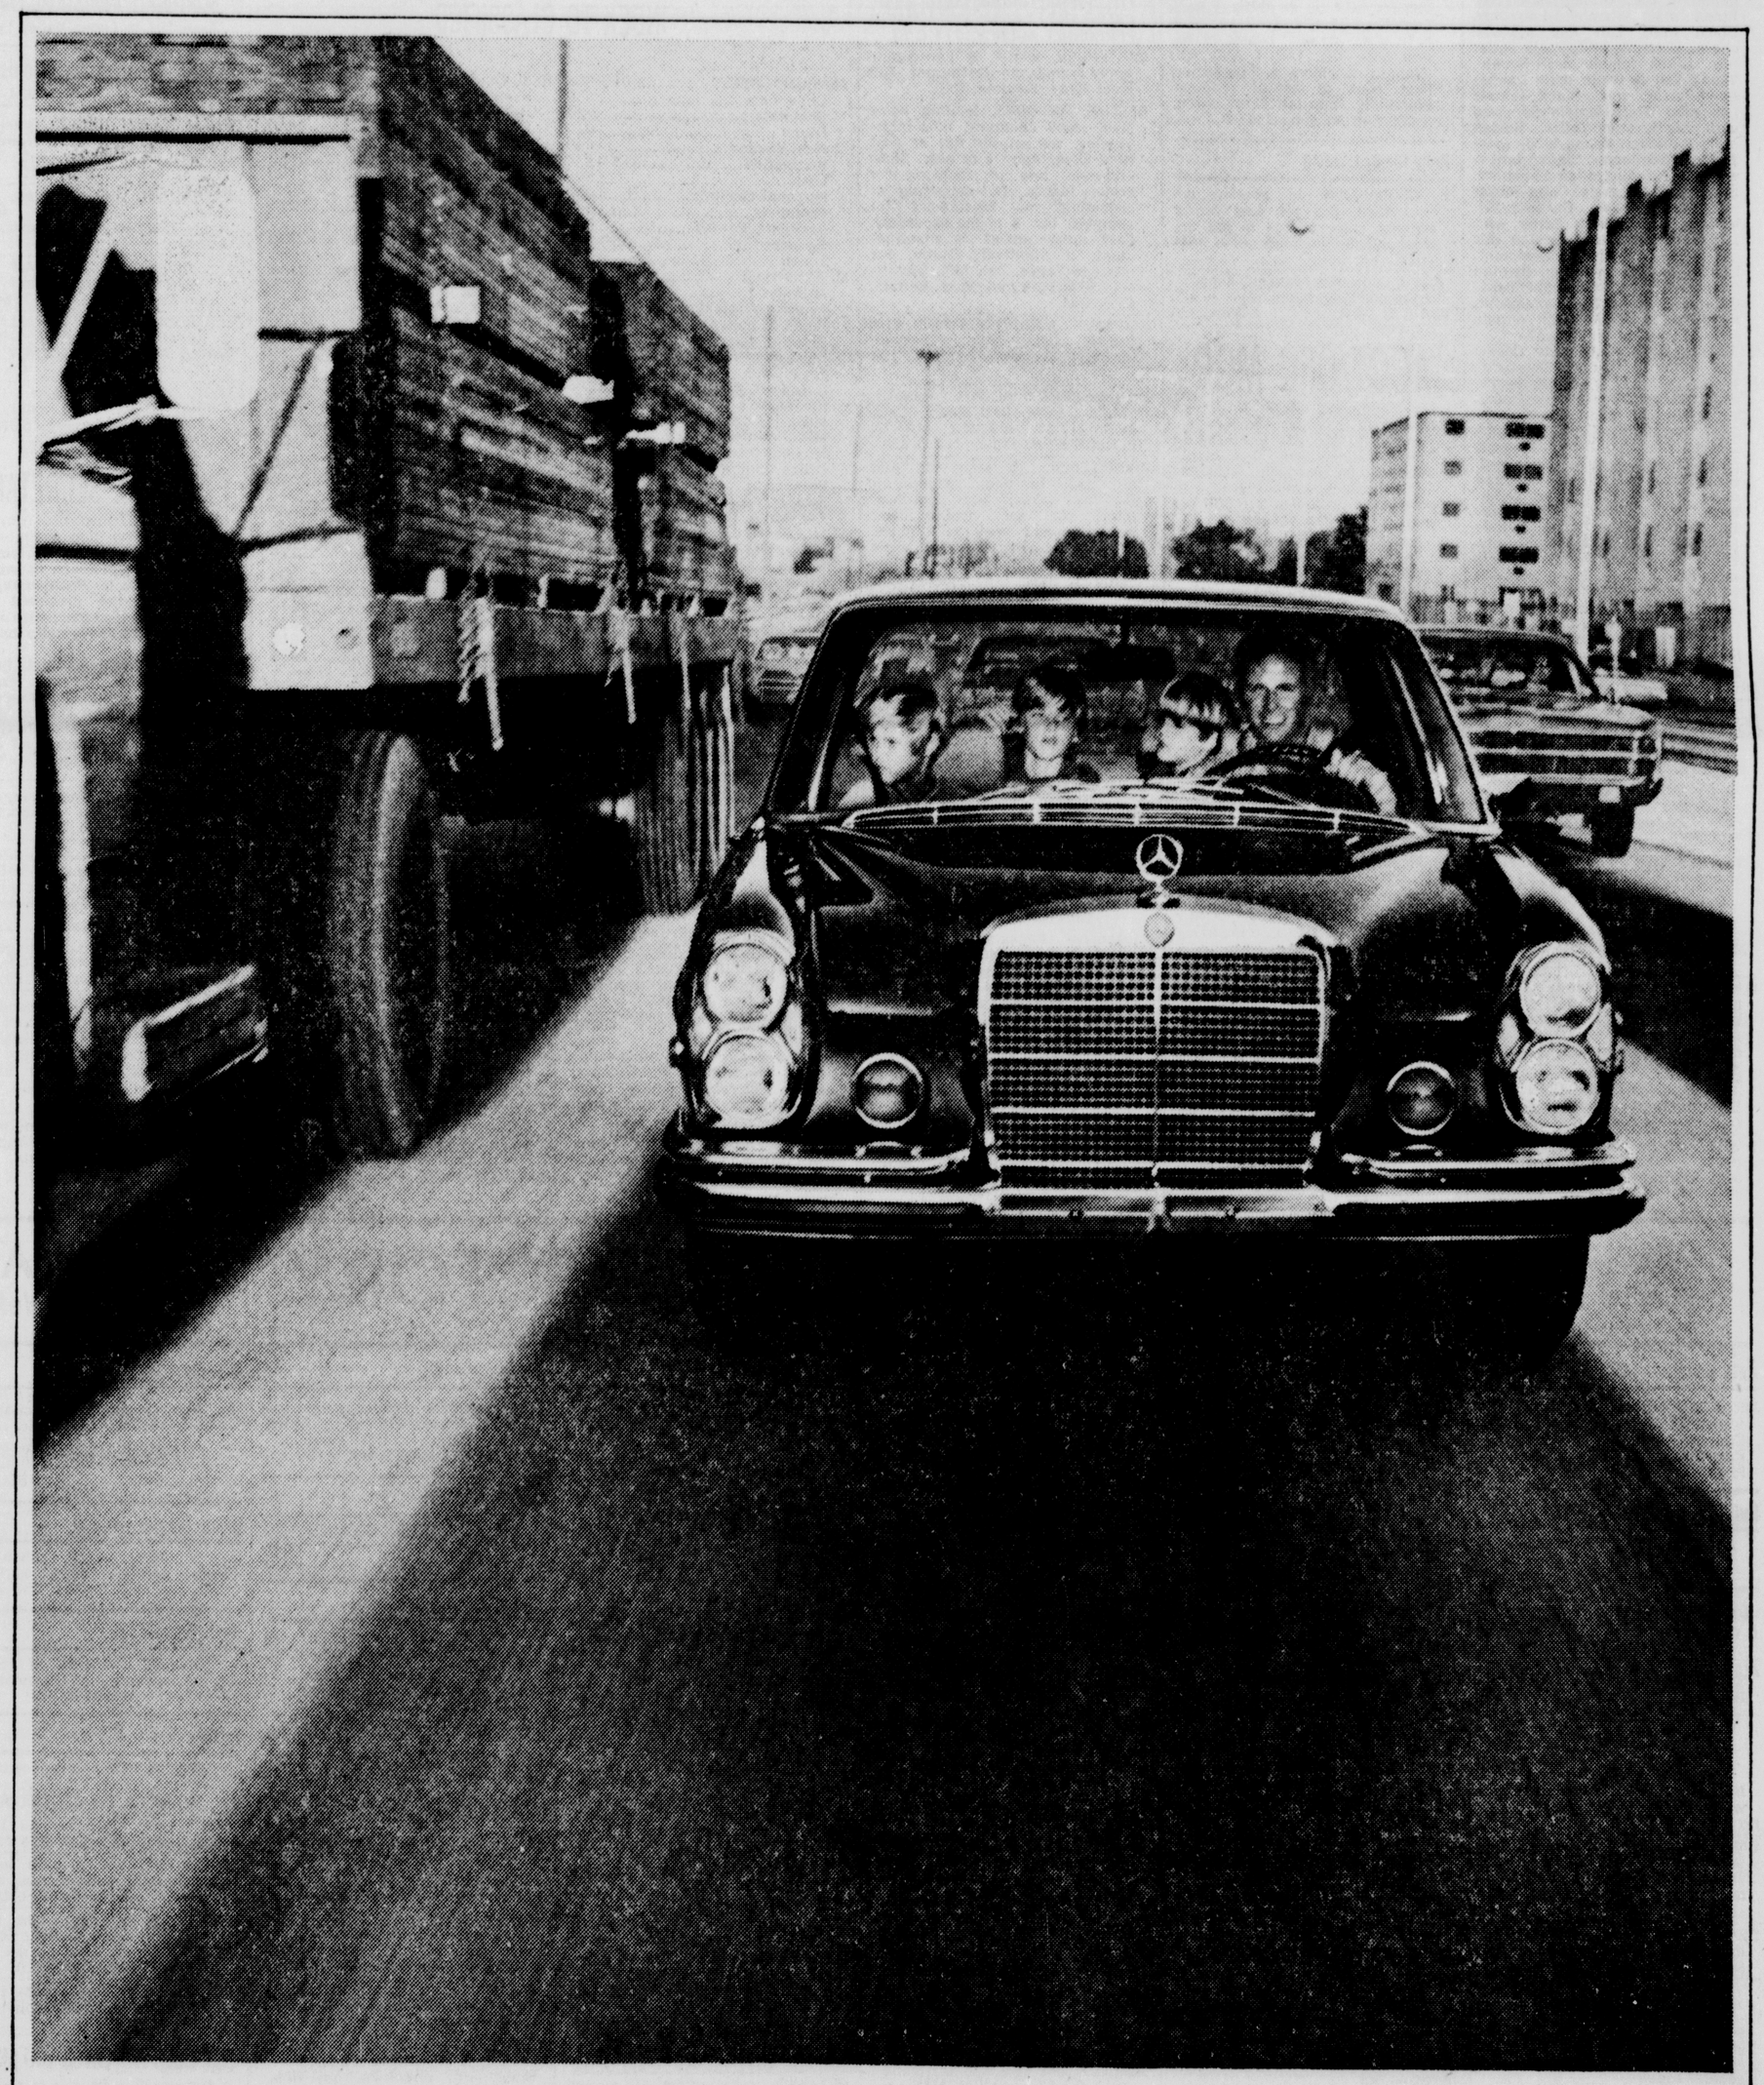

Pauley, head of Pauley Petroleum, Inc., which he founded in 1958, will attend his last regents meeting this week.

Pauley is the board's senior member and has been chairman twice. He has donated more than $2.2 million to UC.

Muskie Leading With Delegates

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine has a slight early lead over New York Mayor John Lindsay and Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota in the fight for delegates to the Democratic national convention.

Arizona Democrats, the first in the nation to appoin their convention delegates, selected nine favoring Muskie, six for Lindsay, five for McGovern and five uncommitted.

It's been said that a house is the most important investment
a man will ever make.

NOTICE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Board of Trustees of the San Rafael School District, County of Marin, declares its intention to sell certain real property in San Rafael, California, consisting of four (4) building sites, at its regular meeting to be held at SAN RAFAEL CITY SCHOOLS ADMINISTRATION BUILDING, THIRD AND E STREETS, San Rafael, California at 8:00 o'clock P.M., on MARCH 14, 1972. Said real property will be conveyed by Quitclaim Deed to the successful bidder at this meeting. Copies of the Quitclaim Deed and the description of the property are available at the office of the District Superintendent, San Rafael, California.

Sealed written bids shall be submitted to the District Superintendent, San Rafael, California, accompanied by cash or certified check, payable to the San Rafael School District, in the amount of ten percent (10%) of the bid price. All bids must be submitted prior to the time of the aforesaid hearing. Oral bids, starting at least five percent (5%) in excess of the highest acceptable written net bid, shall be called for at said meeting. The balance of the successful bid must be paid within thirty (30) days of the hearing. The minimum acceptable bid is $10,000.00 per lot; however, the District will consider a lower per lot price to a bidder seeking all four lots. Real estate broker's commission of 6% shall be paid by District. The highest net bid to District from a responsible bidder shall be deemed to be the successful bid; however, the Board reserves the right to reject any and all bids. Bidders may bid on one (1) or more lots.

It should be fully understood that it is the intent and purpose of the District to obtain the maximum return from the sale of all four (4) lots. It specifically reserves the right to reject any and all bids and to accept bids in any combination which will result in the maximum return.

Bidders should designate which lot or lots is being bid upon.

SUMMONS
No. 62348

BETTY V. RANDOLPH, Plaintiff,

CITY OF MILL VALLEY, MILL VALLEY SCHOOL DISTRICT, AND ALL OTHER PERSONS UNKNOWN CLAIMING ANY RIGHT, TITLE, ESTATE, LIEN OR INTEREST IN THE REAL PROPERTY DESCRIBED IN THE COMPLAINT ADVERSE TO PLAINTIFF'S OWNERSHIP, OR ANY CLOUD UPON PLAINTIFF'S TITLE THERETO, Defendants.

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA SEND GREETINGS TO: CITY OF MILL VALLEY, MILL VALLEY SCHOOL DISTRICT, AND ALL OTHER PERSONS UNKNOWN CLAIMING ANY RIGHT, TITLE, ESTATE, LIEN OR INTEREST IN THE REAL PROPERTY DESCRIBED IN THE COMPLAINT ADVERSE TO PLAINTIFF'S OWNERSHIP, OR ANY CLOUD UPON PLAINTIFF'S TITLE THERETO.

YOU ARE HEREBY NOTIFIED that an action has been commenced against you, and each of you, in the above entitled court under the provisions of Section 738 of the Code of Civil Procedure by plaintiff above named, for the purpose of determining all adverse claims and clouds upon the title to that certain real property situated in the CITY OF MILL VALLEY, County of Marin, State of California, described as follows:

That portion of the 80 foot wide strip of land described in Parcel 1 of that certain Guardian's Deed dated June 1, 1928, and recorded September 19, 1928, in Book 154 of Official Records at page 406, executed by Thomas B. Deffebach, guardian of the Person and Estate of Mary M. Deffebach, also known as Matilda Deffebach, an incompetent person to State of California, described as follows:

BEGINNING at the point of intersection of the Northerly line of said 80 foot wide strip with the Westerly right of way line of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad Company; thence from said point of beginning, South 61° 38' 30" West 448 feet; thence South 28° 21' 30" East 80 feet to the Southerly line of said 80 foot strip; thence along said Southerly line, North 61° 38' 30" East 416.5 feet to said Westerly right of way line of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad Company; thence along said Westerly line North 6° 51' 30" West to the point of beginning.

Being a portion of that certain property described in Deed dated June 1, 1928, from Deffebach, as guardian to State of California, recorded in Marin County Recorder's office on September 19, 1928 in Book 154 of Official Records at page 406.

YOU ARE HEREBY DIRECTED to file with the clerk of the above entitled court a written pleading in response to the Complaint in an action entitled as above, brought against you in the Superior Court of the State of California in and for the County of Marin, within thirty (30) days after service of this Summons.

YOU ARE HEREBY NOTIFIED that unless you so appear and answer as above required, said plaintiff will take judgment for any money or damages demanded in the Complaint arising from contract or otherwise or will apply to the court for any relief demanded in this Complaint.

YOU ARE HEREBY NOTIFIED that the object of this action is to make the above named defendants set forth the nature of his or their claim or claims to the real property in the Complaint herein described, if any you or they have, and that such claim or claims be adjudged to be void and of no effect and that plaintiff's title to said real property be quieted against each of the above named defendants.

You may seek the advice of an attorney on any matter connected with the Complaint or this Summons. Such attorney should be consulted within the time limits stated in this Summons for filing a written pleading to the Complaint.

Given under by hand and seal of the Superior Court of the State of California in and for the County of Marin, State of California this 19 day of January, 1972.

The Nixons And Their China Visit

By PEGGY DURDIN
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

PEKING — When their plane glides down over the gold-tiled roofs of the Forbidden City to land in Peking, President and Mrs. Nixon will have their first quick glimpse of the impressive Chinese panorama, which will unroll before them during their historic visit next week.

The panorama will include scenes of great natural beauty like the landscaped (shan shui in Chinese, literally mountain water) painted by the Sung dynasty's inspired artists; ancient tomb relics and 2,000-year-old ceremonial bronzes not yet surpassed; and both human and material evidence of Chairman Mao Tse-tung's special brand of Communist society.

Some of these things the Nixons will see together. But because she will not be engaged in the formal discussions that will take much of her husband's time, Mrs. Nixon will have more opportunities than the President to look at new and old China.

Undoubtedly both the Nixons will visit the Great Wall, snaking its difficult way across rugged mountains 60 miles north of Peking. The great Chin Shih Huang Ti began before the time of Jesus for protection against invading barbarian hordes. Succeeding emperors continued it, at the cost of millions of lives, including those of famous literati sent there to work and perish because they dared speak out against imperial policies. Through centuries the Chinese have passed down by word of mouth the saying that gourds grow most luxuriantly where their bones are buried.

On the way to or from the wall, the Nixons will probably visit the tombs of the Ming emperors. Uninhibited by traditional Chinese reverence for their ancestors, the Communists opened the 16th-century tomb of an early emperor 15 years ago, exposing fabulous objects of gold, jade, and porcelain.

More recently the Chinese have opened another tomb, in west China, revealing even more remarkable treasures, including body-length royal funeral clothing made entirely of pieces of priceless, green jade fastened together. These now are on display in Peking.

The Nixons will surely stroll through Peking's most famous spectacle, the Forbidden City. This imperial, walled quarter built by the Ming rulers from the 15th Century includes vast audience halls, living quarters, and pavilions with glittering, upswept roofs and intricately painted ceilings, walls, and columns; moats; gardens; marble courtyards; and bridges. They might also care to see my favorite relic of the past in all China: the great, magnificently simple, three-tiered marble Altar of Heaven, where in grand procession emperors went once yearly to ask heaven's blessing on the subjects.

The Nixons may also jointly see the ornate complex called the Summer Palace by a mountain and lake just outside the capital. The ruthless dowager Empress Tzu Hsi, next to the last imperial ruler of China, built it for her pleasure with money earmarked for reconstruction of the Chinese Navy, largely destroyed in the 1894-5 Sino-Japanese War.

President and Mrs. Nixon will certainly be the guests of honor at the main social event of their visit, a banquet by Premier Chou En-lai in the colorful communist-built Great Hall of the People, large enough to seat thousands. The food will be a gourmet's delight. The Americans will doubtless be furnished with knife, fork, and spoon, but it is a gracious gesture to use chopsticks. Rice, served at the end, is at most barely touched to signify that the meal has already been more than sufficient.

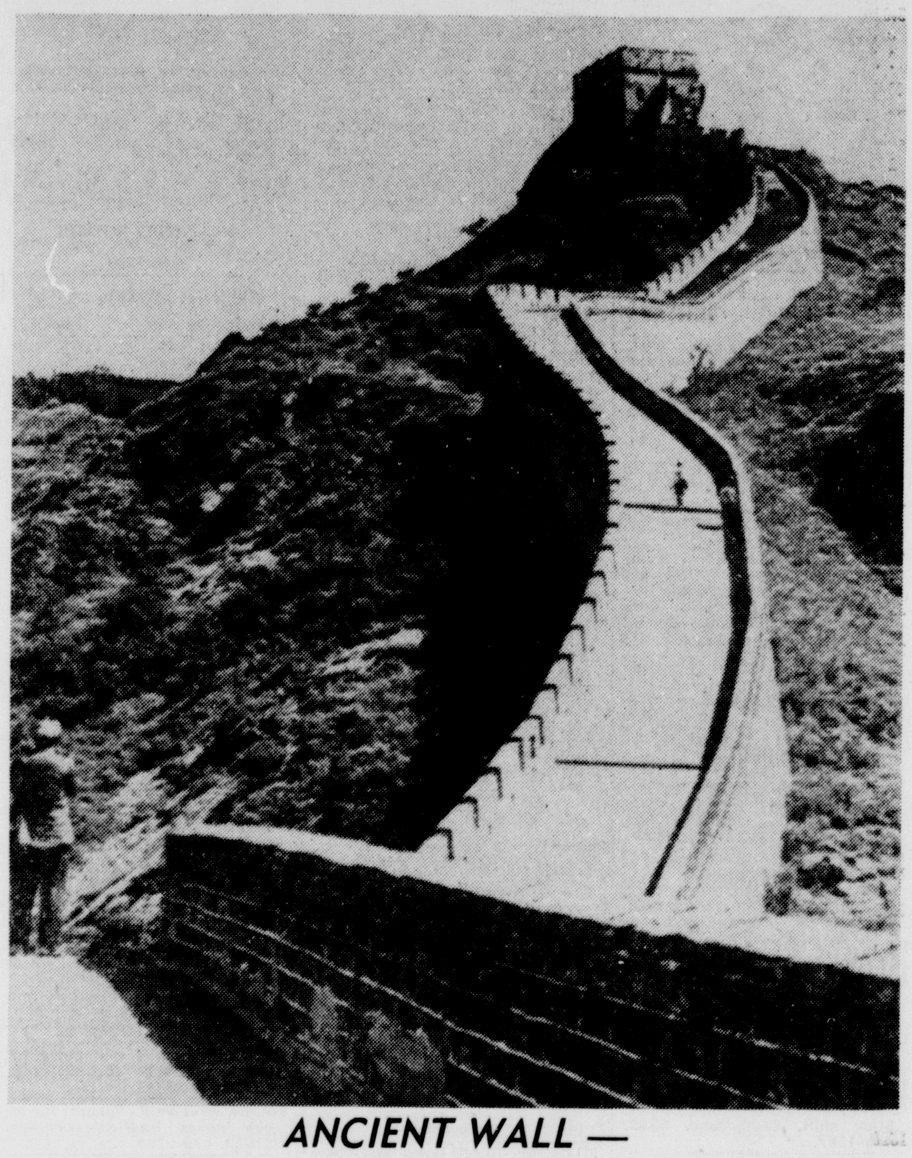

Besides acquiring an elementary skill with chopsticks some foreign visitors have learned, before arrival, to say with the right accent and tone "Thank you" in Chinese (Hsieh hsieh), as well as "How are you?" (Nihao ma?) and "I am well, thank you. How are you?" (Hen hao, hsieh hsieh, ni hao ma?) These phrases are useful not only at social functions but in friendly encounters with ordinary people who may crowd around or stare with surprise at Westerners.

Since the Nixons will represent a country that has no diplomatic relations with a Chinese government that attacks "U.S. imperialism" almost daily, it is unlikely that there will be any public ceremonies or other displays for the President and his wife. Therefore Premier Chou's banquet and the other official dinners given for the Nixons will be the only formal functions Mrs. Nixon will attend.

On one or more of these occasions she may meet Chairman Mao's wife, Chiang Ching, vamous for her reform of Chinese opera and for her star role in the "cultural revolution"; or the Premier's wife, Tseng Ying-chao, a quietly impressive person who, though hindered by illness, made the world-renowned Communist "long march" across China on a stretcher about 40 years ago.

Any woman present at these functions probably will be dressed in trousers and certainly with great simplicity. Mrs. Nixon will doubtless have been briefed to do likewise.

In Shanghai, once the lively, wicked, neon-lit Paris-cum-Marseille of the Far East, where foreigners long had special privileges, the Nixons will probably drive from the rather quiet and extremely clean center of the city out to one of the busy new satellite towns, complete with new factories and neat government housing complexes. They may also visit the permanent exhibition of Shanghai's industrial products.

ANCIENT WALL — President Nixon and his wife, Pat, probably will see the Great Wall of China during their visit to China next week. Portions of the wall are located 60 miles north of Peking, Red China's capital city. (UPI Telephoto)

Set in surroundings of great natural beauty, Hangchow, the last city on the Nixon itinerary, has long been regarded by Chinese as an ideal vacation and pleasure spot; an old proverb states "Heaven above; Soochow (a city famed for silk and beautiful women) and Hangchow below."

Already thriving well over 10 centuries ago and later extravagantly admired by Marco Polo, the city — and surrounding countryside — are dotted with historic temples and pagadas. However, Hangchow is most famous for its beautiful central lake, which the Nixons are almost sure to visit. They will most certainly eat at one of the many renowned lakeside restaurants, whose specialty is seafood, including shrimp so delicious and delicate in flavor that they are eaten alive.

From any one of these cities, Mrs. Nixon may be taken out to the country areas to see a grouping of collective farms called a commune, where, in China's form of women's liberation, men and women work side by side. There she may meet a female "barefoot doctor," a medical worker with limited training who gives first aid and medicines for simple ailments in rural places previously without medical services.

Mrs. Nixon may also visit a large city hospital. Foreign visitors to Chinese hospitals generally are invited to don white coat and mask and watch surgery with acupuncture as the only anaesthetic.

While the President is otherwise engaged, Mrs. Nixon will probably be shown a school, where children of workers and peasants have preference and where Maoist politics and military training are emphasized.

Her hosts in Peking will almost certainly take her to a recently opened, extensive, and spectacular exhibit of the many objects of clay, porcelain, jade, bronze, or gold — some of them 2,000 years old — uncovered since "liberation" in 1949 through archaeological or other excavations.

Of special interest to Mrs. Nixon will be one of Peking's or Shanghai's large department stores (the British call one in the capital "Selfridge's"), where she can get a glimpse of ordinary Chinese doing day-to-day shopping.

And, to top off or remind her of her visit, she may wish to make a few purchases herself: a Mao Tse-tung jacket or a length of cloth from the big stores; a piece of cloisonne or lacquer from a "friendship" shop; or perhaps a bit of old ivory or painting from one of the special government-owned curio shops open to foreigners only. None of these things is enormously valuable or enormously old, but modern visitors) like Marco Polo, like to take a bit of China back home with them.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Mrs. Durdin, well-known writer on Asian affairs, visited Peking recently with her husband who is the New York Times bureau chief in Hong Kong.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Cosmetic Aspects Of Aging— The Most Difficult To Accept

Over a lifetime, the skin takes a beating and surprisingly, it holds up well. It is exposed to the sun, wind, heat, cold, and all sorts of chemicals including dyes, detergents, harsh soaps, cosmetics, and perfumes. To this we might add self-injury from rubbing, picking, and scratching. Last, but not least, is normal deterioration, a natural result of the aging process.

Cosmetic aspects of aging are the most difficult to accept. That daily look in the mirror is enough to cause despair. But this aspect is amenable to plastic surgery and chemical peeling. In addition, unsightly spots and tumors can be removed by means of surgery and electrodessication. Skill is required because we never know when one of these lesions is precancerous or malignant.

KERATOSES (liver spots) can be bleached, or removed with liquid nitrogen or dry ice. The results are not always permanent and occasionally must be repeated. Lesions caused by overexposure to the sun may result in permament damage. Nevertheless, it is wise to minimize exposure and apply a sunscreen lotion when going outdoors. Those who plan a trip to Florida or Arizona should keep this in mind.

According to Drs. Thomas H. Sternberg and Ronald M. Reisner, Los Angeles dermatologists, fluorouracil is the latest remedy for severe sun damage to the face. The 1 to 5 per cent fluorouracil ointment is applied twice a week leading to redness and discomfort. After three weeks, it is stopped and a cortisone ointment is applied until complete healing occurs. Keratoses slough off, but skin cancers must be removed surgically. All of this leaves the skin smoother and younger looking.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

NICOTINE, THE HEART

E. P. writes: Why is tobacco denied to cardiacs?

REPLY

The effects of tobacco on the heart vary from person to person. It may cause irregularities of the beat, or reduce the flow of blood through the coronary arteries. Smoking is taboo when it aggravates the heart through these mechanisms. Tobacco also has an adverse effect on the normal heart, in that heart attacks are far more common among smokers than nonsmokers.

TIRED TRUMPETER

Mrs. B. M. G. writes: My 15-year-old by, who plays trumpet in the school band, often comes home tired and with a headache. Could playing bring on these conditions?

REPLY

Possibly, but there are so many causes for fatigue and headache, that it is not fair to blame his trumpet playing until other factors have been investigated and ruled out.

ARTHRITIS PREVENTIVE

N. T. A. writes: Is there any pill or injection to prevent arthritis?

REPLY

Not at present, unless you refer to the prophylactic pills for gouty arthritis. Meanwhile, our researchers are making considerable progress in determining the basic changes that occur in the system of arthritic patients. Eventually, the outcome may be a preventive vaccine or pill.

HARDY GRANDPA

REPLY

Yes, even though approximately 10 per cent of men and women in this age group have comparable health records.

BLINKING BOY

M.Y. writes: My young son constantly blinks his eyes. He says he can't help himself. Is there a way to cure this habit?

REPLY

The blinking may represent a habit tic, or may be a sign of tension, or poor vision. For an expert opinion, take him to an ophthalmologist.

LUNG LESIONS

REPLY

Yes, if by holes you are referring to cavities, or abscesses.

COFFEE GASTRITIS

F. B. writes: Can excessive amounts of coffee result in gastritis?

REPLY

Yes. Too much coffee may irritate the stomach, and increase acidity, and motility.

EMOTIONAL PREGNANCY

REPLY

Yes, provided you refer to pseudocyesis, an emotional type of pregnancy. In this unusual condition, the woman develops all the signs and symptoms of pregnancy. Except in her case, the enlarged abdomen is due to bloating and not to a growing fetus.

EVELYN LEWIS HAS JUST BEEN CONDEMNED TO A HIGH SCHOOL EDUCATION.

But nobody in her family's ever been to college before. And she doesn't even consider it. Simply because there's no money.

So, she's sentenced to living a life far short of her potential. And we're robbed of the contribution she could make.

We support 40 private, four-year colleges that help over 45,000 students reach their full potential.

Like Evelyn, most of the youngsters we help could never get to college on their own. Because most come from families earning less than $5,000 a year.

We can help more students if you help.

Marin Tars Beat Contra Costa To Tie For Lead

HEADED FOR STATE FINALS

Joe Smith Fires In 41 To Pace 86-82 Victory

"Super. They were just super."

Those were the words of College of Marin basketball coach John Panagakis this morning in talking about the Tars' 86-82 victory over Contra Costa College Saturday night in San Pablo. The triumph tied the Tars with the Comets for Camino Norte Conference leadership with 9-1 records.

Marin guard Joe Smith, who was held to only six points when Marin lost to Contra Costa on Jan. 12 in Kentfield, 83-70, had his biggest Night as a Tar, scoring 41 points — 17 field goals and seven of eight free throws. Most of his scoring came from jump shots around the key.

Although it was a close contest, Marin never trailed. Contra Costa tied the score twice in the first half but Marin nad a slight edge at halftime, 42-40. Then in the second half, Marin held off the Comets and led by as much as nine points at one time.

But then the Comets rallied and came within one point of tying the score with about three minutes to go. But Marin guard Joe DeMaestri scored in both ends of a one-and-one free-throw situation and Smith followed with one of his jump shots and Marin was in front by five.

Going into the last seconds of the game, Marin led by six, 86-80, when Contra Costa socred its last two points. Marin stalled it out in the final moments.

While Smith was scoring his 41, forwards Ed Herrnberger and Joe Casteel were each meshing 15 points. Center Roosevelt Green and guards Charlie Flynn and Ron Small were all credited by Panagakis with playing great defense for Marin.

Top gun for Contra Costa was Wayne Kemp who scored 25 points, but 15 of them were from the free throw line. Floyd Harris, the forward who scored 23 in the Comets' win over Marin last month, was held to only four points by the tough guarding of Herrnberger.

About half the crowd of 700 was from Marin, which Panagakis said was a big boost for his team.

Marin, now 23-2 over-all, plays its last hame game of the season Wednesday against Santa Rosa Junior College. That game will be followed by three on the road, DeAnza of Cupertino, West Valley of Campbell and Skyline of San Bruno.

Marin — Casteel 5-5-15, Herrnberger 5-5-15, Green 3-0-6, Smith 17-7-41, DeMaestri 1-4-6, Traub 0-1-1, Flynn 1-0-2. Totals: 32-22—86.

Contra Costa — D. Moore 8-1-17, Harris 2-0-4, Allen 5-7-17, Kemp 5-15-25, Cotright 2-1-5, Swazya, 2-0-4, B. Moore 5-0-10. Totals: 29-24—82.

Women Get Seven Of Eight American Olympic Medals

SAPPORO, Japan (UPI) — It is traditional in Japan for the women to serve their men, and thus it was in the case of the United States team during the just completed 11th Winter Olympics.

Of the eight medals that went to the American troops, seven of them fell to the women. Only the surprising hockey team, which took a silver medal, was able to save face for the men.

The U.S. won three gold medals, two of them going to Northbrook, Ill., speed skaters Dianne Holum in the 1,500 meters and Anne Henning in the 500. The third was another shocker as Barbara Cochran of Richmond, Vt., whose brother Bob and sister Marilyn also were on the Olympic team, won the omen's slalom.

FIRST GOLD MEDAL

It was the first gold medal for the U.S. in Olympic skiing since 1952, when Andrea Lawrence won both the slalom and giant slalom.

Misses Holum and Henning also picked up lesser medals, giving the city of Northbroook half the total bag for the entire country. Dianne, the U.S. flag bearer at the opening ceremonies, earned a silver medal for her second place finish in the 3,000 meter and 16-year-old Anne wound up third in the 1,000.

SUSAN CORROCK

Bronze medals also went to Susan Corrock of Ketchum, Idaho, in the women's downhill and to Janet Lynn of Rockford, Ill., in figure skating.

The eight medals were one more than the U.S. earned in the 1968 games at Grenoble, and were the most since the Americans picked up nine at Squaw Valley, Calif., in 1960.

"This has got to be called a successful olympics for us," said Bob Paul, press officer for the U.S. Olympic committee. "The ice hockey team came from nowhere to win a medal and our medal in the women's 3,000 was our first ever in that event."

DISAPPOINTMENT

One of the major disappointments for the U.S. was its failure to take a medal in mens' figure skating, although the final order of finish was expected. John Mischa Petkevich of Great Falls, Mont., and national champion Ken Shelley of Downey, Calif., put on the best exhibitions of crowd-pleasing free skating, but neither was in contention for a medal after the compulsory figures.

The same story was basically true in the women's division, where cover girl Janet Lynn was unquuestionably the best free skater in the rank, but she had to settle for a bronze medal behind Austria's Beatrix Schuba, a perfectionist in the school figures but less proficient in free skating.

SUCCESSES

It is the successes that will be remembered, though, Barbara Cochran, quiet and reserved compared to her sister Marilyn, nervous and emotiona, winning a gold medal by a mere two-hundredths of a second; Anne Henning, tall and blonde with a Snoopy pin on her jacket, racing twice in the 500 because of a foul and turning in the two fastest times; Dianne Holum, more mature and yet less patient, a 20-year-old double medal winner in the 1968 games as well.

And of course the hockey team, seeded sixth at the beginning of this tournament and placed in the lower B group for the upcoming world championships in Prague, Czechoslovakia, surprising everyone but themselves by winning a medal.

SURPRISES

The Olympics, as a whole, produced a number of surprises, especially in the alpine ski events where the pOwerful French team failed to win a major race and two relative unknowns, Marie Therese Nadig of Switzerland and Francisco Fernandez-Ochoa of Spain, became national heroes.

Miss Nadig, only 17, stunned the experts by winning two gold medals —in the downhill and the giant slalom —while Ochoa pulled one of the biggest shockers of any Olympics by winning the men's special slalom to give Spain its first gold medal ever in Olympic competition.

Russia emerged as the leader in total medals with 16 including eight gold. But five of the Soviet Union's gold medals came in the Nordic events which has been its specialty for many years.

Ford Wins Third Prep Mat Crown

The weight classes and the opponents keep changing, but the outcome always seems to be the same —a victory for Jerry Ford.

The 130-pound wrestler from Tamalpais High School won the championship at his weight for the third consecutive year Saturday in the Marin County Athletic League meet at San Marin High School in Novato.

Terra Linda won the unofficial team championship with 119½ points to 105½ for San Rafael. San Rafael had won the dual-meet season with a 6-0 record. This completely reversed last year's results — when Terra Linda won the dual meet season but San Rafael scored better in the league meet.

Rosburg Gains Golf Triumph

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI)—It will never rate with the great love stories of our time nor with the more thrilling sports sagas, but Bob Rosburg's affection for his new wife and admiration for a fellow golf pro makes pleasant telling.

A year ago, Rosburg was reach to pack in his golf career, what there was of it, because he no longer was able to compete and his nerves were shot. "There wasn't a thing I was doing right," he recalled, "and there was no doubt in my mind it was time to think about something else."

QUITTING

But the harder he thought about quitting the more he became convinced he ought to take "one more shot at it." So, Rosburg, now 45 and about the most unlikely looking golf pro on the tour, came to Palm Springs to talk things over with Claude Harmon, the old Pro now connected with the Thunderbird Club.

"Claude didn't do anything with my game," Rosburg said. "All we did was talk and work on my hand positions on the club. Listening to him was better than any lesson. Sometimes in this crazy game no amount of lessons will help. I guess that was my case."

In any event, Rosburg rejoined the tour and in October married Eleanor. The combination of steadied nerves, new enthusiasm and a wife "who understood me" resulted in a $59,000 year.

Sunday, before a lot of his friends and a national television audience, Rosburg put it all together, fighting his own nerves and a challenge from three youngsters to win the $145,000 Bob Hope Desert Classic.

Rosburg, who had not won a tourney since the 1961 Crosby and only six previous titles since joining the tour in 1954, shot a closing round five-under-par 67 to take the Hope, a 90-hole, five-day event, with a 16-under-par score of 344.

ONE SHOT

The record will show he won by one stroke over Lanny Wadkins and two over Johnny Miller and Jerry Heard, but in his heart Rosburg will always know it as the tourney he took because he didn't become rattled and made the shots he needed.

"It's nice winning that big check ($29,000)," Rosburg said, "but what made me happier was the way I played and the fact my nerves held together. No question, the turning point came on the 14th hole."

Playing in a threesome with Miller and Bob Murphy, Rosburg stood by and watched as Miller sank a six-foot eagle putt to go ahead by a stroke. He had a little four-footer to make for a birdy and he did to draw even.

'THAT WAS IT'

"That was it as far as I'm concerned," Rosburg said. "I felt that if I could make that putt I had a good shot at it."

Rosburg proved a prophet because on the very next hole Miller three putted from inside 10 feet for a bogey to fall back a stroke and bogied the 17th as well to wipe out his chances. Rosburg, meanwhile, parred in the rest of the way. When Miller and Wadkins, playing in the final threesome with Heard and Arnold Palmer. missed tries for eagles, on 18, it was all over.

PLAYING CARD

Wadkins is only 22 and got his playing card only last fall while Miller is 23 and Heard 24. They rate with the best of the youngsters trying to make their mark on the tour these days, but in the Hope Classic it was the old man, Rosburg, who surfaced as a man to be reckoned with.

Wadkins closed with a 67 to finish at 15-under 345 and win $16,530, while Miller had a 67 and Heard a 71 for 346. They won $8,555 each. Murphy wound up all alone at 347 and won $5,945 and Palmer, winner of four of the 12 previous Hope classics, was all alone at 348 and won $5,220.

A FACTOR

Palmer was a factor in the Hope from the start but went out of bounds twice in a 76 third round and that proved his undoing.

Deane Beman shot a closing 65, Grier Jones, who beat Murphy in sudden death last week for the Hawaiian Open totle, had a 66 and Billy Casper, playing his best of the year, had a 67 to tie at 349, 11 under par and five shots behind Rosburg.

Napa's Ron Cerrudo recorded a 364 total and took home $232.

The golfers now move on to Arizona for the Phoenix Open and Rosburg will be about the only to player in the field outside of George Archer. Palmer, Nicklaus, Casper and Trevino all are passing up that one.

Warriors Slaughter Chicago Bull 'Five'

CHICAGO (UPI) — From Slaughter to laughter is the story of the Golden State Warriors' weekend in the Midwest.

They pepped up considerably after a tongue-lashing Saturday following a 123-100 humiliation at the hands of the Milwaukee Bucks on television. On Sunday, Attles used all 12 players on his roster and all scored in a 107-88 runaway over the Chicago Bulls.

After the first four minutes Sunday., the Warriors grabbed the lead and never lost it. Going into the final period, Golden State was up by 22 points at 82-60.

CRUCIAL CAGE CLASH

Redwood Challenges Tam

By LEW CODDINGTON

Redwood High School, with one foot in the grave but two hands shooting the basketball, will confront Tamalpais High tomorrow at 4 p.m. in a life-or-death game at College of Marin in Kentfield.

In other MCAL action, Novato visits Terra Linda, 4 p.m.; Marin Catholic travels to Drake, 4 p.m.; and San Rafael journeys to San Marin, 7 p.m.

Tamalpais leads the Marin County Athletic League with a 10-0 record, while Redwood ranks second at 8-2. A Tam victory would virtually clinch the title for the Indians; even a Redwood triumph would leave Tam on top by a game.

"We were in that position last year," said Tam coach Bernie Schneider. "It's not a good place to be." Last year, Redwood eliminated the Indians and made the last three games academic.

The outcome of tomorrow's game may be decided by the virus coursing through Steve McGee's bloodstream. Redwood's star center missed one game last week and was below par in another due to the flu. If healthy, he can be potent — in the first Redwood-Tam league encounter, he scored 32 points.

Redwood was cheered last week by the play of forwards Tim Hennessy and Darrell Elder. Hennessy scored 48 points in two games, taking the slack up from McGee and moving into second place among the league's scorers.

Elder, a sophomore who was ineligible for the earlier collision, came up with timely scoring and spectacular shot-blocking Friday as Redwood avenged an earlier loss to San Rafael, 58-45.

The game is a classic match-up of irresistible force against immovable object. Redwood is leading the league in scoring with 67.4 points a game; Tam is No. 1 in defense at 46.1.

Both teams play man-on-man defense. Tam plays with a non-stop aggressiveness, especially in pursuit of the ball. The blanket-like coverage of Jared McFerrin and the shot-blocking of Will Garner are forces o be reckoned with.

The aggressiveness proved to be a problem when the teams met in a holiday tournament in San Francisco. Tam committed 25 fouls and lost, 54-48. The Indians seemed to find the right balance of prudence and ferocity in their first league meeting. They rallied from a 13-point deficit to win in overtime at Redwood, 66-63.

Garner scored 33 in that game and leads the league in scoring with a 21.9 average. Hennessy is second at 19.0 and McGee fifth at 16.0.

Since their last meeting, Redwood has reeled off six straight victories, only one by less than a dozen points. The Giants' over-all record is a glittering 21-2. Tam went on a defensive binge and held five straight rivals to 50 points or less until Marin Catholic got 56 Thursday in a 70-56 Tam romp. The Indians are 17-5 over-all with 11 straight triumphs.

Tam's normal starting lineup consists of Mike Dinehart at center, McFerrin and Garner at forwards, and John Johnson and David Jones at guards. Pat Locey and Clifford Hall will see plenty of guard action.

Redwood's starting lineup could be shuffled. McGee at center, Hennessy at forward and Sam Farb at guard are probable starters. Against San Rafael, Mike Connor was the other starting forward and John Hunter a guard. With Elder around, Connor could move back to guard. Both Hunter and Rich Hagler can play forward. The whole thing is semantic, since Farb usually sets up and the others run patterns.

San Rafael is all alone in the standings, but to the Bulldogs' chagrin, they are in the middle at 6-4 — two games back of Redwood, two ahead of Drake and Terra Linda. They must battle back from disappointment caused by losing four of the last five and dropping from the title chase.

The battle for fourth place is puzzling. Terra Linda (4-6) and Marin Catholic (3-7) have been highly inconsistent, each upsetting third-place San Rafael and losing to last-place San Marin. Drake (4-6), on the other Hand, has been steady as she goes. The Pirates have beaten everybody below them, lost to everybody above them, and split a pair with the team they're tied with.

If Novato and Marin Catholic win, there will be a four-way tie for fourth at 4-7.

Track Stars Get Tuneup

All three produced strong performances in their specialties at the indoor track and field meet Saturday night to establish themselves as definite contenders for this summer's U.S. Olympic track team that will compete at Munich.

Smith, a veteran jumper who never competed in college, hopped, skipped and leaped 54 feet, 6 1-4 inches for the second best indoor effort in history in the triple jump. The former Hamilton High School star out of Los Angeles topped the 54-1 3-4 meet standard held by former Olympian Art Walker and Charlie Craig.

Miss Hammond, 20, of the Sacramento Roadrunners, reclaimed her world indoor record in the women's 500-yard run with a 1:04.5. Jarvis Scott of the Los Angeles Mercurettes had clocked 1:05.6 in beating Kathy the previous night in Los Angeles.

Hill, of Arkansas State, survived a poor start to catch Tommy White and Paul Gibson in capturing the 60-yard high hurdles in 7.1 seconds. Only 24 hours earlier, Hill had beaten world record holder Rod Milburn in Los Angeles with a 7.0 performance.

Other meet records were set by Belgian's middle distance runner Emiel Puttemans, pole vaulter Kjell Isaksson of Sweden and America's Martin McGrady. In addition, Valeriy Borzov set a Russian record of 6.1 seconds in winning the 60-yard dash and Finland's Marco Alto won the 1,000 yard run in 2:13.1.

McGrady, the world record holder at 600 yards, captured the 500 yard run in 56.9 seconds, six-tenths of a second faster than the old record shared by Jim Kemp and Larry Hengl.

Al Feuerbach won his seventh consecutive indoor meet shot put competition this season with a toss of 67-1 3-4, more than two feet below his world indoor mark. Texan Randy Matson placed third behind George Woods with a 66-4 1-4.

Borzov, the world's No. 1 ranked sprinter, and UCLA's Warren Edmonson matched strides out of the blocks and to the tape where the Russian's lunge brought him the win.

Reynaldo Brown defended his high jump title with a 7-foot leap to edge Russia's Rustam Akhmyetov on fewer misses, Henry Hines won the long jump with a 26-0 leap and Byron Dyce whipped a strong international field to win the mile in 4:05.6.

MILBURN MAKES TRACKS TOWARD RECORD

Sonoma Tries For 2 In Row

Sonoma State College basketballers will be trying to make it two home non-conference victories in a row tomorrow night when they host Fresno Pacific College at 8 o'clock in Sonoma State's gym.

Sonoma State won its third game in 22 outings Saturday night, a 94-90 verdict over independent Stanislaus State College. Two clutch free throws and a field goal in the final minute by former College of Marin cager Darryl Ravani was the Cossacks' recipe for victory in the Saturday triumph.

The game came down to the last 2 minutes and 40 seconds with the two teams deadlocked, 86-86. Cossack guard Bill Heath, who was starting his first game fouled out and Sonoma State Coach Doug Earl put in Al Martinson. Thirty-seconds later, Martinson hit a 20-footer to put the Cossacks ahead by two points. Then, another Cossack guard, Paul Holmes, fouled out. Earl looked at his bench and after taking the maximum time limit of one minute to decide on a substitute, tapped Ravani who was playing in only his second game for Sonoma State.

"We needed a rebounder and a ball-handler, and Darryl was the only player on the bench who was both. As it turned out, we needed a rebounder and ball-handler who could also shoot free-throws," said Earl.

After the game Earl commented, "This team has had the potential all year. Some days, we play well and some days we don't. Tonight we played real well."

Starting four guards and a center, Earl's Cagers ran on the Stanislaus State Warriors to build up a 12-point lead after 14 minutes of the first half. Paul Holmes and Jim DeLaughter were hot during that drive, canning 12 and 10 points.

Laver Takes Tennis Title

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

PHILADELPHIA — Ken Rosewall's deliberation provided a challenge but not a threat to Rod Laver and the Australian redhead defeated his fellow countryman to win the U. S. professional Indoor tennis championships here yesterday.

In a two-hour battle before a crowd of 11,813, Laver defeated Rosewall on a second match point, slamming a forehand shot down the line which caught Rosewall out of position.

The new champion was the top winner on the pro circuit last year with $290,000. He picked up $10,000 in the singles purse while Rosewall received $5,000.

In addition to the money, Laver added 10 points, giving him 71 on the 12th leg of the $1 million World Championship Tennis Tour.

Hockey

HOUSTON — John F. Avlino, 22, of Revere was under treatment today at Massachusetts General Hospital for a ruptured spleen after allegedly being hit Sunday night by a car driven by Boston Bruins star Derek Sanderson near Boston Garden.

Police said no charges had been filed against Sanderson and the case was under investigation.

Avlino was struck as he walked along Accolon Way near the Madison Hotel, police said. The accident took place about 6:45 p.m., investigators said, several hours after the Bruins and Montreal Canadiens had battled to a 2-2 tie at the Garden.

Billiards

LOS ANGELES — Jack Breit of Houston suffered his first defeat in the world pocket billiard championship last night, bowing to Dan Diliberto of Miami 150-66. The loss gave Breit a rdcord of 12-1 in the 20-man round Robin Tourney.

Petaluma Visits Napa Gym In Prep Basketball Battle

Petaluma High School puts it all on the line tomorrow night at 7 p.m. when the Trojans invade the Napa High School gym in a renewal of their North Bay League rivalry.

In other Southern Sonoma County basketball action tomorrow night, Tomales High School journeys to S. Vincent's High School in a North Central League II clash and Rancho Cotate High School of Rohnert Park travels to Sonoma High School to battle for second place in the Sonoma County League. Both games start at 7 p.m.

Many factors will be riding on the Petaluma-Napa game: Petaluma's eight-game winning streak; its NBL championship hopes, and the Trojans' record of ten vicotires in eleven games against Napa. Should the Trojans win, they'll assure themselves of at least a tie for first place in the league. Napa, with a 5-3 record, has to win to keep its second place hopes alive.

It won't be easy for the Trojans as the Indians present the tallest challenge of he season in 7-footer Stew Walkenhorst. Walkenhorst, who is one of the most sought after high school basketball players in the country, is currently leading the NBL in scoring with a 24-point per game average. The Indian's offense is geared towards setting up Walkenhorst for the inside shot. Napa also has another big scorer in 6-4 Tom Warrington.

Rancho Cotate High will try to protect its one-half game lead over Sonoma High tomorrow night. The Sonoma Dragons come in to the game with a 5-3 record. Rancho Cotate, with a league record of 6-3, is on a two-game winning streak.

WHAT IS A TWENTIETH CENTURY NATURAL SHOULDER MAN?

He is a Self-assured, Aggressive, Alert Individual. A man who takes pride in his Individuality. He is a man to whom style, not fashion, is important; Believing in himself, he expresses this in his outward appearance.
He is one that prefers the quiet evolution of Traditional Styling with its sensibly paced development.

BIG VICTORY FOR LITTLE LADY

With one dog of her team leaping forward, Jill Hilpipre, 8, of Cedar Falls, Iowa, smiled in starting her triumphant run over the 1.75 mile course in the Iowa Dog Sledding Championships Sunday. Miss Hilpipre won the novice class race over a snow-covered field.

Seals Smashed By Toronto Leafs

TORONTO (UPI)—"The big thing in here (Maple Leaf Gardens) is to hold the Leafs the first 10 minutes and we didn't do that," moaned coach Vic Stasiuk of the California Golden Seals.

In fact the Seals were unable to contain the Toronto Maple Leafs in the first 4 1-2 minutes and were shut out 3-0 by Jacques Plante Saturday night.

Dave Keon scored on Gilles Meloche 3:16 after the opening whistle on a power play and 1:16 later Bill MacMillan skated around defenseman Carol Vadnais to beat Meloche and make it 2-0.

"I felt we should have opened up more once we were down 20," said Stasiuk. "We might as well be beat 10-0 as 3-0."

Meanwhile at Anaheim, five of the Seals were drafted by the fledgling World Hockey Association in the first 10 rounds. Wing Bobby Sheehan of Weymouth, Mass., was a premier pick of the New England Whalers while Vadnais was claimed by the Miami Screaming Eagles.

Center Ivan Boldirev was drafted by the Chicago Cougars and Gerry Pinder by the Calgary Broncs. Tom Webster, who is out the rest of the season following a back operation, also was drafted by New England.

Robertson Tagged By Santa Clara '9'

SANTA CLARA (UPI) — Righthander Rich Robertson, traded recently from the San Francisco Giants to the Chicago White Sox, was touched for two home runs and the loss Sunday as Santa Clara beat the alumni 10-1 in baseball.

Robertson gave up only two hits but they were back-to-back homers by Bruce Bochte and Chuck Keller.

Cincinnati Reds Sign George Foster

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Outfielder George Foster has signed his 1972 contract with the Cincinnati Reds, cutting the number of unsigned players on the 38-man roster to 13.

Foster, 23, was obtained early last season from the San Francisco Giants in a trade for shortstop Frank Duffy. Foster hit .234 with 10 home runs and 50 runs batted in for the Reds.

HOCKEY DRAFT

Hull, Mikita Among Choices

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI)—The new World Hockey Association concluded its draft of players Sunday to pave the way for a battle with the National Hockey League for top stars in the sport.

When the draft was concluded virtually every hockey player in the United States and Canada was picked by some team although sponsors of entries in the new 12-team league said they were not so optimistic that they would be able to sign all their choices.

Saturday the 12 teams revealed the names of 48 players who had been selected in a secret, preferred draft in November. That list had many of the top performers in the rival league.

That draft was followed by each team picking 20 players Saturday to run the total to 240. In Sunday's concluding draft, the emphasis was more on little-known or unknown prospects and some teams failed to make any choices.

The new 12-team league said it intends to begin two-division play next October. The Eastern Division is made up of Miami, New York, New England, Quebec, Ontario and Dayton. The Western Division will be composed of Los Angeles, Chicago, Edmonton, Calgary, Winnipeg and Minnesota.

League spokesma, Dennis Murphy, also general manager of the Los Angeles team, promised a strong campaign would be waged to sign NHL stars.

"But we'll survive even if we don't sign a single Stan Mikita or Bobby Hull," he said.

Although most of the "name" players from the rival league were on the preferred list of four per team, there were a number of outstanding NHL performers in the next round of 20.

Among the preferred players in addition to Mikita and Hull were such standout performers as Ken Dryden, Bernie Parent, Norm Ullman, Barry Gibbs, Pete Mahovlich, Doug Favell, Gilles Villemure and Bob Sheehan of California.

There were two members of the U.S. Olympic hockey team on the list. Minnesota picked goalie Mike Curran in the preferred draft and then took Henry Boucha, a Minnesota prep sensation, as its first choice in the open rounds.

VANDALISM

Everyone Getting It On Chin

(First of five articles)

Vandalism, not often considered a serious offense, last year cost Marin and Southern Sonoma residents and taxpayers countless thousands of dollars.

Major incidents, such as deliberately set fires at schools, catch the public eye, but an overwhelming number of small incidents goes almost unnoticed.

An Independent-Journal survey revealed no countywide pattern for vandalism in 1971. Some areas of Marin reported a decline in the number of incidents while others said vandalism was on the increase.

San Rafael residents were warned that vandals could cost city taxpayers as much as $36,000 a year. A park was closed in Novato and schools were set afire in San Rafael and Petaluma.

In Mill Valley, at least $15,000 worth of vandalism was reported, but Tiburon and Belvedere officials said the problem in their communities was minor and becoming even more so.

To present an overall view of the problem of vandalism in Marin and Southern Sonoma, its extent and how it varies from place to place, the Independent-Journal today and on subsequent days is publishing these results of its survey of cities, towns, smaller communities and special districts during 1971:

ALTO

Carl O. Heynen Jr. of the Alto Sanitary District board said there have been few vandalism problems since the district began bolting down manhole covers late last year.

Four times during 1971, Heynen said, persons pried up the covers and dumped debris into sewer lines, clogging them. After the latest incident, which cost the district nearly $600 to repair, manholes were secured.

Heynen, who also is chief of the Alto-Richardson Bay Fire Department, said about $100 has been spent in the past year replacing caps and valves ripped off fire hydrants, but the fire station on Shell Road has been safe because it is manned 24 hours a day.

BELVEDERE

Police Chief John W. Jaeger said 51 cases of malicious mischief were reported during 1971, a drop from about 80 the previous year.

Many of the incidents were pranks and caused no damage, such as throwing water balloons against houses and unrolling toilet paper in yards.

Sometimes, though, the vandalism was of a more serious nature: eggs thrown at houses, windows and outdoor lights broken, homemade bombs set off and fires started, he said.

Jaeger was unable to estimate the dollar loss in Belvedere, however.

BOLINAS

The Bolinas Fire Protection and Community Public Utility districts and the Bolinas-Stinson School District report that deliberate damage is not a serious problem in that community.

In fact, according to Lester M. Horning, school district superintendent, it seems on the wane at Bolinas School.

"Our damage has been very minor during the past year, two broken windows, writing on the walls," he said.

Horning noted that there have been no breakins or vandalism at the school since September and said that during the same period last year, there were "two or three big breakins where items were damaged or stolen."

Vandals opened one of the utility district's valves last March and almost drained a reservoir, according to Gen. Mgr. Archie Goldsberry, but he said no disruption of service, resulted.

The most frequent problems, Goldsberry said, are broken fire hydrants and locks and pumps tampered with. He estimated the district spends between $500 and $1,000 a year to repair the damage.

Bolinas's new fire station had a window broken in 1971, but that was the only vandalism reported by Sherman R. Smith, a member of the community's fire protection district board.

CORTE MADERA

According to official records, police received 52 reports of vandalism in 1971, compared to 37 the year before. Half the reports came in the last three months of the year when as many as four instances of vandalism at Granada School were reported each weekend.

Some reports contained more than one instance of damage so the total actually exceeded 52, police said.

Estimate of the cost of repairing the damage was unavailable, police said, because school districts are reluctant to report the costs of repaired broken windows, paint splattered, charred benches and other damage.

DIXIE SCHOOL DISTRICT

In the Dixie School District, the number of broken windows has decreased to the point where it is "not a big problem," Supt. Clifford W. Campbell said.

He attributed the decrease to the fact that several youngsters were caught breaking windows and their parents billed for the damage.

Breakins and other acts of vandalism, however, are "enough to concern us," he said.

It cost $2,000 to replace locks at one district school when a set of master keys was stolen last year.

The district has been installing silent alarms at some of its schools over a period of years, he said.

FAIRFAX

Fairfax came through 1971 relatively unscathed. There was "very little vandalism," City Administrator Robert E. Crowe said. He said the total damage to city property was about $300 to $500.

Last year was a change for the better from 1970, he said, when the city was plagued with "a lot of problems," particulary in Fairfax Park and at the pavilion.

FAIRFAX SCHOOL DISTRICT

No figures on vandalism were available for the Fairfax School District, but L. Stanley Butcher, director of buildings and grounds, said damage in the current school year — broken windows and malicious mischief — "is not anything near" what it was in 1970-71.

Red Cross Chapter Seeking Volunteers

The Marin Red Cross Chapter is recruiting social service volunteers for training, according to Mrs. Edwin J. Block, chairman of social service volunteers.

The training will be in the fields of personal and family counseling, communications services, financial assistance, and referral service to servicemen and their dependents. The Marin Red Cross Chapter is at 712 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael.

Entries For Project Asked

Entries from Marin, Sonoma, Lake, Napa and Mendocino counties must be completed by April 28, according to Project Coordinator Gene Argo of Santa Rosa.
